BRITAIN TO END NAVAL TALKS IF JAPS STAND PAT

Bares Plan to Halt Parley Saturday.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Unless the unexpected happens and Japan modifies its present position within a day or two the tri-power naval conversations will be broken off and the American delegates will sail for home Saturday.

This situation developed after the British cabinet this morning decided to request from Japan direct answers to categorical questions framed to elucidate whether Japan intends to adhere to its demand for global equality instead of the present 5-5-3 ratio or suggest a compromise which will be acceptable to America and Britain.

Await Tokio's Reply.

These questions were handed to Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudairo of Japan and Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto of the Japanese naval delegation, who have transmitted them to Tokio and are awaiting an answer.

It is not clear yet whether the British intend to terminate the conversations for good or simply to adjourn them for a few months.

The American delegation is somewhat surprised but gratified at Britain's sudden decision to seek a showdown. The Americans had made up their minds that they would have to stay in London at any rate until after the denunciation of the Washington treaty by Japan, which is expected Dec. 20.

Uncle Sam to Keep Shirt.

This will be one of the few instances, it is indicated, in which Uncle Sam returns from an international conference with his shirt.

Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large, and Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations of the United States navy, have refused to yield an inch to the Japanese demand for hegemony of the Pacific, and their firmness stiffened the backs of the British, who at one time were disposed to yield to Japan's views. Today America and Great Britain are aligned in a Pacific policy and Japan is isolated.

JAPS HEAD FOR FASCISM

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Dec. 12.—Japan's apparently unalterable decision to abrogate the Washington naval limitation treaty of 1922, which action is officially scheduled to be taken before Christmas, constitutes the culmination of a program of far eastern domination fostered during the third of a century which has elapsed since Japan's defeat of czarist Russia.

While the action is taken for the announced purpose of "preservation of peace in the orient," actually it has the double objective of establishing Japan's domination of Asia and ending occidental interference, while at the same time clinching the military control of Japan's domestic politics, which are rapidly drifting in the direction of fascism.

Hand of Army Seen in Policies.

Many foreign observers are convinced that fascism is already here. The present political squabbling, these observers say, is the dying gasps of discredited party government, while moves are being made toward determining the particular individuals and groups likely to assume the leadership of the Fascist régime.

Military leaders still remain in the background, but the government's policy on essential issues, such as armament equality, the Manchurian question and relations with the United States, Russia and China, represents the carefully considered program of the military groups.

The war office for a considerable period has been publishing monthly bulletins designed to "promote better understanding of national defense," which are distributed among soldiers, ex-soldiers and prefectural and national officials.

Link Defense and Economics.

The latest pamphlet, issued prior to the recent extraordinary session of the diet, not only concerned national defense but sketched in somewhat vague language a broad program showing the intimate relationship of national defense to domestic economics.

Since the pamphlet analyzed conditions concerning the distress of agricultural communities due to depressed and unstable prices, faulty distribution, high taxes, debts, and the relations of landlords and tenants, and

Martin's Attorneys Ask End of Trial.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

The Martin J. Insull embezzlement trial must meet an issue of the defense before the state proceeds with its proof this morning that $344,720 was taken from the funds of the Middle West Utilities company in 1931 to bolster the private stock trading account of Insull, former president of the company.

The question of when money is not money and how checks and cash may be "at fatal variance" in the technical meaning of the law was raised by the Insull defense yesterday and will be argued again this morning before Judge Cornelius J. Harrington in the Criminal court.

Is a Check Money?

Attorneys John E. Northup and Grenville Beardsley raised the issue in chambers yesterday. They read decisions to support their argument that Mr. Insull had been charged with taking money and the state had proved he had taken checks. Therefore, they said, the case should be thrown out of court in order to save the state a lot of further time and trouble.

Assistant State's Attorney John O'Hora was so surprised by this novel plea in a matter of law which he had considered well established that he had no authorities to cite yesterday, but will come into court with an armful of law books this morning. It is not considered as a serious menace to the trial at this point, but the defense attorneys warned that it might carry the germ of a reversal.

Brokers on Witness Stand.

The start of Martin Insull's troubles over his stock trading account was told to the jury late in the day by Herbert I. Markham and H. E. Green, partners in the brokerage house of Paul H. Davis & Co.

Mr. Markham said that the account of Washington Flexner, in which it has been shown Mr. Insull had a large interest, was a margin account. At one time in 1931 it amounted to $867,918.

In September of that year, Mr. Markham said, the account became unsatisfactory.

"We told Flexner something had to be done," said Mr. Markham. "It was topheavy with Insull securities. He must either take them out or let us sell them. We would sell them anyway, we told him, unless we had action within a reasonable time. It was then that Flexner told us of Insull's interest. Later cash came in and the securities were delivered."

Tells of Raising Cash.

How the cash was raised and what became of the securities was related by Oliver E. McCormick, treasurer of the Middle West Utilities company.

Mr. McCormick was examined by Assistant State's Attorney Earle Hurley.

Q.—On Oct. 3, 1931, did you have a conversation with the defendant? A.—I did.

Q.—What was said? A.—Mr. Insull told me that securities in a brokerage account had to be taken care of. He showed me a list of stocks in the account and explained that he had an interest in it. The list had been computed on the basis of the market. The aggregate was $344,720. I pointed out that Middle West had substantial obligations. Mr. Insull said that the subsidiary companies had cash and told me to work out a little syndicate in which they would participate.

Next Talk with Insull.

Q.—When did you next see Mr. Insull? A.—The following Monday.

Q.—What did he say about the securities? A.—He asked me if I had developed the syndicate idea. I had made a tentative plan and showed it to him. He said, all right, to go ahead and form it.

Q.—What companies participated? A.—The Illinois Northern Utilities company, the Central Illinois Public Service company, the Northwest Utilities company, Central and Southwest Utilities company, Electric Management and Engineering company, the L. E. Meyers company, the Northwest Public Service company, Kansas Electric Power company, and Kentucky Utilities company.

The money received, McCormick said, was paid to Flexner. Only checks and vouchers were used, he said.

150 Injured as Floor Falls in British School

LIVERPOOL, England, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The floor of a school concert hall collapsed tonight under the weight of hundreds of children and their parents, resulting in injuries to 150 persons. Thirty-six were taken to hospitals, several of whom may die.

More than 100 were hurt badly enough to require medical treatment before returning to their homes. They had been precipitated in a mass of tumbling furniture and sudden darkness from the second to the first floor of the St. Clement's school building.

The disaster failed to reach the terrible proportions feared at one time owing largely to the presence of mind of the school's caretaker, named Doughty, who rushed to the basement and cut off the gas supply, eliminating danger of fire and explosion.

End of School Term.

The concert hall was on the second floor of the large school building. It was packed solidly with people. Many parents had come to attend a concert celebrating the end of the school term.

Suddenly and without warning the floor began to sag with a tearing noise and then with a crash and a roar collapsed in the center. A heavy piano fell through the floor with the rest of the furniture, but it dropped in such a way as to afford easy access to a large window, enabling many to escape by climbing upon it.

Most of the people were shot, screaming and struggling, through the gap to the floor below. School desks, chairs and forms fell on the people. Shrieks of injured children and cries of "Help!" from adults filled the place.

Dust Fills Air.

The place was left, however, in complete darkness, which in itself contributed to the panic. A great cloud of dust filled the dark room, half choking the struggling people. Some struggled free and ran to summon assistance.

Firemen and police found their work most difficult until temporary lights were furnished. Ambulances arrived rapidly and the injured were piled into them and rushed to the nearest hospitals. Nearby residents also received some in their homes. Trucks, tram cars, and private automobiles were commandeered to hurry others of the injured to hospitals.

So great was the crowd that gathered that a special contingent of police had to be detailed to hold them back. Hysterical mothers fought to get past police cordons thrown around the scene to determine whether their children were in the ruins.

TRAFIC VIOLATOR SIGHS FOR "FIX"; JUDGE FIXES HIM

Sam Faber, 3849 West 15th street, was in a detective bureau cell last night because he thought he "could take care" of a summons in the trafic court of Judge John Gutknecht.

When Faber failed to appear for hearing on a parking violation charge last Aug. 3, a warant was issued for his arrest. Faber circumvented this by getting a "stop" order issued against the warant by another judge. Judge Gutknecht learned of it and had Faber brought before him yesterday on a new warant. He then pointed out that Faber had already cost the city $30 in the issuance of warants and time and assessed a fine of $9.

"It's too bad I haven't got a drag in this court," muttered Faber. Judge Gutknecht instantly vacated his finding, ordered all the records in the case brought before him this morning, and directed that Faber be held overnight under a $1,000 bond.

CO-EDS ARE DUMB (LIKE FOXES) SAYS N. U. PROFESSOR

Intelligence tests, to be given Northwestern university co-eds by their boy friends, were recommended by Prof. John J. B. Morgan in his psychology lecture yesterday. He accused the feminine students of deliberately making low scholastic grades to avoid scaring away prospective mates.

"Young women students," he said, "proceed on the theory that men like them dumb. Timidly the girls display a flash of intelligence to their escorts, but then they endeavor by foxy means to convince the boy friends that men are mentally superior to women.

"Girls who can't pass intelligence tests shouldn't be dated. If they were required by prospective escorts to establish high intelligence quotients before dating, the university's scholastic record would soar like a rocket."

Plane Saves 4 Snowbound in Alaskan Cabin

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Three men and a woman, their airplane beaten down from the skies by a blizzard, fought death and hunger for nine days in a tumbledown cabin before a rescue plane equipped with skis brought them to safety today.

"Hungry. Need food and skis."

That message, spelled out on the snow by the branches of trees they had chopped, brought Pilots Roy Dickson and Chuck McLean down from the clouds to save them. Three planes previously had roared overhead and missed them because they flew too high to read the distress signal.

Sleet Downs Plane.

Mrs. Hazel McClung, wife of a Takoma mining man; Pilot Oscar Winchell, and two mine operators, David Standberg and Weine Puntallo, had taken off from McGrath on their way to Anchorage. Mrs. McClung intended to go to Juneau from here.

Their propeller chewed into a biting blizzard of sleet and snow, which coated the wings until the ship sagged and then came down in an uninhabited region 150 miles from here in 30 inches of snow. Equipped with wheels, the plane could not rise.

Doled Out Rations.

Taking a robe and emergency rations from the plane, the four beat a path through the snow to an old cabin. Fortune favored them, for they found the tattered fragments of some blankets and a few dried beans and some rice abandoned by a prospector.

Doling out these provisions and melting snow for water, they existed for nine days, each of the party losing 10 to 15 pounds. They shot some grouse when the other food failed.

STRAY DOG PAYS DIVIDENDS ON AN ACT OF KINDNESS

Two weeks ago Roy A. Rosasco, 3317 Madison street, begged police to spare the life of a stray dog struck by an automobile near his home. He nursed the animal back to health, and on Saturday night the dog paid the first instalment on its debt. Its barks resulted in Rosasco's capture of Hugh Simpson, 18 years old, 4851 Gladys avenue, in the act of robbing Rosasco's meat market below his home.

In the Boys' court yesterday, where the story was told, police testified that Simpson was released from the county jail, where he had been held in lieu of a $1,000 bond on a theft charge.

Youth Reveals Own Story of Tulsa Slaying

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
(Picture on Back Page.)

Tulsa, Okla., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Philip Kennamer today told in detail his story of the slaying of John F. Gorrell Jr., dental student, on Thanksgiving night. Kennamer has confessed to the killing and is held on a charge of murder.

Meanwhile all through this town, founded and maintained by the oil industry, fathers and mothers of members of the young society set were in an attitude of terror. Seven of the state's star witnesses in the Gorrell case are reported to have received threats against their lives and city and county officers were on the alert to protect them.

Attorney's Son Hiding.

Preston Cochran, 19, son of William S. Cochran, attorney for the Sinclair Oil company, who has been frequently questioned by city and county officials in the Gorrell case, was reported to be in hiding tonight. Assistant County Attorney W. F. Gilmer said the youth would be available for Kennamer's preliminary hearing. Sergt. Henry B. Maddux of the city police stated he had advised Cochran to hide, although the youth has not received any death threats.

The slaying of Gorrell and the death of Sidney Born Jr. last Sunday night have provided Tulsa with its major mystery since its growth began 30 years ago. The residents talk of nothing else on the streets and over their dinner tables. Rumors are flooding the city, eager to learn the hitherto undisclosed activities of the children of the oil millionaires.

Outlines His Defense.

Kennamer, 19 year old son of Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer, outlined the testimony he will give at his trial, predicated on the plea of self-defense. He said that Gorrell was slain with his own gun while the two youths were fighting for it in Gorrell's automobile after the latter had pointed the weapon at Kennamer. Gorrell, according to Kennamer, became angry when Kennamer said he was not going through with a plot to extort $20,000 from Homer F. Wilcox, wealthy Tulsa oil man, on the threat of kidnaping Wilcox's daughter, Virginia.

Kennamer declared that he never intended to go through with the plot and entered it only to prevent Gorrell from carrying it out.

The judge's son also asserted that he is still certain his friend, Born Jr., was murdered and not a suicide. Born, 19 years old, the son of the director of petroleum research at the University of Tulsa, was found fatally wounded in his automobile near the spot where Gorrell was slain ten days before.

Sherif Calls It Murder.

The city police are convinced that Born killed himself, but Charles Price, sherif, and other Tulsa county authorities are investigating the death on the theory that Born was murdered. Kennamer said he believed it was murder because Born "knew too much of the plot" and would have been a defense witness for Kennamer.

The plot against the Wilcoxes was hatched in a Kansas City hotel on the night of Nov. 19, Kennamer stated, and Gorrell wrote the extortion note the next morning. Gorrell had at first planned to kidnap the Wilcox girl by airplane to Kansas City, but Kennamer dissuaded him, he said.

Kennamer told his story in a three

NAMES BARUCH AND JOHNSON TO DRAFT NEW LAW

Nye Caustic Over Appointments.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today charged a committee of his own selection with the duty of preparing legislation which would authorize the President of the United States, in time of war, to assume absolute power over industrial profits, over all wages, prices and rents, and over the operations of all industries.

As chairman of the committee Mr. Roosevelt appointed Bernard M. Baruch, New York financier, who was chairman of the world war industries board.

Assisting Mr. Baruch will be Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, departed head of the NRA, who also served on the war board and played a star rôle in organizing the draft.

Attacks War Profits.

The President told newspaper men at his press conference this morning that "the time has come to take the profit out of war." He declared that not only the war profits of corporations would be under inspection but the wages of individuals as well. He pointed out the disparity between the soldier's pay of $1 a day and that of the munitions worker at $10 a day, and declared this unequal mobilization, as he called it, had led to the veterans' demands for a soldiers and sailors' bonus.

Legislation will be asked of the new congress meeting in January, Mr. Roosevelt said. He added that he regarded the subject as one of the most important of any to be laid before congress.

The President insisted that his move at this time was not prompted by any threat of war. The war horizon, he said, is cloudless. Neither should the proposal be considered one for war preparedness, the President added.

Nye Assails Federal Chiefs.

When the news of Mr. Roosevelt's announcement was heard on Capitol hill, the senators and others participating in the investigation of munitions makers waxed caustic. Senator Gerald P. Nye [Rad., N. D.], chairman of the senate committee, noted the presence on the White House committee of heads of government departments, and he declared that these departments were really "co-defendants with the munitions industry and the profiteers."

"It is amazing to me," he said, "that efforts would now be made to seem to check and halt the work of our committee, which is under instructions of the senate to first ascertain the facts and then report recommendations for legislation."

Another Nye spear which was interpreted as aimed at Mr. Baruch was this:

"When I view in part the personnel of the conference, I cannot but think how unfortunate it is that Dillinger is dead. He was the logical man to write the anti-crime laws."

Others on Committee.

The members of the conference, in addition to Baruch and Johnson, were Secretaries Hull [state], Morgenthau [treasury], Dern [war], and Swanson [navy]; Undersecretary of Agriculture Tugwell, acting for Secretary Wallace; Assistant Secretary of Labor McGrady, acting for Secretary Perkins; Assistant Secretary of the Navy Henry Latrobe Roosevelt; Rail Coördinator Eastman; Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staf; Foreign Trade Adviser George N. Peek.

Vandenberg to Press Quiz.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], another member of the Nye committee, declared that the White House conference ignored the "first hand information" in possession of the committee.

"The investigation will continue," he observed, "and I hope that no flank movement will discourage the necessary additional appropriations in January."

Irenée du Pont, whose munitions company has indorsed the elimination of wartime profits, said that "systematic mobilization" of industry in war has been in effect for ten years, and laughingly he added:

"I guess the President is just finding out about that."

As a matter of fact, it is pointed out that the entire field of inquiry suggested by the President was covered by the war policies commission, appointed under congressional authority three years ago. This commission recommended legislation, but congress did not act.

To Revive Baruch Plan.

Mr. Baruch appeared before the commission just created by the President today and presented a detailed plan fashioned by himself and Gen. Johnson, and it is this plan in modified form which is expected to emerge from the White House conferences. A clew to the purposes of Mr. Baruch is found in a speech he made last June in Washington, in which he began by describing what the phrase "taking the profit out of war" really meant.

"It means, at least to me," he said, "the recapture of all profits, in bulk, made by all industries engaged in war supplies, above a small and reasonable return on the moneys invested. This recapture can be done only through a control of prices, together with increased taxes in war time.

"While money must be given a wage, or it will not work, the wage must be less than in peace time and must bear comparison with the sacrifices made by the men in the field. . . . I want to put a ceiling over prices and profits above which no prices and profits may go.

For Parallel Planning.

"Thereafter, a tax program must be enacted that will take away, in totality, the spread between the selling prices and the costs, plus a reasonable return.

"By parallel planning, there must also be a control over all prices, goods, foods, rents, wages, services; in short, of all activities that yield profit. All must be denied the right to indulge in a joy ride at the expense of the nation. The control of dollars must be made applicable to the entire citizenship, regardless of their classification."

Mr. Baruch's plan, which was adopted in principle by the commission, would have authorized the President, after a declaration of war by congress, to name a certain previous date upon which prices of all things generally were stable and normal.

From that time on it would be a penitentiary offense for any corporation or individual to sell goods or services at a price higher than they were sold on the date specified. In addition, the President would receive authority to change the price level in any instance. The only exemption noted in the Baruch plan was the fee estate in real property, which would go uncontroled.

Favors Powerful Board.

Mr. Baruch would have a board appointed, to be given some such name as "industrial strategy board," "war industries board," or "administration of resources," with power to fix priority in filling orders; to commandeer property; to fix prices; to conserve national resources.

Administrations working in contact with the new board would have authority over food, fuel, shipping, war trade, railroads, labor, war finance, and capital issues.

Senator Nye said his committee would begin tomorrow with hearings on the subject of war profits and supplies. Secretary Dern has been summoned to appear as a witness.

The committee today produced a letter written in 1920 by one official of the du Pont company to Irenée du Pont, in which the late Senator Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania was represented as having told former Senator James Watson of Indiana to "give the du Ponts what they want just as far as you possibly can without getting into a row."

Mr. du Pont testified that he and other chemical manufacturers were endeavoring at the time to encourage the manufacture of dyes in this country and to protect that industry against the German dye manufacturers who had a world monopoly before the world war.

Penrose Selects Watson.

Another letter produced from the du Pont files stated that "Penrose picked him (Watson) to put this thing over for us." Du Pont insisted Penrose had merely consented to aid in obtaining protective legislation for the infant dye industry.

Du Pont in his testimony today told the committee that a fleet of airplanes carrying gas or incendiary bombs could endanger the people of New York City.

"It is just silly, however," he added, "to think one airplane could wipe out the city. There is no doubt that with a large fleet the civilian population would be in a very bad way."

The witness said if Germany had had enough chlorine gas with which to push attacks it would have won the war.

DOUGLAS FIGHTS RECOVERY PLAN; WOULD CUT COST

New York, Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Lewis W. Douglas, speaking publicly for the first time since he resigned from President Roosevelt's administration as director of the budget, took sharp issue tonight with the federal recovery program.

The only way to recovery, he declared, lies in stimulation of the country's heavy industries by balancing the federal budget through stopping all public works expenditures and discontinuing the Civilian Conservation corps. A balanced budget could be accomplished by 1937, he said.

The policy of huge public works expenditures and continuing deficits, Mr. Douglas asserted, "must inevitably, just as sure as the night follows the day, plunge 125 million people into the destructive effects of a collapsed currency," into a "ghastly social and economic calamity."

Warning that continued national deficits lead to inflation, Mr. Douglas predicted that further depreciation of the dollar in the world exchange market would inevitably follow, with "another destructive war" as the ultimate eventuality.

8 MORE BODIES FOUND IN RUINS OF BURNED HOTEL

26 Known to Be Dead; Many Missing.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Firemen and relief workers were laboring tonight at the task of removing the bodies of those who perished in the Hotel Kerns fire yesterday.

As the evening wore on eight incinerated torsos, one that of a woman, had been dug from the steaming wreckage, bringing the number of known dead to twenty-six. Only twenty-two bodies have been removed or located, but the others were known to have been in the hotel and they have not been seen since the fire. Only three of those recovered today have been identified.

By midnight it was estimated that about one-tenth of the débris inside the hotel walls had been removed. The workers were excavating near the elevator shaft where they expected to find more bodies amid the accumulation of blackened wreckage. They were being hampered by recurrent bursts of flames from a coal heap near the center of the ruins. Hose lines were turned on it once more.

Legislature Calls Recess.

Six legislators who had been in Lansing attending a special session of the legislature were victims. The session adjourned last night until Monday out of respect for the dead members.

The best available statistics indicated that as many as twenty or thirty more bodies may be found before the ruins have been completely explored. But some of the facts are still unknown, chief among them the exact number of persons in the hotel at the time the blaze started.

Isaac Jones, the night clerk who gave the first alarm and labored at notifying guests until the fire all but overtook him, says 215 persons were registered and 20 employés, a total of 235, were sleeping in the hotel. The owner, William G. Kerns, does not believe the total was more than 200.

Tonight 180 persons had been accounted for, thus: Dead, 26; missing and believed dead, 10; injured, 39; uninjured, 105. This leaves about 55 to be accounted for.

List of Known Dead.

BOSMAN, A. B., Grand Rapids.
GOODWINE, REPRESENTATIVE JOHN W., Marlette.
GRATRIX, JAMES, Chicago.
HOWLETT, REPRESENTATIVE T. HENRY, Gregory.

PARKER, REPRESENTATIVE CHARLES D., Otisville.
SIAS, REPRESENTATIVE DONALD, Midland.
SMITH, CLARENCE, Coldwater.
WISHNEFF, ISAAC, Lansing and Los Angeles.

Dead but Not Identified.

The following are listed as dead, but their bodies have not been identified. Some of them may be included in the bodies found today:

BARNARD, FRED, Lansing.
BYRNES, J. H., Grand Rapids.
FISHER, C. L., Marshall, Mich.

WEISS, J. H., Flint.

Crews Remove Débris.

During the early hours today crews of men labored at removing débris surrounding the ruined hotel, preparatory to the hunt for the dead. The wrecks of four automobiles were hauled away from the northwestern corner of the building where they were demolished by falling walls. Hose lines soaked the hot mass of wreckage all night long and about daylight the job of searching began.

Across the street a Red Cross flag hanging limply from a lamp post marked the temporary morgue. Stretchers were propped against the walls and the firemen began a gingerly exploration.

In the ensuing nours, stretcher bearers made six trips across the street, carrying white-covered, twisted bodies to the morgue slabs. All were burned beyond hope of recognition. Limbs of most and heads of many were missing. Only through rings and dental work could there be hope of identification.

Get Only Good Start.

Large silent crowds pressed against the police lines all day as the grisly work went on. It had not been possible this evening to penetrate far into the smoking, steaming ruins, but powerful lights were rigged on the ragged walls or on tops of surrounding buildings and the digging continued.

In the rear of the hotel, where the Grand river flows directly beneath the walls, a diver from Detroit was lowered into the water tonight to search for bodies of those who leaped from the rear windows when the curtain of fire swept into their section. He found one body, but was unable to bring it to the surface until tomorrow. Earlier in the day relief workers striving to rid the river of a mass of wreckage thought they saw two bodies buried beneath the fallen bricks and rubbish, but when they sought to remove them the bodies—or clothing, whichever it was—sank.

A steam shovel was used to tear down some of the tottering walls which threatened to crash on the workers.

Coroner Starts Inquiry.

Meanwhile a coroner's jury was sworn and taken to view the bodies and the ruins. It will probably summon witnesses next week after the wreckage has been combed and some of the injured have recovered sufficiently to testify. The foreman of the jury is H. N. Duff, former national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The cause of the fire remained today just as much a mystery as yesterday. Nor could it be definitly stated where it started, although some of the first to arrive on the scene said it seemed to be spreading from third floor windows near the northwest corner of the four story hotel.

One report which will be investigated by the jury was that there had been considerable revelry in various rooms during the evening. A chorus of men's voices was said to have been heard singing boisterously about the time the fire started.

Another point of inquiry was a report that floors had been frequently oiled to prevent squeaking boards. It was thought this might have been a reason for the explosionlike spread of the flames.

SULLIVAN SENTENCES 11 IN A DAY TO PRISON; SETS A RECORD HERE

In his busiest day since becoming chief justice of the Criminal court on Sept. 3 Judge Denis E. Sullivan sentenced yesterday eleven men to the penitentiary. Court attachés declared this total exceeds by four or five the previous daily record of any Criminal court judge. All the defendants pleaded guilty and entered motions for probation, which were overruled. In commenting on this action Judge Sullivan said:

CHIEF JUSTICE SULLIVAN.

"Probationers of this county have flagrantly abused the favors granted them by judges, and unless the application for probation is backed by facts and excellent record of the defendant this court will not listen to the plea."

The defendants were Frank Meca, embezzlement, 1 to 10 years; Otto Hartman, rape, 5 years; August Balestri, auto larceny, 1 to 20 years; John Ritter, burglary, 1 year to life; Joseph Grantham, robbery, 1 to 20 years, and the following who got 1 year to life for robbery with a gun: Victor Zamerano, Charles McArthur, Arthur Breiter, Joseph Seco, Dave Fulford, and James Harris.

BOMBS WRECK 4 THEATERS IN NEW ENGLAND

Boston, Mass., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Four New England theaters were wrecked early today by explosions attributed to time bombs containing nitroglycerin and gunpowder. No one was injured.

The theaters in which the explosions occurred are the Majestic and the Tremont, almost directly opposite each other in Boston, the Capitol, in Lynn, Mass., and the Capitol, in Pawtucket, R. I.

The bombings, which all took place within an hour between 4 and 5 o'clock, are believed to have been the result of labor troubles.

Fred E. Lieberman, who leased the Majestic and Tremont movie places from the Greater Boston Theaters, Inc., about six months ago, said:

"There are two unions. That's the story."

M'ARTHUR GETS EXTENSION AS CHIEF OF STAF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today directed Secretary of War Dern to retain Gen. Douglas MacArthur as chief of staf indefinitly. This was done, the President said, to gain Gen. MacArthur's experience and knowledge in handling war department legislation in the coming session of congress.

Secretary Dern had requested the retention of Gen. MacArthur, who has been effecting a reorganization of the army, although his four year term expired Dec. 1.

The President said the indefinite extension did not mean that he would serve another four year term and indicated that a successor would be named upon completion of the new army legislation in the next congress.

Body of Hotel Fire Victim to Be Brought to Chicago

The body of James Gratrix, 50 years old, 6276 Avondale avenue, who died Tuesday of injuries received in leaping out of the burning Hotel Kerns at Lansing, Mich., will probably be brought to Chicago today. Gratrix had been a salesman for the American Screw company, 219 West Randolph street, for 30 years. He was in Lansing on a business trip. Mrs. Gratrix was in Lansing yesterday making arrangements for the funeral. There are no children.

Loses Bride; Sets $10,000 Value in Suing Her Mother

James W. Brandt, 23 years old, 2525 Orchard street, a chemist and a former University of Michigan student, yesterday through Attorney John Blase Meccia filed in the Circuit court a suit asking $10,000 from his mother-in-law, Mrs. Bessie Agnew, 7348 Ridge boulevard, for alienation of affections. The bill charges that Mrs. Agnew caused his wife, Betty Jane, 21 years old, to leave him within a month of their elopement to Waukegan.

INDUSTRY READY TO SPEND BILLION NOW—MOFFETT

Great Programs Mapped, Says U. S. Official.

New York, Dec. 12.—[Special.]—A spending program by industry for replacement and modernization of equipment now is under way as the one quick method of giving a stimulus to employment this winter, James A. Moffett, federal housing administrator, announced here tonight. A $500,000,000 industrial spending program already is in sight and the program is likely to reach $1,000,000,000 by Christmas, he said.

Mr. Moffett, a leading advocate in the federal administration of recovery through use of private capital, spoke at the annual dinner of the Bankers' Forum of the New York chapter of the American Institute of Banking, held in the Hotel Biltmore.

Asks Bankers to Aid.

He called upon bankers to coöperate in the federal housing administration's home modernization and new construction programs and urged his hearers to help get every bank in the country into the program of loans for modernization. His hearers included Rudolf S. Hecht, president of the American Bankers' association and honor guest at the dinner, as well as other officers of the association.

Since the home modernization program would not give much employment in the durable goods industries and the new construction program was not designed to reach a peak until three to five years from now, Mr. Moffett explained, he had cast about for some means of stimulating employment in the durable goods industries this winter. He reached the conclusion that the one way would be for industry to set the example in replacement and modernization, he said, and he got in touch with industrial leaders.

Talks with Gifford.

"Walter S. Gifford [president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company] phoned me today and told me the A. T. & T. was going to spend $200,000,000 for replacement and modernization beginning this winter," said Mr. Moffett. "I had lunch with Walter C. Teagle [president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey] the other day and he told me they would spend between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000. Another group will spend $50,000,000.

"Taking these and others, I can see a half billion that is going to be spent by industry, and I am not sure that we won't have a billion dollars by Christmas. We figure that 80 per cent of this goes directly or indirectly to labor."

LIQUOR IMPORTS IN NOVEMBER INCREASE WELL OVER OCTOBER

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Sharp increases during November in imports of all types of alcoholic beverages, including liquors and cordials for entry into warehouses, were reported today in figures of the commerce department. This was attributed by officials to anticipation of heavy holiday retail buying.

Imports for immediate consumption, plus withdrawals from bonded warehouses, amounted in November to 929,712 proof gallons, valued at $4,295,700, as compared with October's 718,620 proof gallons valued at $3,425,647.

Still wines, champagnes, and other sparkling wines entered for consumption and withdrawn from bonded warehouses totaled 323,847 gallons valued at $1,173,165, as against 245,109 gallons valued at $869,724 in October.

RED PROPAGANDA REVEALED IN CITY RELIEF SHELTERS

Find Members of Staf Are Affected.

BY EARL MULLIN.

Because of reports that communists, financed from Russia, are finding a fertile field in Chicago relief shelters for the dissemination of their propaganda for the overthrow of the United States government, a CHICAGO TRIBUNE reporter was sent out to get first hand information.

This reporter registered as a relief client and interviewed more than one hundred men on relief. He found that systematic efforts were being made to convert them to Red doctrines. The reporter also interviewed many relief workers, and found evidence that they are giving at least passive help to the communists in making converts among idle men who are being fed and housed at public expense.

Red Work Among Staf.

In fact, there was evidence that the initial efforts of the communists has been centered among the relief workers themselves, for without their consent the Red campaign among the shelters would get nowhere.

It was discovered that officials of the relief organization permit communist organizers to circulate freely among the idle men. One official, who is opposed to the Reds, is authority for the statement that many of the relief workers are communists themselves. This man said he would testify before any authorized governmental investigating agency, but asked that his name be withheld because he would lose his job if it were made public.

"The coöperation of the social workers with the communists is due to two factors," he said. "First, as a result of their training, a great number of the social workers are red tinted themselves. Second, those who are not red or pink are indifferent or keep quiet about the spread of Red doctrines because of fear."

In the opinion of this executive the teaching of social science in many universities, where social workers get their training, turns them toward socialism.

One Woman's Experience.

One relief worker, a Negro woman and a graduate of an Illinois college, said she was forced to join a communistic organization to hold her relief job.

"Members of the relief clerical staf to which I belong," she said, "were all taken from the relief rolls. The staf supervisor has forced out all members who are not communistic. Three remain and their main duty seems to be the passing of communistic literature among workers."

The reporter found that the hardest work is done by the Reds for the least results in the relief shelters maintained for single men. There are two types of shelters, one for Chicago men and one for transients.

Reporter Asks Shelter.

The clearing house for Chicago men is at 738 Harrison street in an old school. The demand for shelter is so great that only about seventy tickets for new men are given each day. In most cases it is necessary to call one day, get a number, and then return two or three days later for assignment to a shelter. When the reporter applied for shelter as a jobless man and was told to return in three days, he asked where he should sleep in the meantime.

"I don't care, but not here," was the reply. "Go back to where you were last night."

When the reporter was finally admitted to the clearing house he was sent to a large basement room where more than a hundred and fifty men were sitting around listlessly. The group included a large number of Negroes and Mexicans. There were few names among the whites indicating Scotch, Irish, German, English or Scandinavian blood.

This predominance of Negroes and foreigners, however, does not appear to be borne out by figures from the relief officials, which show the following racial percentages in the shelters in October: Born in America with no information taken on racial origin, 50 per cent; Polish, 10 per cent; Lithuanian, 5 per cent; German, 3 per cent; Irish, 3 per cent; Swedish, 3 per cent, and thirty other nationalities in the remainder. Of the 21,209 in shelters at that time 87 per cent were of white blood, 10 per cent Negroes and the remaining 3 per cent orientals and other extraction.

Reds Enter Shelters Freely.

Once established in one of the twenty shelters maintained in the city, the reporter found that red agitators are given hearings several evenings each week. They make impassioned pleas to the men to "unite against the capitalists oppressing you." Efforts were made to get the men in the shelter to join demonstrations, attend communist meetings, rise against the relief agencies and in other ways revolt against authority. In some shelters propaganda placards hang on the walls and the agitators enter whenever they wish, though it is practically impossible for a seeker after relief to enter without a proper card.

A majority of the idle men, however, seemed indifferent to the red appeals. One client explained much of this indifference by saying that the food this year is far better than in previous years and the men have no reason for complaint.

John Barton Payne Is Again Head of Red Cross

SOCIAL WORKER FINDS PITFALL IN YULE SPIRIT

Criticizes Christmas Child "Adoptions."

Santa Claus may be the man of the hour to most people these December days, but to the scientific social worker his visit may be an "emotional outlet."

This viewpoint was revealed yesterday when Mrs. Marguerite Noyes, district supervisor of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, 203 North Wabash avenue, said she had turned down the requests of several hundred childless couples who wanted to "adopt" a child just for the Christmas holidays.

"They write us and they telephone us, asking for children to be kept in their homes during the holiday season," she said. "To all of them we say, 'No!' We've said that for many years, and we're continuing to say it.

She Calls It Selfishness.

"They take the child just for the emotional outlet it affords them—for the warm feeling they get out of playing Santa Claus. Then, having had their selfish pleasure, they send the child back to its former dreary environment."

If such couples wish to bring genuine Christmas joy to needy children, Mrs. Noyes suggests that they take Christmas to the child, rather than bringing the child to Christmas.

"Let them make the child happy in its own environment by taking gifts to its own home," she advised. "There, surrounded by its family rather than by ogling strangers, it will feel a lasting joy. In other words, we tell them to join the Good Fellows."

Other Adoptions Postponed.

These temporary adoptions are not the only ones refused at Christmas time, Mrs. Noyes said. The Children's Home and Aid society, a case working agency which has some 1,870 children under its wing, also is flooded at this season with applications for permanent adoptions. Action on these requests is usually delayed until early the next year.

"They apply at Christmas because they recognize that there is a lack in their particular home," explained Mrs. Noyes. "When the sentiment of Christmas—and that feeling of generosity—has worn off, they may not be so anxious to keep the child. They should be made to feel that it isn't only at Christmas that there is a lack. It's all through the year."

Woman Saloonist Is First to Pay Fine for Overtime

The first woman punished in the current drive to enforce the tavern closing hour ordinance was Mrs. Anna Hanahan, 42 years old, owner of a tavern at 2503 Lincoln avenue, who was fined $25 and costs yesterday by Judge Justin F. McCarthy in the Town Hall court. She was accused of having sold liquor to Anthony Schwartz, 2563 Lincoln avenue, Sunday morning after the closing hour of 2 p. m. Mrs. Hanahan was arrested on Sunday by police trailing two suspects in a shooting. The suspects, a man and a woman believed to have wounded two young men, had jostled Schwartz at 3 a. m. as he carried beer from the tavern.

MOUNTAINS SINK IN HONDURAS; BIG DISASTER FEARED

Quakes and Rumblings of Earth Continue.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Something awe inspiring and terrible is happening in the Copan zone, residents of that quake devastated district have wired the government here.

Earth shocks that have shaken the region continuously since early last week are becoming stronger and more frequent, especially about Santa Rica, San Jorge, Cabanas, and Copan, the messages said. Underground rumblings are constant in the neighborhood of the nearby Cerro Azul mountain. The population is reported panic stricken.

Mountain Slopes Sliding.

The messages said it was believed some tremendous phenomenon was imminent in that region, since mountain slopes were sliding and sinking almost without ceasing.

A general belief is that a volcano is on the verge of eruption, and authorities of Santa Rosa have requested that a commission of geologists be sent to study the terrain.

Reports from Tela said rain had been falling incessantly for five days and the rise of the river Tela threatened to flood the city.

Quakes Alarm Montserrat Isle.

PLYMOUTH, Montserrat, B. W. I., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Severe earthquake shocks shaking buildings for the last few days have been causing alarm among inhabitants of this Caribbean island. Several stone buildings in Plymouth were seriously damaged this morning by a tremor.

Some buildings considered unsafe for dwelling were being vacated. The quakes started the morning of Dec. 10 and are still continuing.

POLICEMAN TOLD ACCIDENT COST HIM BOTH LEGS

Policeman Herbert Eckel, 32 years old, 2615 East 73d street, whose legs were amputated after he had been crushed between automobiles during the snowstorm Monday evening, learned for the first time yesterday that he had suffered the loss of his limbs.

His physician, Dr. Louis J. Brody, had been waiting for his condition to improve before informing him. Eckel, however, turned back the bed clothing yesterday and caught a glimpse of one of the bandaged stumps.

When Dr. Brody entered the room the patient asked: "Well, doctor, which leg did you take off?" When informed that both had been amputated, Eckel replied. "Well, I guess I can't be a policeman any more, but I will manage to get along." He was reported as being in an improved condition last night.

CHICAGO MEDICAL LEADERS WAR ON VIVISECTION FOES

'Dogs vs. Babies,' Cry of Surgeons.

A nation-wide fight to prevent what is characterized as "crippling" of medical research by the anti-vivisection campaign now being waged in thirty-two states of the country, was opened in Chicago yesterday.

The first battle will be fought late this month when an attempt is made in the city council to amend the Arvey ordinance governing the disposition of dogs taken to the city pound, and the opening guns were fired yesterday by the Chicago Medical society and the American College of Surgeons.

The amendment, urged by humane societies, would prohibit medical institutions' present practice of taking dogs from the pound for experimental purposes.

Sees Danger to Research.

The medical society adopted a resolution against the amendment, which read in part:

"The amendment would greatly hamper medical research and education in Chicago, a city now known as a preëminent medical center. Animal experimentation is conducted humanely and has yielded many important discoveries."

The college of surgeons has summed up the fight to retain animal experimentation as a case of "dogs versus babies." In a pamphlet issued yesterday, the slogan is put:

"For which will you vote: for the lives of thousands of babies, or of a few dogs, cats, and rabbits painlessly sacrificed that men, women and children may live."

Doctors Submit to Tests.

Dr. Franklin H. Martin, director general of the college, has written the introduction in the pamphlet, and asserts that animal experimentation has conferred immense benefits upon mankind, and that doctors themselves have volunteered as subjects when animals have not afforded suitable media for experimental research.

"Experimental research," he says, "is one of the brightest pages in medical history, and it must not cease if the welfare of humanity is to be furthered, and if medical progress is to continue."

Navy Secretary Pledges Quiz on Air Bribe Yarn

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Secretary Swanson said today evidence against an unnamed naval officer in connection with alleged irregularities in aircraft procurement was sufficiently impressive to warant "an investigation to the fullest extent." The evidence was said to show an officer, for a $1,000 monthly fee, had offered to assist a certain aircraft firm in obtaining navy contracts.

Steal Truckload of Yule Trees While Driver Eats

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Charles Randa of East Lake, Minn., arrived today with a truckload of 600 Christmas trees for holiday sale here. He left the truck and went to lunch. When he returned, the vehicle and trees were gone. Later the truck was found, but 500 of the trees had been removed.

SHUTTLE PLANES FROM AIRPORTS TO LOOP URGED

Chicago Lagging with 50 Minute Service.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Recent activities of New York City aldermen in developing airplane shuttle service from the outlying landing fields in Brooklyn and Newark to the East river at Wall street, ten minutes from midtown, has called attention to the failure of city and commercial airline operators here to develop possibilities of the Chicago harbor as a landing spot within ten minutes' automobile ride of the loop hotels and business houses.

Not only does the harbor offer facilities for a shuttle passenger and mail service between the loop and Chicago airport at 63d street and Cicero avenue, but it also would make an ideal terminal for a commuter airplane service between Chicago and Milwaukee. By combining these activities it would be seen that an enterprising operator, with slight encouragement from postal authorities, could make such a project prosper.

Great Future on Waterfront.

Expansion of the city's airlines toward the lake front apparently is inevitable, observers say. In fostering such expansion Chicago will merely be following the footsteps of New York City, which already has turned to its extensive waterfront to permit the flying of passengers, mail, and express directly into the heart of the business and financial district.

Newark airport, where passenger and mail operators have made headquarters for the past decade, is 45 minutes from mid-Manhattan. Realizing the importance of reducing the time spent traveling from the field into the city, New York's Mayor La Guardia recently leased Floyd Bennett field in Brooklyn, 25 minutes from the skyscraper area, and the old Glenn Curtiss airport, North Beach, Queens, about the same distance away.

5-Minute Service Is Goal.

Then the shuttle services operated with amphibian planes from those two fields to the East river docks were established. Meanwhile La Guardia is campaigning actively for Public Works administration funds to add 70 acres of "made" land to the southern edge of Governor's island and create landing facilities for land and sea aircraft, less than five minutes' ferryboat ride from downtown streets.

All these facts are cited to show the importance of similar activities on the part of Chicago authorities. Chicago's municipal airport is 50 minutes' ride from the loop. Literally, its position adds an hour to the journey of every airline passenger coming into the city. With aerial journeys measured in minutes, and with flying time from Chicago to New York cut below four hours and it will be within three years, the time spent motoring between the city and the flying field becomes doubly important.

Landing Area Already Designated.

The aeronautical division, department of commerce, and the war department, which controls the waters of the harbor, offer no difficulties. Long since a landing area has been designated and extensively used, both during the World's Fair and in 1930 when Maj. R. W. "Shorty" Schroeder operated an experimental shuttle service using a Sikorsky nine passenger amphibian.

What flying has been done has shown merely that an amphibian is the most suitable plane for year round flying, the pilot being able to land on Chicago airport if the harbor waters are too rough.

It also has shown that a single motored craft of approximately 350 horse power and passenger capacity of not less than four persons would lend itself most economically to operations.

Outline 20-Minute Trip.

From the Eighth street ramp the jump to Chicago airport takes just under ten minutes including taxiing for takeoff, climb, and descent at the Cicero avenue field. Counting ten minutes from loop hotels to the ramp, such shuttle service would save not less than half an hour over the system of hauling passengers in motor cars from the loop to the field. It should not cost the operators more than does operation of a fleet of taxicabs.

Air mail trucked between Chicago airport and the postoffice costs $50,000 a year, and a round trip takes two hours. A shuttle contractor should be able to haul all the mail for this amount and cut the round trip time to 20 minutes. With extension of the shuttle to Milwaukee all the air mail between the two cities, a majority of which now is carried by rail, could actually be flown.

2 AUTO DEATHS RAISE COUNTY'S '34 TOLL TO 1,188

Frank Gorcheski, 51 years old, of 1048 West 32d street, died yesterday in the County hospital of injuries incurred Dec. 1 when he was struck by an automobile driven by Nick Benard of 1222 West 33d street at the intersection of West 31st street and Auburn avenue. Deering street police notified Benard to appear at the inquest at the county morgue today.

The death of Gorcheski and one other yesterday raised the 1934 Cook county trafic toll to 1,188. The other victim:

Mrs. Anna Washington, 33 years old, 3843 Indiana avenue, colored. Killed when an automobile driven by her husband, George, sidewiped another car near the main gate of the Great Lakes Naval Training station, crashed into a fence, and overturned. Wayne Smith, 35 years old, 3333 North Marshfield avenue, was driving the second machine.

PLAN AUTO SHOW HERE OUTSHINING ALL HELD BEFORE

Dealers to Carry On Task National Group Dropped

Plans for an automobile show intended to eclipse any held in the last 32 years were announced yesterday by a committee of Chicago dealers, who decided to carry on the event after the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce abandoned its practice of putting on the annual shows here and in New York.

The spokesman for the committee was A. C. Faeh, general manager of the show. He said the dealers were determined that the annual show should not die out, and described the spectacular setting it will have when it opens once again on Jan. 26 in the Coliseum. It is to close on Feb. 2.

Manufacturers to Aid Enterprise.

Members of the committee are H. T. Hollingshead, chairman; M. J. Lanathan, president of the Chicago Automobile Trade association; V. C. P. Dreiske, J. J. Wright, F. M. Miller, and Harry Lewis.

"The Chicago dealers obtained the coöperation of the car manufacturers," Faeh said, "and decided to spend $100,000 to produce the modernistic black and gold setting for the new models.

"We went to professional stage people to get a complete set of new ideas. Many of us thought the cars deserved a better background than merely a lot of fancy interior decorating.

Drama of Giant Industry.

"Accordingly, black and gold will cover the dome of the exhibition hall, the walls, and even the floors.

"We are dramatizing the fact that the motor industry is a giant. Ten giant figures of workmen in gold-green, each 32 feet high, will be erected along the sides of the main hall. Each one will hold in his hands a replica of some important part of an automobile."

Kenilworth Village Board Rejects PWA Easy Money

Public Works administration officials here were notified yesterday that the Kenilworth village board at its meeting Tuesday had voted to reject a $339,400 PWA loan and grant for a storm sewer system because residents had voted Nov. 25 against accepting a 20 per cent special assessment as required in the PWA agreement. The village officials pointed out that already one-fifth of the existing special assessments are in default. Under the agreement $101,820 of the PWA money was to have been a grant, while residents were to have been assessed for $237,580.

GOLD COAST MEN TO FROLIC WITH HALSTED BOYS

Underprivileged youths and men of the gold coast will be boys together tomorrow night at the annual Halsted street-Lake Shore drive powwow in the Chicago Athletic club gymnasium at 12 South Michigan boulevard. The athletic club and the Chicago Boys' club give the powwow jointly.

During the early evening some of the 16,000 members of the boys' club will stage a band concert, athletic matches, a musical program, and an exposition of art work and handicraft. Afterward the older men will entertain the boys with a social hour and a program by well known entertainers.

William B. Simpson, president of the athletic club, and W. H. Regnery, president, and John H. Witter, general superintendent of the boys' club, will have charge. Boys' club headquarters is at 120 South La Salle street. The organization has four branches on the west and south sides, and its membership has more than tripled since 1930.

White House Auto Carries Stranger to a Hospital

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—A White House car turned ambulance today to rush a 60 year old woman to a hospital after she slipped on an icy sidewalk. Miss Lillian Wald, New York settlement worker and a guest of the President, saw the accident and ordered the chauffeur to halt until the woman, Mina C. Wolfe, could be placed in the car. The woman's wrist was slightly injured.

MUCH OF FLEET'S YULE CASH FOR SAN FRANCISCO

Los Angeles Esteems the U. S. Navy as Industry.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Pedro, Cal., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—When the forty-four warships of the United States fleet, which call this port home, sailed last week for a two week Dec. 5-18 cruise to San Francisco bay, it was just like taking three or four hundred thousand dollars out of the Christmas cash register of the San Pedro, Long Beach, and the Los Angeles area and delivering that money to San Francisco merchants.

In the Los Angeles area, where 31 286 naval officers and men are permanently based, the fleet rates as one of this section's biggest cash assets. The local chamber of commerce has computed that the navy's presence here rates in cash value with the tourist industry, oil, citrus fruit, movies, grapes, general agriculture, commercial shipping, and manufacturing.

Commander Estimates Value.

Just before Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, commanding the United States fleet, recently left for a short stay in Washington on official business he gave a public estimate of what the presence of the fleet means, in dollars and cents.

These are his data:

Annual pay roll for 2,556 officers and 28,730 enlisted men—$21,000,000; subsistence cost [the warships annual bill for fresh groceries], $2,150,000.

Fuel oil and aviation gasoline—$2,130,000.

Maintenance supplies [paint, hardware, tools, etc.]—$670,000.

Total—$26,410,000.

More than half a million dollars is paid out by the United States navy in the Los Angeles-San Pedro-Long Beach area every week, to start its progress through the retail, wholesale, entertainment and banking channels of the nation.

Still Other Cash Spent.

These figures do not include the San Diego area, where light cruisers, destroyers and submarines are based in the shallower, more confined anchorage of San Diego bay, and where another 18,000 navy men are stationed.

The San Francisco merchants and political leaders who were solicitous to have the fleet pay pre-Christmas respects to the more northerly California metropolis will get the benefit of one of the navy's two semi-monthly pay days—[the navy pays off on fifth and the twentieth of each month]—during the fleet's current absence from this area.

The Frisco trip at first was dated to start Dec. 8, but the San Francisco bay area's invitation became pressingly urgent to have the vessels weigh anchor on or before Dec. 5, which means the men received their pay checks at sea, and got their first chance to spend shore leave money in San Francisco. The pay checks distributed on the 87 vessels heading to San Francisco [eighty-seven. Because the forty-odd ships of the battle force based here were supplemented by the San Diego vessels of the scouting force], exceeded $1,000,000.

How They Spend Pay.

The personnel wont spend all of this sum in cash in San Francisco, due to the fact that officer and enlisted personnel of the United States navy has become a good deal more thrifty than in the old days. Much of the navy payroll goes into life insurance payments, officers annuity payments, or allotments signed off to wives, mothers, sisters or other relatives of the men. These allotments are deducted from the payroll checks, that means a considerable portion of the $1,000,000 salary money for Dec. 5, has come back to the navy homes around Los Angeles where the navy men's families reside.

A navy officer in San Pedro today said $250,000 or $300,000 of the Dec. 5 pay of $1,000,000 would be about the limit of what the officers and men will expend on personal entertainment, meals and Christmas shopping in San Francisco. Another item of $40,000 or $50,000 over and above pay money will be spent in San Francisco for fresh food supplies for the ships.

Compared With Store's Pay.

There are several ways to estimate the magnitude of the navy's contribution to the money annually put in circulation in the Los Angeles area.

By way of comparison the total pay roll for retail stores in Los Angeles during the year 1933 amounted to 68 million dollars. The total pay roll for the navy in this year will be, as before stated, 21 million dollars. The total number of employés in Los Angeles retail establishments of all kinds was 87,000 at its high point during 1933. The total personnel of the navy base here, both officers and men, is 31,286.

The estimated average number of persons employed during the current year in the making of motion pictures in the Los Angeles area was 28,000. The estimated annual pay roll of the film industry for the same period was 72 million dollars.

The tourists who come to the Los Angeles area annually number 784,581. Each tourist averages $116 in expenditures, according to analysis by the "All Year club," which does southern California's advertising in the national magazines, eastern and midwest newspapers.

Tourists as Big Business.

The total yearly expenditure by tourists is estimated at 91 million dollars. This means that the navy spends $1 in Los Angeles area for about every $4 spent by tourists, $1 for every $3.50 paid out by movies to its high and low priced help, and $1 for every $3.25 spent by an employé in a retail business of any character in Los Angeles. It puts the fleet among the Los Angeles area's big businesses.

When the fleet was absent for seven months on its long cruise to Caribbean and eastern Atlantic waters last summer the navy left 10 million dollars in pay roll money and two million dollars' subsistence, maintenance, and equipment money in the east. That hit the merchants and café men of this area quite a jolt.

Get Oil Supply in West.

As for the navy's oil and gasoline, no matter where the fleet is stationed southern California's oil industry supplies practically all the fuel to keep the engines turning. Navy oil contracts are let to winning bidders, and the winning bidders for many years have invariably been big oil companies who deliver their crude oil and gas aboard tankers and supply ships in San Pedro. Even American warships stationed at Atlantic ports, at Manila or the China station, get their oil from San Pedro, taken aboard tankers here and delivered through the Panama canal or across the Pacific. The navy uses about 6,000,000 barrels of oil annually, about 5,000,000 barrels of this annual supply are paid for in San Pedro. That's a big item in the business life of the Los Angeles section.

Families in San Pedro.

One navy officer declared today: "Long Beach, where hundreds of families of retired navy officers and men and 10,000 or more families of active navy men reside, was practically saved from bankruptcy by the fleet's money. Long Beach fell into financial distress when the oil industry began to dwindle some years ago. Then came the March, 1932, earthquake, which frightened away thousands of residents and scared tourists into skipping the place."

It happened that Long Beach had been overbuilt during the oil boom and the tourist tide, and was left with a lot of good hotel, home and apartment accommodations as a drug on the market. Navy families came in and took advantage of these about the time that the chief power of the United States fleet began to be based here [January, 1931] and the navy pay roll money, pension money, and the fleet's other expenditures have been a godsend to Long Beach ever since."

Make Navy Men Welcome.

All the cities of the Los Angeles area have spent and continue to spend money to make officers and men of the navy welcome. San Pedro and Los Angeles [of which San Pedro actually is a subdivision] recently donated land rights for a new navy landing pier.

Thus the new San Pedro $80,000 pier is one of three navy landing piers along that waterfront. The others are the breakwater landing near Cabrillo beach and Trona field. The city of Longbeach installed the $80,000 Pico avenue pier with comfortable sheds, concessions, landing slips, and visitors' entertainment rooms. No merchant shipping is allowed to use these landing places. Both the new San Pedro pier at 22d street and the Longbeach Pico avenue piers have auto parks that each accommodate 2,000 cars of officers and men.

San Pedro, through its chamber of commerce, rents Trona field from the Southern Pacific company and furnishes it gratis for a fleet athletic field. Large athletic fields also have been supplied under municipal auspices.

LABOR RELATIONS BOARD RETAINS JENNINGS CASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—The National Labor Relations board today defied Donald R. Richberg, President Roosevelt's chief recovery aid, and the NRA by refusing to relinquish the case of Dean S. Jennings, discharged San Francisco newspaper man.

Richberg and Blackwell Smith, counsel for the NRA, practically had demanded that the labor board give up the Jennings case because of peculiar circumstances surrounding the newspaper code and its guarantees of free speech. Elisha Hanson, counsel for the newspaper code authority, has declared that the board's intervention in the Jennings case violates freedom of the press.

In refusing tonight to relinquish jurisdiction in the case the labor board accused Richberg of dealing in "generalities" and of seeking to "torture the meaning of plain language."

The board reaffirmed the decision in the Jennings case which it handed down on Dec. 3, holding that the San Francisco Call Bulletin discharged Jennings in violation of section 7-A because of his membership in the American Newspaper Guild. The order was that Jennings be reinstated in ten days or action against the paper will be sought through government enforcement agencies.

After the Dec. 3 decision Richberg made his unsuccessful demand in which he asked the labor board to turn the Jennings case over to the newspaper labor board, a board created under the code.

BOY TO BENEFIT BY 1934 AWARD TO MRS. ROOSEVELT

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Eight year old Walter Fox will go to the Warm Springs Foundation because Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was named "the country's outstanding woman of the year."

With 1,000 guests present in an auditorium, Mrs. Roosevelt tonight received the Gimbel award of $1,000.

A great silence enveloped the hall as it was announced that Walter, to whom the $1,000 will go, would speak.

The boy was not present, but from his bedside blocks away a radio hookup brought his words.

"I want to thank Mrs. Roosevelt for her kindness," he said, "and when I pray for her tonight I am going to ask God to bless her."

Until her arrival here to receive the award, Mrs. Roosevelt did not know the name of the child who would receive the money.

In announcing she would accept the honor she instructed that the money be used to send some child, crippled with infantile paralysis, to the foundation in Georgia in which President Roosevelt has played such a large part.

SHOOT TO KILL ORDER URGED IN FIGHT ON CRIME

Courtney Defends Name of Chicago.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—The terse instruction, "shoot to kill," was advanced today before the attorney general's conference on crime as the most effective means of ridding this country of the vicious criminal.

Speakers pictured the struggle between law enforcement officers and the underworld as "a duel to the death with each side having its choice of weapons."

The appeal for militant law enforcement was amplified in suggestions for life terms for hardened criminals and more stringent parole regulations.

Recalls Vigilante Days.

"However much we may shudder at the reversion to the methods of the vigilantes of the pioneer days, no protest is heard against the instruction to the officer 'to get his man, dead or alive,'" said J. Wesley Allen, former United States district attorney at Boston.

"This is because so frequent has been the killing of federal and local police by armed bandits, the public has come to believe that only by beating the desperado at his own game and shooting him down before he has a chance to draw, can the ruthless slaughter of law enforcement officers in the line of duty be checked, and the supremacy of the forces of law and order over the forces which prey on society be restored."

Would Control Sale of Guns.

Mr. Allen pleaded for enactment of stringent legislation regulating the purchase of firearms so that they cannot come into the skilled hands of gunmen.

"Mad dogs must be killed," declared Sanford Bates, director of the United States bureau of prisons. "So the battle against crime must continue on many points, with many diverse weapons and with the realization that an understanding coöperation and militant determination on the part of all departments of government are essential to success."

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney obtained the floor during the afternoon. He defended Chicago and Cook county. At the opening of the conference on Monday evening, Courtney recalled, former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson stated that the chances against being caught after committing a burglary in Chicago were 200 to 1.

"This estimate is totally inaccurate and reflects upon a city whose district and prosecuting attorneys are making an energetic and sincere fight against crime," Courtney said.

Courtney Quotes Figures.

"Knowing they were inaccurate I [illegible] my office for figures. I am [illegible] say that the odds against capture have dropped from 6 to 1 in 1933 to 4 to 1 in 1934, and the odds against conviction have fallen from 8 to 1 in [illegible] to 7 to 1 in 1934.

"Further, I am happy to report that Chicago has not one band of organized gangsters. In this connection, I would recall to you that Chicago had two kidnapings during the kidnaping wave and ten men are behind the bars for the two crimes."

Courtney was roundly applauded.

Scott M. Loftin, president of the American Bar association, suggested that the crime conference be made a government organization, meeting annually, if the drive against crime is to succeed.

Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Houston, Tex., called local jails the "grammar schools of crime." Until local jails are brought under trained supervision and out of politics, he said, they will continue to release "mad dog" criminals on society.

"Girl with Million Dollar Feet" Granted a Divorce

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Helene Falardean [Teddy] Kelley, who stepped to stage prominence from a Boston fireside and became known as "the girl with the million dollar feet," today received her final decree of divorce from Harold Allen Kelley, advertising man.

NOVEL MORTGAGE DEFENSE MAY AID TAX COLLECTION

Sweitzer Takes Hand in Foreclosure Test.

A novel legal theory, which if upheld would give local governments a powerful weapon in collecting taxes will be presented to Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski today in a mortgage foreclosure case.

The foreclosure suit was brought by the University of Chicago, holder of a $50,000 mortgage on an apartment building at 61st street and Drexel avenue owned by Mortimer J. Flynn. Charles J. Tressler, attorney for Flynn, has filed an answer to the bill alleging that the plaintiff does not come into court with clean hands, as is required by equity procedure, because it has never paid personal property taxes on the mortgage.

Sweitzer Enters Case.

Mr. Tressler conferred yesterday on the matter with County Treasurer Sweitzer, who is named a co-defendant in the foreclosure suit because the county holds tax liens on the property. Mr. Sweitzer agreed to enter the matter actively in order to obtain a thorough legal test of the theory embodied in the answer to the bill.

He accordingly requested William J. Touhy of the civil law department of the state's attorney's office to assign a member of that staf to appear today before Judge Klarkowski and oppose the university's motion to dismiss the answer. Mr. Touhy assigned Assistant State's Attorney William Crilly to the case.

Hold Mortgages Taxable.

While there is a theory that taxation of a mortgage is double taxation, because the property by which it is secured is taxed to its full value, the Illinois courts have held that mortgages are taxable. Only a very small percentage of the mortgages held on Cook county property are scheduled for taxation as personal property, however.

Mr. Touhy pointed out yesterday that if the courts should hold that a mortgageholder may not foreclose unless he has paid taxes on his mortgage, that the County Assessor Clark would be able immediately to place all of the mortgages now in foreclosure in the courts of Cook county on the personal property assessment rolls, since a bill for foreclosure must contain a sworn statement of the ownership of the mortgage.

ONLY 27,000 BOTTLES IN ELEVEN MONTHS, SO HARVARD'S OFF BEER

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Because of lack of student demand for beer and ale, only 27,000 bottles from Jan. 1 to Oct. 31, 1934, that service will be discontinued in the Harvard college undergraduate dining halls when the present licenses expire on Jan. 1. That was announced here tonight.

The serving of beer also will be stopped in the dining halls at the Harvard graduate school of business administration. It will be continued, however, in the night lunchroom in Eliot house, undergraduate dormitory; in the students' club and dining room of the Harvard medical school, and in the students' club at the business school.

Aldrich Durant, business manager of Harvard university, explaining the action in stopping the sale of beer, said tonight Harvard had spent a total of $2,400 for beer licenses and that from Jan. 1 to Oct. 31 of this year only 27,000 bottles had been sold in all the university dining halls.

Spanked Girl's Revenge Holdup Nets Her Only 33c

The fine clothes promised by her married sweetheart whom she joined after leaving home when her father spanked her never materialized, Helen Bakutis, 15 years old, said yesterday between sobs at the state's attorney's office. "I wanted to get even with my father, so I told my sweetheart to rob him after he was paid Monday night. But I only got 33 cents as my share, and no new clothes." Robbery indictments will be sought against her sweetheart, Stanley Kortas, and his brother, Stephen.

JOBLESS MOTORMAN ENDS LIFE.

HEAR PLEAS OF 2 TO ESCAPE CHAIR; DECISION TODAY

Pleas for executive clemency for two slayers, sentenced to die in the electric chair shortly after tomorrow midnight for the murder of Policeman Earl M. Jensen of Oak Park, were heard yesterday by the state board of pardons and paroles at Springfield. The board announced, after the hearing, that a decision would be announced today.

Relatives of Walter Dittman, 29 years old, of Aurora, one of the condemned slayers, accompanied by Attorney William Scott Stewart, went before the board to ask that the sentence be changed to life imprisonment. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dittman of Aurora; a brother, Carl; a sister, Miss Mildred Dittman, and Dittman's wife spoke in his behalf. Attorney Stewart argued that the testimony was conflicting and that the public defender did not preserve the record for an appeal. The Supreme court had denied an appeal in the case.

Armando Boulan, 38 years old, a Porto Rican, sentenced to die with Dittman, was not represented by a lawyer or relatives, but sent a letter to the board asking for mercy. The wife of the slain policeman appeared before the board to oppose the pleas. The Charles Roth post of the American Legion, Oak Park, sent a telegram protesting against executive clemency.

Sergt. Alfred Wolf Named Bellwood Chief of Police

Sergt. Alfred Wolf, 30 years old, of the Bellwood police department, was named chief of police last night by the village board. The new chief fills the vacancy created by the recent death of Henry Eggebrecht. Wolf has been on the force eight years. William J. Mink, president of the village board, announced that nearly $400 in contributions had been received to care for Mr. Eggebrecht's family and that the village would organize a benefit to raise additional funds.

VOTERS WARNED OF INDEPENDENTS BY DEMOCRATS

Told to Shun Petitions of "New Party."

BY PARKE BROWN.

Plans were adopted by Democratic leaders yesterday to warn every voter in Chicago that if he signs a nominating petition for an independent or "new party" candidate in the mayoralty election next April he will disqualify himself from voting in the February primaries.

This program was adopted because of the large number of voters that may be affected this time. The April nominating petitions will require approximately 60,000 signatures, and efforts will be made to bring the totals on some of them to the 90,000 mark. With at least three such petitions forecast, it is estimated that between 200,000 and 250,000 voters may sign away their primary rights unless they are warned of the danger before them.

It is planned also to call the attention of the elector to the fact that if he signs a petition for a candidate running in the primary of either major party in February he cannot vote in the primary of any other party.

That part of the general primary law to which it is intended to call attention reads as follows:

"No person shall be allowed to vote at a primary:

"Who shall have signed the petition for nomination of a candidate of any party with which he does not affiliate when such candidate is to be voted for at the primary;

"Who shall have signed the nominating papers of an independent candidate for any office for which office candidates are to be voted for at such primary."

Independents Speed Drive.

The reason for the haste of independent and "new party" candidates in starting to collect signatures long before the primary date—Feb. 26—is that the ballot law provides that "any person who has already voted at a primary election held to nominate a candidate or candidates for any office or offices to be voted upon at any certain election shall not be qualified to sign a petition of nomination for a candidate or candidates for the same office or offices to be voted upon at the same certain election."

Therefore obtaining the signatures of qualified signers after the primaries is a difficult task when the total required is approximately 60,000 for each petition.

Progressives Plan City Ticket.

Announcements in some form or other that April petitions will be circulated have come from three sources and others are expected. The self-labeled progressive Republicans of the Republican primary last April have said that they will circulate a city ticket petition headed by Newton Jenkins for mayor. This is to be a "third party" movement.

Both the Socialist and communist parties also will enter mayoralty candidates in April by petition. The Socialist city committee has voted to run Roy E. Burt, the party candidate for governor in 1932. The communists have selected Karl Lockner, known as a radical agitator in the unemployment field, as their candidate. Both of these minority organizations have candidates for the offices of city clerk and city treasurer.

There is already one entry for one of the major party primaries whose petitions are said to be in circulation with the approval of the party's central organization. That candidate is Mrs. John Wesley Gray, a former Smallite and Thompsonite who is said to be "running on her own."

In this instance, Democrats say, many women might sign the Gray petitions salely because the candidate is a woman and fail to realize that their signatures would bar them from voting in any primary except the Republican.

RUB that gives quick RELIEF
Dr. Caldwell
PINE BALM
A COMPOUND

For Colds:

This "Rub" Gives You QUICKER ACTION and Costs You Less!

Pine Balm is a real discovery. It is not a mere surface rub which brings a temporary sensation of warmth. It is not another ointment whose vapors merely clear the head.

QUICK ACTION

Any man, woman, or child can use this penetrant for the speedy relief of a cold. A light cold, often with one application; or a more deep-seated cold frequently between night and morning.

It has been found more direct than internal remedies.

Its action hours quicker than any inert rub.

And safe to use on a baby!

For an irritated throat, you simply swallow a small lump of this amazing preparation; sprays and gargles cannot compare with this improved treatment.

AN IMPROVEMENT ON NATURE?

It would almost seem to be! The pungency of this new rub does what whole days in the woods does not accomplish for the nasal passages—the throat—the bronchial tubes. Its vapors are bland and soothing, but have such "spread" that they quickly reach the spot where colds settle.

We doubt if any rub ever had such swift, complete penetration, and we are certain no internal cold remedy could have the same direct result on the afflicted area. It is a real discovery.

TO THE PUBLIC:

You are not asked to try an untried product. Nor to believe any unsupported claims. Pine Balm has been tested by physicians on many men, women, and children, with various types of colds—under varying climatic conditions.

Try Pine Balm! It's not at all expensive. A jar costs a quarter, and very little need be used at a time. Local druggists have all been supplied. Get the name right, and get the right preparation. Ask for Dr. Caldwell Pine Balm.

MAYOR APPOINTS S. I. WITMANSKI TO PARK BOARD

Lueder and J. H. Hogan Put On Pension Group.

The city council at its meeting yesterday concurred in four appointments submitted by Mayor Kelly. Stephen I. Witmanski, president of the White Eagle Dairy company, was named to the Chicago park district board. Two new members of the police pension board were announced and Louis Rixmann took over the office of city collector.

The new members of the pension board will be Arthur C. Lueder, former postmaster and Republican candidate for mayor in 1923, and John H. Hogan, a vice president of the Continental Illinois National bank and Trust company. The resignations of Walter L. McMenimen, president of the board, and Arthur T. Leonard, a member, were accepted by the mayor, but he has taken no action on the resignation of the third member, George F. Getz, national treasurer of the Republican party.

One of Five Places Still Open.

Witmanski, formerly a practicing attorney, is president of the Milk Dealers' association. He will take the place on the park board of Miss Bessie C. O'Neill, secretary to the mayor, who was appointed to serve while legal technicalities on the park consolidation were being straightened out by the Illinois Supreme court. Another appointment is expected shortly to fill the place of John Nash, assistant to the mayor, who also was named temporarily. Four of the five members have now been named permanently.

Rixmann was made city collector in the place of Edward J. Kaindl, who was chosen county recorder by the county board recently. Clayton F. Smith left the recordership upon his election as president of the county board.

A bill to bring the milk ordinance of 1905 up to date was submitted to the council by Mayor Kelly on the recommendation of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health. It was referred to the health committee. Dr. Bundesen said the new measure contained no radical changes, but would codify and simplify various amendments made in the old ordinance.

Improvement Matters Committed.

A request that the state make available to the city out of gasoline tax funds $1,100,000 for the erection of a new bridge over the Calumet river at Torrence avenue was referred to the finance committee for consideration. The request was submitted by Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works.

Corporation Counsel Sexton informed the aldermen in a communication that attorneys for loop property owners would appear before Superior Judge James J. Kelly on Dec. 18 to ask for dismissal of the State street subway special assessment case, that has been in the courts for over three years.

In support of their motion for dismissal, Mr. Sexton said, the attorneys will cite the fact that the comprehensive transportation ordinance of 1930 has lapsed. He declared that the city cannot successfully resist the motion unless it can show prospects of having a tenant for the subway. The communication was referred to the committee on local transportation.

Detroit Seeks City Funds.

Bids from the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and from the First National Bank of Chicago, offering ⅛ of 1 per cent interest on city deposits were sent to the council by City Controler Robert B. Upham. He also submitted an informal bid of the Detroit, Mich., Savings bank for funds at ¼ of 1 per cent. The bids were referred to the finance committee.

Missionaries Kidnaped in China

MRS. J. C. STAM.

THE REV. J. C. STAM.

Graduates of Moody

The Rev. J. C. Stam, who, according to cable dispatches published yesterday, was kidnaped with his wife and 2 month old child by bandits in southern Anhwei province, China, are recent graduates of Moody Bible institute. This was learned from the Rev. Isaac Page, 1234 Elmdale avenue, in charge of the local headquarters of the China Inland mission, under whose auspices Mr. and Mrs. Stam carry on their work.

Mrs. Stam is the daughter of the Rev. Dr. Ernest Scott, a professor in a Presbyterian missionary college at Tsinanfu, Shantung, China. Dr. Scott is well known in Chicago missionary circles. Mr. Stam's home is in Paterson, N. J. He was graduated from Moody institute in 1932. His wife was graduated in 1931. They were married shortly after Mr. Stam completed his course. He was honored as class speaker.

EXTORTION PLOT EVIDENCE RUSHED TO GRAND JURY

Direct grand jury action will be taken in the case of Leo Rosenthal, 26 years old, 1202 West Roosevelt road, who was arrested Monday night while, it is alleged, he was attempting to extort $5,000 from Morris Axelrood, 2107 Jarvis avenue, head of the Ashland Lumber company, it was announced last evening by First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley. He added he hopes to seek a true bill against Rosenthal this morning.

Rosenthal was questioned at length yesterday, but would make no admission either as to the alleged extortion or to the murder of Sidney C. Masser, 46 years old, former partner of Axelrood in the lumber company. Masser was found shot to death in the office of the lumber company Oct. 15, 1932.

Axelrood told the police that soon after Masser's murder he paid $5,000 to a man who threatened him with the same fate as his partner. He said last week Rosenthal came to his office, saying he was the partner of the slayer of Masser, and demanded another $5,000. Rosenthal was trapped while trying to collect the extortion money.

110 Ethiopians Killed in Battle with Italians

VOTE TO INDICT 6 AS ROBBERS; FIND 'DEFENSE CHEST'

A safety deposit box containing $1,275, a robbers' defense fund, was opened yesterday at the First National bank by Police Captain Willard Malone and Assistant State's Attorney Frank Christianson. The discovery followed the voting of true bills for the Tardi machine gun robbery gang by the grand jury, which held the six hoodlums in total bonds of $600,000.

One true bill, charging robbery of the Ætna State bank at Fullerton parkway and Lincoln avenue of $18,500 on Oct. 30, named Ralph Tardi, gang leader; Frank Mayleo, Fred Lombardo, John Anselmo and his brother, Charles.

In another true bill Tardi, Lombardo and John Anselmo were accused of the robbery of Ireland's restaurant at 632 North Clark street on Nov. 30, when they are alleged to have taken $750. The other bill named Tardi, Lombardo, the two Anselmos and Minas Oretas for the robbery attempt on the Beverly State Savings bank at 103d and Loomis streets on Dec. 1, when tear gas drove the raiders away.

According to the state's attorney's office, several of the prisoners confessed.

SIAMESE PRESS KING TO GIVE UP THREAT TO QUIT

Seek Transfer of Power to Commute Sentences.

CRANLEIGH, Surrey, England, Dec. 12.—(AP)—A discussion of the ancient and modern concepts of the rights of kings that lasted three hours left undecided the question whether Siam's tiny king will go back to his ancient throne.

King Prajadhipok this afternoon received the Siamese delegation that came 8,000 miles to try to persuade him to give up his idea of abdicating. The delegation, including three from Bangkok, and the Siamese ministers to Paris and London, will return tomorrow for further talk.

Involves Death Sentence.

Crux of the situation was the Siamese assembly's action in depriving Prajadhipok of his inherent right to decide whether subjects sentenced to death should die or not.

Presumably Chao Phya Sri Dharmadhibes, speaker of the house of representatives who headed the delegation, explained to the monarch his American-derived idea that "the executive and judicial branches of our government should be separate and independent."

Husky British constables and secret service men stood guard over the gates to keep out intruders. Other guards patroled the walled grounds surrounding the old stone mansion where Prajadhipok, seeking British medical treatment for his ailing eyes, resides.

Bangkok Awaits Reply.

Whatever decisions are reached in the conferences here, Sri Dharmadhibes said previously, final action on the king's future status—until two years ago he was one of the world's few remaining absolute rulers—will rest with the Siamese parliament, which meets at Bangkok Saturday. The chief delegate said he was "very hopeful."

The delegation has full powers to negotiate with the king unless he makes unforeseen demands, in which case it would have to consult the government at Bangkok for further instructions.

GEOLOGISTS OF BYRD PARTY FIND NEW COAL FIELDS

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Dec. 12.—[Via. MacKay Radio.]—(AP)—The geological sledging party on the second Byrd antarctic expedition has come upon new coal fields and plant-bearing sandstone holding numerous fossils.

Quin Blackburn, leader of the party, in reporting the discovery to Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd by radio yesterday, said the find was made 210 miles from the south pole at the head of Thorne glacier. The party surpassed all ground penetrations into the interior since the polar dashes of Scott and Amundsen in 1911-1912. With Blackburn are Richard Russell of Boston, Mass., and Stuart Paine of Durham, N. H.

Apparently the group commenced the ascent Nov. 27 and finally reached the head of the glacier Dec. 7. Judging from its mileage, the glacial stream rises at least 100 miles from the barrier to the plateaus. It is a river of hard slick blue ice, heavily crevassed. In many places pressure ridges exist and men and dogs were taxed to the limit in the ascent.

PARAGUAY CLAIMS 5,000 BOLIVIANS DEAD IN BATTLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Dec. 12.—Paraguayan troops have captured the Bolivian Chaco fort, 27th of November, according to an official communique issued tonight. The communique said approximately 5,000 Bolivian soldiers died of thirst or were killed on the road between Forts Huey Long and 27th of November.

The statement adds that many Bolivians surrendered and that Col. L. David Toro and other Bolivian officers fled on the night of Dec. 7, foreseeing disaster.

A second communique said that during a thirty day offensive the Paraguayans have captured 10,000 prisoners, eight pieces of artillery, 200 army trucks, 900 rifles, and $2,000,000 worth of munitions.

November Farm Milk Price Off 17 Cents on 100 Lbs.

Dairy farmers will receive an average of 17 cents a hundred pounds less for their milk, cream, and surplus milk delivered to Chicago distributors in November than they were paid for their October deliveries. The farmers will receive $1.65 a hundred pounds [3.54 cents a quart] for the 121,223,830 pounds of milk produced in the Chicago federal milk sales area last month, it was announced yesterday by Frank C. Baker, market administrator for the Chicago licensed milk territory.

Circus Saints to Organize 'Tent' in Chicago Tuesday

A branch, or "tent," of the Circus Saints and Sinners Club of America, an organization devoted to the interests of circus performers and circus traditions, will be formed here next Tuesday at a dinner in the Blackstone hotel. The announcement was made yesterday by F. Darius Benham of New York, national president of the club. Sixty invitations have been sent to prominent Chicagoans through Thorne Donnelley, who is in charge of the arrangements.

County Willing to Resume Care of Permanent Poor

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, yesterday agreed with relief commission officials that the county should soon resume the responsibility for supporting the permanent indigent class of relief "clients." This portion of the relief load, estimated at 20,000 families out of 135,000 in the county, was shifted to the Illinois Emergency Relief commission when depression forced county finances to a critically low ebb.

One-third of the annual cost of caring for the permanent poor—about $13,000,000—would be borne by the county which, it was revealed, still holds $4,748,000 in unsold relief bonds from a $17,000,000 issue authorized several years ago. The remaining two-thirds of the cost would be shouldered by the federal government until the county finds a way to increase its constributions.

Expect Change in Month.

Thus it is expected that within a month the county board will again administer relief to those who could not work even if there were jobs. This would be done through the county bureau of public welfare, which at present is a unit of the I. E. R. C. setup.

After Mr. Smith had conferred with Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the relief commission, and Wilfred S. Reynolds, its executive secretary, it was arranged for Mr. Dunham to outline the plan in a letter to the county board which will then take decisive action on it. In the meantime, Michael J. O'Connor, county controler, will work out a budget under which the plan would be financed.

"All counties in the state should gradually take over the support of their own poor in the 'unemployable' class," Mr. Dunham said later. "We are working right along with other counties to get them to take back the care of such dependents, but we have not reached the same point in our negotiations with them that we have in Cook county."

U. S. More Insistent.

This is a reflection of the federal government's increasing insistence that local governments shoulder the burden of maintaining "unemployables."

Joseph L. Moss, director of the county bureau of public welfare, said that there were only 8,000 families in the permanently indigent group a few years ago. The increase of 150 per cent is laid to several factors, among them the lessening ability of relatives to contribute to the support of such families, and the shattering effect of the depression on the minds and bodies of some persons.

At the peak load of 8,000 families, the county's annual cost was approximately $750,000, or about $8 a month per family. This average takes into account the more frequent cases of partial relief at that time. Now the monthly expenditure per family, by the I. E. R. C., is close to $35.

CHICAGOANS PAY $280,000 A WEEK FOR COAL DELAY

Fixed Prices Obtain Despite Hecht's Hint.

The delay of Frank A. Hecht, NRA national coal administrator, in announcing the end of price fixing in Chicago is costing home owners here $35,000 a day and taxpayers $5,000 a day through expenditures of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, according to estimates yesterday. At this rate the cost amounts to $280,000 a week. The commission staf has refrained from seeking restoration of competitive bidding, deferring to Washing ton authorities in taking action.

Last week Chief Hecht repeated his order to the Chicago code authority that it must put into effect the generally lower schedule fixed prices determined in September by the research and planning division of the national recovery administration. Yesterday the Chicago group continued to publish, except on two items, the fixed prices established by the local code authority in July. The excepted items are relief coal, on which Washington gave the dealers a 40 per cent greater margin than they ever had before, and Pocahontas mine run fuel.

Questions All Fixed Prices.

Over long distance telephone Mr. Hecht was asked whether the refusal of the Chicago code authority to use the approved prices invalidated all fixed prices here. He replied:

"That's a pretty good conclusion."

It was learned yesterday that the railroads hauling relief coal from Illinois mines had discontinued their special rebate of 20 per cent on freight rates, within restrictions, and fixed a flat rebate of 10 cents a ton regardless of the regular rate. Observers said this would result in the purchase of more relief fuel from southern Illinois.

Dealers Complain of Favoritism.

Several coal dealers listed among the 300 accredited firms from whom relief coal is purchased complained yesterday that the "clients" were having their choice of dealer disregarded by relief staf workers. The orders, they charged, were arbitrarily made out to a limited group of coal companies.

F. A. Deniston, business manager of the relief commission, admitted the facts reported were true, but advanced the following explanation:

"In order to prevent congestion in clerical work coal orders are made out several days in advance of the appointed time when the clients are to come to the relief station to get them. Not knowing the client's choice of dealer, the order is made out to the same firm which handled that client's business last year on a competitive basis. The best we can do is make a note of his choice to be used in giving him the fuel order next month."

'BUSINESS INTEGRITY' OF HUGO STINNES JR. TO BE INVESTIGATED

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

ESSEN, Dec. 12.—The "business integrity" of Hugo Stinnes Jr., heir to the industrial realm left by his father, will be made the subject of a formal investigation following an attempt to exclude him from membership in the Essen Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

His election to that body three years ago, it is charged, was made possible by votes held by concerns he controls. It was protested by a member of the chamber on the ground that young Stinnes' commercial reputation was not "unsullied." The protest was rejected and dismissed without debate by the chamber's board on the ground that the accusations did not affect Stinnes' elegibility.

The case now has been reopened and by a ruling of the upper court for administrative affairs the Essen chamber is ordered to show cause why the protest against Stinnes shall not be made the subject of a formal investigation.

GERMANY BANS CRITIC FOR HIS TASTE IN MUSIC

BERLIN, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Hans Heinz Stuckenschmidt has been expelled from the journalistic profession because of his championship of modernistic music. Stuckenschmidt, son of a distinguished Prussian general, favors liberalism in music of the type sponsored by Paul Hindemith and Wilhelm Furtwaengler.

Notice of his expulsion was given by Dr. Paul Goebbels, Nazi minister of propaganda. Dr. Goebbels told the Mittags Zeitung the critic doesn't "quite possess the qualification necessary for a man charged with the task of influencing public opinion spiritually." His championship of liberalism in music was termed intolerable for the third reich.

It was learned that Stuckenschmidt's assistant was dismissed from employment several weeks ago on demand of the Nazi chamber of culture because of criticism of a performance of Verdi's "Il Trovatore" at the Reichopera, which Dr. Goebbels controls.

Gunmen Rob Pair in Home of Jewelry and Cash

Three men, two of them armed with pistols, yesterday forced their way into the home of Aaron Amanaster, 55 years old, of 2155 North Spaulding avenue, and escaped with $1,000 in jewels, $75 in cash, and a quantity of clothing. Amanaster and his wife were guarded by one of the gunmen while the other two robbers ransacked the house.

COMMUNITY FUND DRIVE ENDS; GOAL NEARLY ATTAINED

$55,000 Needed; May Yet Top 3 Million Mark.

The 1934 Community Fund campaign came to its official close yesterday only about $55,000 short of its $3,000,000 goal. The announcement came at the final formal report meeting in the Palmer house of more than 1,000 Chicago business executives who for the last three months have been working in the fund's behalf. Despite the official closing of the drive, it is expected that the entire amount will be raised. Workers expressed a desire to continue their task until all outstanding pledge cards issued have been accounted for.

The total in pledges received to date is $2,944,905, but 70,000 pledge cards distributed principally among business houses and employés have not been returned. Reports on these, officials of the fund believe, will send the fund over its goal. Twenty-eight of the fifty groups in the trades and industries division have exceeded their quotas and several more reported yesterday that their quotas would be reached this week.

Hear Farewell Message.

Special guests at the meeting were workers in the gifts division which raised nearly $1,900,000 of the total fund, and members of the women's division, which aided in making known the functions of the 130 private charities in Chicago who are to share the fund.

In his farewell message to the men who have worked with him since Sept. 1, Clarence B. Randall, chairman of the trades and industries division, said: "I feel much as we did when we were mustered out of the army. I remember well, however, one pledge made by some of my buddies as we were mustered out, and that was to take a poke at the top sergeant as soon as they were back in 'civies.' I hope no such sentiment is rife here."

Called "Remarkable Job."

Edward L. Ryerson Jr., president of the fund, described the work of the business men as "the most remarkable job of this kind I have ever heard of." Fred A. Preston, general chairman of the campaign, also thanked the workers for their service.

Chicagoans who have not contributed will still have time to do so, it was explained. Checks may be mailed direct to the campaign headquarters in the Conway building at 111 West Washington street. Should the fund be oversubscribed the surplus will be used to meet emergency needs in next year's campaign.

TRAIN KILLS MAN, 83.

While walking along the right of way of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad tracks near his home yesterday, Anthony Ciborski, 83 years old, 346 West 111th street, was struck and killed by a train.

PACKERS AGREE TO SURVEY BY SANITARY BOARD

Action May Halt Court Fight Over Sewage.

An agreement between the sanitary district and the Chicago packers which will permit the district engineers to make an inspection of sewage originating in Packingtown as a basis for recommending a sewage treatment program for the area, was announced yesterday by Ross A. Woodhull, president of the sanitary district.

The negotiations were conducted by John L. McInerney, special counsel for the district, and James G. Gordon, representing the packers. The agreement is expected to halt the district's suit for a Circuit court injunction to restrain the packers from interfering with the inspection.

Survey to Start in January.

The survey of Packingtown waste will be started by sanitary district engineers late in January and should be completed in six months, Mr. Woodhull said. The district will make a special appropriation to cover the inspection costs, which are not now estimated, he said.

"In substance, the agreement is that the packers will permit the agents of the sanitary district to inspect the plants to determine the character and volume of industrial waste produced," Mr. Woodhull explained. "The details of the inspection are to be worked out between engineers for the district and the packers."

Quantity of Waste Estimated.

Philip Harrington, chief engineer for the district, who will direct the inspection, estimates that the present waste from the packing plants, which now empties into the Chicago river without treatment, is equal to that of 1,000,000 population. Under the agreement whereby the federal government advanced the district $42,000,000 for sewage treatment works construction, the district was to require proper treatment of this sewage.

Two courses are likely to be recommended at the close of the inspection, Mr. Harrington said. Either the district will erect the necessary treatment plant and operate it with fees from the packers, or the packing industry will be required to build adequate plants.

FARMER CAPITALIST, LAWYER DECLARES AT SOIL TILLERS' SESSION

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 12.—(AP)—America's agricultural industry "should and will" remain capitalistic in form, Donald Kirkpatrick, general counsel of the American Farm Bureau federation, said today at the organization's convention.

"The American farmer," he said, "should and will continue to own and control his instrumentalities of production and directly so, as the personal proprietor and master of his unit, obtaining a fair return on his investment and adequate compensation for his management and labor, and a reasonable profit for his enterprise."

Kirkpatrick described coöperative services to be rendered by farm organizations as including marketing, mutual insurance, pooled purchases, and other major business operations in which he believed farmers could effect savings through collective action.

BATTLE FLARES OVER HOUSE POST OF FLOOR LEADER

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—A bitter battle for the floor leadership of the new house broke out today after members ascertained that Representative Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee appeared the certain choice of a majority of Democrats for the speakership.

Representative John W. McCormack of Massachusetts announced formally for the leadership, while John E. Rankin of Mississippi withdrew from the speakership contest to seek the second highest post in the house organization.

Friends of Representative William B. Bankhead of Alabama also urged him to abandon the speakership race and enter the leadership battle. Bankhead, however, was noncommittal. He is chairman of the powerful rules committee.

At the same time Representative James M. Mead of New York was in New York today to confer with Tammany chieftains in a move to get their big bloc of votes back of him.

Representative John J. O'Connor, Tammany unit member, claimed all but two of the 29 Democratic votes from his state.

The Illinois delegation meets tomorrow night in Chicago, slated to go on record for Byrns as speaker. It also is to decide whether it will support William W. Arnold or Adolph J. Sabath from that state for leader.

BOARD OF TRADE ASKED FOR HELP BY SEC. PERKINS

Plea Made as They List New Labor Deal.

New York, Dec. 12.—[Special.]—The New York Board of Trade adopted resolutions today opposing the adoption of "any and all" forms of federal and state unemployment insurance, urging laws to outlaw strikes and lockouts, and legislation to compel the licensing of spokesmen for capital and labor in industrial disputes.

Then its members sat back and listened to the gentle, good humored chiding of Frances Perkins, secretary of labor and one of the nation's leading advocates of collective bargaining and governmentally fostered social security. At the close of her address she asked for the board's coöperation toward the accomplishment of the sort of program its members had condemned.

Would Provide Lot of Jobs.

Creation of a bureau to license spokesmen for employers and employés, she said, would provide "a lot of nice, little jobs" for those minded to think of jobs.

Strikes and lockouts, Miss Perkins said, were costly to both sides, but she implied that she regarded proposals for legislating them out of existence and barring the closed shop as naive proposals for solving the problem of adjusting differences between the worker and his employer.

"I think we should be very careful about licensing and resorting to compulsion," she said. "We should think twice before we start anything like that because if we compelled one group or another to do a certain thing it would be only a month or so before it would catch up with all of us in one way or another."

Several Methods in View.

Miss Perkins said that undoubtedly the resolution reflected the views of many groups throughout the country, but it was per personal conviction that general unemployment insurance was preferable to the reserve system. The report of the President's committee on social and economic security, to be made public soon, she said, would contain two or three proposed methods of insuring against unemployment and poverty in old age.

Unemployment insurance, Miss Perkins said, would be a boon to industry, because the payment of benefits to those who otherwise would not be able to buy would tend to stabilize the domestic market on which industry is largely dependent. The same was true, she said, of old age pensions.

Declaring that the idea of a permanent army of unemployed in this country was unthinkable, Miss Perkins told the members that within a week the committee appointed by President Roosevelt to study national resources would make public a report containing a program that would provide work for every able bodied man in the United States for 25 years."

LABOR REVEALS PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Organized labor took issue with commerce and industry today by announcing that its legislative program included several proposals bitterly denounced by the nation's leading commercial and industrial groups.

The labor program, to be presented to congress as soon as it convenes, calls for enactment of a thirty hour work week bill, an industrial disputes act to outlaw company unions, and extension of the NRA with equal representation for labor and industry on all boards and code authorities. Among the less controversial proposals will be unemployment insurance, old age pensions, and restoration of federal wage cuts.

As announced by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, the program would continue the national labor relations board, strengthen its power and make it an independent agency free from supervision of the department of labor and answerable directly to the president.

CANADIAN POLICE SAVE TWO RELIEF OFFICERS BESIEGED BY JOBLESS

NANAIMO, B. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Thirty provincial policemen today forcibly ended a siege in which two British Columbia relief officers were held virtual prisoners by unemployed men and women dissatisfied over relief payments.

The officers battered down a door of an office in which the picketeers had taken refuge and dispersed the crowd. The relief officers, cornered in their office since Monday afternoon, did not leave, however.

The unemployed, numbering between 50 and 100, protested against a cut in monthly relief allowances from $21.25 to $16. The men asserted their clothing was in such condition they could not work comfortably in winter weather.

IDENTIFY THREE BOYS KILLED IN CCC CAMP BLAZE

Norris, Tenn., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—The charred bodies of three CCC youths, burned to death shortly after midnight by fire that swept the Clear creek camp near the government's new Norris dam, were identified today.

They were: Elwood Kramer, 20, Nutley, N. J.; Jacob Klein, 20, Bronx, New York, and Charles De Palma, 21, East Orange, N. J.

Four other CCC workers were burned slightly and 200 were left shivering in their night clothes in 10 degrees above zero weather. All their clothes except those they wore were burned as the flames destroyed three of the camps' four pine board barracks.

The fire had gained such a start before the camp was aroused that the sleeping youths hardly had time to save themselves without trying to rescue any of their personal effects. Lieut. L. G. Finger said he did not know the cause of the fire.

Firemen from Norris, the Tennessee valley authority model town about two miles away, responded to an alarm. They pulled the burned bodies of the three victims from the ruins, but were unable to save the buildings.

All of the camp burned, except a recreation building, one barracks, and the officers' quarters. The camp's lighting facilities also were destroyed, leaving the cold numbed workers in darkness. The youth were taken to a nearby camp for the remainder of the night.

The Clear Creek unit was composed of residents of New York and New Jersey. About 5,000 CCC workers are camped in the area engaged in soil erosion work in connection with the work at Norris dam.

The camp was located about 10 miles from Jonesboro.

Jail Poison Murder Trial Is Put Off Until Monday

Judge Walter P. Steffen in the Criminal court yesterday set for next Monday the trial of Lawrence Cozzi on the charge of having murdered Rocco Pisano by sending poisoned sandwiches to the county jail, where he was held a prisoner. The trial which was to have started yesterday was continued so that the jury would not be locked up in the administration building of the county jail Friday night when two prisoners are scheduled to die in the electric chair for murder.

EDUCATORS SEE NEW CHANCE FOR SMALL COLLEGE

Big State Schools "Feel Pinch of Poverty."

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Although many small denominational colleges may soon be forced out of existence, reconstructed schools of this group that survive modern conditions are likely eventually to be in a position to dominate the higher educational field in America, educators predicted here last night.

Two college presidents, a technical director at the Museum of Science and Industry, and a public relations counsel were among the speakers before an alumni group of Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Ia., at the Union League club, where the future of small universities was under discussion.

John R. Van Pelt of the museum opened the conference with the declaration that the great state universities, feeling the pinch of tax strikes and curtailed budgets, have come to think they cannot operate as centers of learning without a vast equipment outlay.

Bigger Schools "Weakening."

"There is a danger in the near future," said Mr. Van Pelt, "that with decreasing appropriations, after being accustomed to the lavish bounty of the state, they will lose their effectiveness and that the small colleges will soon be the only effective educational institutions left. The movement toward the elimination of the weak, small colleges is no less pronounced than the growing impotence of the state universities."

President Irving Maurer of Beloit college presided. This evidence of the fraternal relationship between the Wisconsin and the Iowa colleges was hailed by Mr. Van Pelt as prophetic of new ways of testing professorial effectiveness. The museum expert scored examination systems as means of shielding incompetence of many teachers.

"One of the most absurd and anomalous situations in higher education today," said Mr. Van Pelt, "is that arising from the fact that the same teacher not only conducts his course but also retains the right by examination to test the effectiveness of his work.

Pass on Own Work.

"Lazy and inept teachers are thus allowed to be virtually sole critics of their own effectiveness. A much better plan would be to have Beloit professors examine Cornell students, and vice versa. Dolts and drones soon would be eliminated."

Perry Addleman, public relations counsel and author of the famed Armour institute plan of applied science education, after surveying trends in education, asserted that the small colleges of the country which survive will be those whose whole emphasis is upon education and not upon vocational or trade training.

He declared entrance requirements of the true liberal arts college must drastically be raised so that only those students capable of achieving an education may be admitted.

Favors Limited Enrollment.

To this, as a general principle, President Herbert J. Burgstahler of Cornell college agreed.

President Burgstahler said that the movement to limit enrollment at Cornell ultimately to such an extent as to include only exceptionally well prepared students is now under way.

He added that the tendency to prostitute the ideal of an education as being "a surer way to make a living" and to gain extra social privilege, as pointed out in the Addleman paper, is a thing on which the small college must turn its back, regardless of ideals to the contrary underlying many of the great universities.

LIVERPOOL DEAN FACES CHURCH TRIAL SATURDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 12.—An ecclesiastical lawsuit without precedent since the reformation, it is understood, will be heard in Liverpool Saturday. The dean of Liverpool, the Very Rev. Frederick William Dwelly, will be called upon to answer before a commission of inquiry a charge of causing a scandal in the diocese by refusing to execute the mandate of the bishop of Liverpool to install the archdeacons of Liverpool and Warrington at a service in the cathedral on Sept. 27.

The bishop, who was present at the service, performed the act of installation himself. The following day he sailed for Australia, but is at present on his way home.

The action is being brought by the two archdeacons concerned.

PADDY BAULER'S BROTHER OBTAINS 6TH CONTINUANCE

Peter B. Bauler, 1931 Howe street, brother of Ald. Mathias [Paddy] Bauler [43], was granted yesterday the sixth continuance of his former wife's motion that he be cited for contempt for nonpayment of $1,585 support money. The complainant is Mrs. Emelyn Bauler Breidell, 5026 Quincy street, who has remarried since she divorced Bauler in October, 1930.

Bauler's attorney told Superior Judge Francis B. Allegretti that his client is getting only $15 a week as an employé of a tavern at Sedgwick street and North avenue. Mrs. Breidell's attorney, A. G. Dicus, charged, however, that the tavern is owned by Ald. Bauler, but that his client's former husband manages it at a good salary.

The tavern was the scene of the shooting of Policeman John J. Ahearn and Deputy Sherif Frank A. Wright in a brawl last Dec. 18.

PRESIDENT HINTS HE WILL TAKE CUE FROM HIGH COURT

Refers to Code Rebuff at Oil Hearing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today credited the United States Supreme court with making an important discovery in bringing out the fact that the New Deal decrees, codes, and executive orders, all having the force of an act of congress, casually are issued by the hundreds and not even officially published.

The justices of the Supreme court elicited that information from government counsel in the hearing on the NRA petroleum code. Among other things it was discovered that four Texas oil men were arrested, jailed, and later indicted under a nonexistent section of the code; that the missing section, left out in revision, was not restored until a year later, and that the department of justice knew nothing about it until the case reached the Supreme court.

Indictment Quashed; Appealed.

The indictment in the criminal case was quashed in the federal District court, but the government appealed and did not know until the case reached the highest tribunal that there was no law. The attorney general had the criminal case dismissed, but the Supreme court heard arguments on the oil men's suit for an injunction against further prosecutions.

The President said the court had made an important discovery—the fact that there never has been any machinery to make public executive and other administrative orders. He said the White House kept a file and that there was one in the state department open to inspection, but no means of publicly distributing executive orders or even proclamations. The President added that he was studying the problem.

Since the Supreme Court justices expressed their amazement that these orders, on which men can go to jail, are not even readily available to government counsel, there has been talk in administration circles of publishing an official Daily Gazette.

Lawyer Offers Idea.

That would provide a complete file of all the thousands of codes, amendments, modifications and administrative rulings. This idea originated with Charles E. Wysansky, labor department solicitor and a young protégé of Prof. Felix Frankfurter.

President Roosevelt said today, however, that he did not want to start a government newspaper.

FRANCE FINDS A NEW USE FOR ITS ARMY—TO DRINK WINE SURPLUS

PARIS, Dec. 12.—(AP)—French soldiers will help drink up France's surplus of red wine if the chamber of deputies' army committee has its way.

A resolution was voted today making the ration for each soldier one-half liter [about one pint] daily, instead of the present one-fourth liter.

Previous efforts to raise the ration to one full liter met objections from Gen. Louis Maurin, minister of war, who said he did not intend to get the French army drunk for the sake of the French wine growers.

MARTIN SIGNING $30,000,000 IN STATE AID BONDS

With the last legal obstacle to the $30,000,000 state relief bond issue swept away by the Illinois Supreme court decision Tuesday, State Treasurer John C. Martin yesterday began the huge task of signing them. He started the job at the American Bank Note company offices at 118 East 20th street, where his right hand guided a device that reproduced his signature on twenty bonds at once. In affixing his signature he was obeying a writ of mandamus issued by the Supreme court Tuesday in a test case when it held that Edward J. Hughes, secretary of state, had properly printed the notice of the election last month at which the issue was improved.

YOUTH REVEALS OWN STORY OF TULSA SLAYING

Tells Tragedy Details for First Time.

Story of Fatal Night.

First he told of the night Gorrell was killed. He had displayed the extortion note to several persons, he said, having had it in his possession since Gorrell wrote it ten days before. He had told Born of the plot, Kennamer said, and at 10:30 Thanksgiving night he met Born at a drug store and asked his friend to drive him up the street "to see a man."

"We drove out near St. John's hospital," Kennamer related, "and near 19th street we saw Gorrell's car parked at the curb. Born remarked that Gorrell was in it.

"I got out of Born's car and he warned me that it was dangerous to reveal to Gorrell that the Wilcox plot was not going through. Born then drove away.

"I entered Gorrell's car and we started driving toward the Forest Hills addition [in Tulsa's exclusive south side residential district]. He asked me how the 'shake' was coming along. I told him it wasn't coming along at all.

Quarrel Over Note.

"What's the matter? Didn't you mail the letter to the Wilcoxes?" Gorrell asked. "I told him that I had it in my pocket, and never intended to mail it."

"Say, what's the idea?" Kennamer quoted Gorrell as saying.

"I told him I was going to stop this thing," Kennamer continued. "I said: 'Do you think I would be silly enough to go into something like this? The reason I got into it was to stop it and I'm going to do it.'

"'You just think you are,' Gorrell replied. I asked him if he had ever heard of the double cross and told him he was getting it now. He asked me how I could stop the plot and I told him that if in no other way I could turn the note over to the authorities.

"Gorrell slowed down the car to ten miles an hour.

"He drew a .22 caliber pistol from the holster near him. He placed it at my head and pulled the trigger, but the weapon did not discharge. We fought for the gun as I pushed him in the face. Suddenly the gun was pointed towards his head. Maybe I pulled the trigger; maybe he did. There was a shot. Then another. The car plunged over the curb and came to a stop."

Tells Friend of Slaying.

Kennamer became hysterical, he said. He placed the pistol beside Gorrell, got out of the car, and walked to the Owl tavern, two miles away. There he met Robert L. Thomas, one of his friends who has since received a death threat, and told him he had killed Gorrell because of the extortion plot.

"That's just the way it happened," Kennamer declared. "It was just Gorrell's life or mine. I had to do it."

The day after the killing Kennamer went to his father's farm in Rogers county, sixty miles from Tulsa, to shoot quail. The day after, Saturday—he returned to Tulsa and gave himself up after the police were already inclined to believe Gorrell's death was a suicide.

Tells of Extortion Plot.

Kennamer then told of the origin of the kidnap plot against Virginia Wilcox. His voice broke when he mentioned the girl's name. This recalled the statement of his attorney, A. Flint Moss, that in part the defense will be based on the contention that Kennamer was insane because of "juvenile adoration" for the girl and wished to be a hero in her eyes.

"Last September," Kennamer said, "I met two other Tulsa young men, who told me of the plot and how they refused to enter into the scheme. I am very fond of Miss Wilcox and, not wanting to see her harmed, I conceived the idea of joining the scheme to protect her.

"I went to Kansas City on Nov. 19, met Gorrell, and asked him how the plot was coming.

Suggests Extortion Note.

"I told him I knew of it and was interested in anything connected with easy money. I convinced him that the plot to kidnap Miss Wilcox by airplane was too complicated and said all we had to do was write an extortion note and Wilcox would pay off.

"He wrote the letter the next morning. I told him I would mail it. I never did and never intended to; I just wanted to get that letter as evidence of the plot."

Later that day, Kennamer said, he and Gorrell attempted to get Floyd K. Huff, an aviator, to fly them to Tulsa. Huff refused to fly, because of the weather, but drove Kennamer to Tulsa. Kennamer says he told Huff of the extortion plot and showed him the note. On the way to Tulsa they stopped at Pittsburg, Kas., and in a hotel room there Huff saw a knife and rubber sugical gloves in Kennamer's grip.

It was Huff's story to the chief of detectives in Kansas City that first "broke" the Gorrell death as a murder. Huff said Kennamer had made threats against Gorrell's life on the automobile drive to Tulsa. Kennamer denied today that he had made the threats.

Fined for Shooting Lights.

Kennamer will appear in the Tulsa County Court of Common Pleas on Dec. 17, for preliminary examination.

He has already pleaded not guilty and his attorney has indicated no defense evidence will be presented at the preliminary hearing. It is expected Kennamer will be bound over to the County District court and the case will go to trial in about a month.

William Padon, 17 years old, son of J. A. Padon, Tulsa acountant, was fined $50 and costs this morning in the Municipal court on a charge of malicious mischief. On a similar charge Homer Wilcox Jr., brother of Virginia Wilcox, was fined $75 and costs yesterday. The youths admitted shooting out the street lights on the street where Gorrell was killed several hours before the slaying.

"How does it happen that all of the lights in town the ones on that street were shot out that night?" Kennamer was asked.

"It's just one of the many coincidences in this case," he replied.

Quintuplets' Doctor Talks of Babies with President

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—A jolly little Canadian doctor, who chuckles just like Santa Claus, talked babies, just babies, today with President Roosevelt.

"All he asked about was those five little babies of mine—that's all everybody asks about," beamed Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, of Dionne quintuplet fame, as he left the President's office.

On this first big holiday from a quarter of a century of bringing babies into the Canadian backwoods, Dr. Dafoe simply sailed through the capital's high spots. He always was cheerful.

Tired of being photographed?

"O, no! Part of the show!"

Any prescription for quintuplets?

"Yes, good Canadian air! That's what it takes to produce them!" he said of babies.

The clustering crowds fired the questions, and Dr. Dafoe was ready with the answers.

When he spoke as a physician, it was with the voice of authority, an incident at the Canadian legation proved.

A clamor arose for him to be photographed with the Canadian minister's small son, William Herridge, aged two. Mrs. William Duncan Herridge, wife of the absent minister, was willing. But —— "If it were my child I wouldn't stand for it," said Dr. Dafoe. "For the next twenty-four hours he would be a nervous wreck."

Dr. Dafoe saw the capitol, the new government buildings, visited the American Red Cross headquarters, all in time to take a 3 p. m. train to Baltimore. There he will see his friends, the Drs. Kelly—father, son, and grandson—who all went to Canada to remove the tumorous growth from the hip of Marie, one of the famous babies.

Jury in Governess' Suit Can't Agree; Dismissed

Unable to agree after eight hours' debate, a jury in the $498 suit of Miss Margaret Gallagher, 1200 Griffith road, Lake Forest, against her former employers, Mr. and Mrs. Shreve C. Badger, 1302 North Elm Tree road, Lake Forest, was dismissed yesterday in Waukegan by Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady of Lake county. Miss Gallagher brought the suit against Badger, president of the Scottish American company, 209 South La Salle street, and his wife, Mrs. Theodosia Winterbotham Badger, in a dispute over her wakes as a governess in the Badger household.

POLICE BULLETS HALT STOLEN CAR AFTER MILE CHASE

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

After a bullet punctuated chase of a mile through west side streets yesterday, Sergt. Thomas Kenealey and his Austin police squad captured a youth driving the stolen automobile of Henry Gallus, 2853 Lincoln avenue. The prisoner identified himself as Irving Russell, 25 years old, of Downers Grove.

Sergt. Kenealey and his men were cruising near North and Waller avenues, when Gallus ran from a drug store, shouting that his car had been stolen. Gallus got into the squad car and cruised with the police until he spotted his machine near Hirsch street and Waller avenue, with Russell at the wheel. Police opened fire as they pursued the stolen car, forcing it to the curb and seizing Russell.

SEEKING $25,000, CLAIRE LUCE TO FIGHT DIVORCE

New York, Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Claire Luce came back from London on the Majestic today to take up the matter of $25,000 a year and a divorce—in that order.

Her attorney, Max Steuer, summoned her to this country after a two month exchange of cablegrams and letters had failed to establish a basis of agreement between her and her husband, Clifford Warren Smith, who is seeking a divorce in Nevada on grounds of cruelty, desertion, and infidelity.

The couple separated a year ago, with an agreement providing that Smith, stepson of Newcomb Carlton and a millionaire in his own right, would pay her $25,000 a year. In his divorce suit, it is understood he seeks to void this agreement.

Miss Luce, who has been playing in "Vintage Wine" in London and plans to return there in three weeks to make a movie of the play, said she didn't think a Nevada divorce would be valid in New York anyway.

TAKE NEWSPAPER STAF ON 'CASTOR OIL' RIDE IN CUBA

Mendieta Regime Acts to Nip Revolt.

HAVANA, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Men armed with machine guns and pistols raided the editorial rooms of the anti-government newspaper Accion tonight and forced several writers and editors to accompany them to the outskirts of the city, where they were given the castor oil treatment.

The government of President Carlos Mendieta was bearing down throughout Cuba to forestall another revolutionary outbreak as rumors of impending revolt spread over the island.

There was no direct information that the editorial abduction was part of this program, but the victims said they believed the abductors were members of the secret police.

Accion Foe of Batista.

Accion, official organ of the ABC society, has been waging a campaign against the government, particularly against Col. Fulgencio Batista, chief of the army.

Among those taken from the building and forced to swallow castor oil were assistant director Francisco Ichazo, translator Gustavo Navarette, and sports editor Jess Losado. Six others were with them. All telephone lines in the building were cut.

Extraordinary precautions were taken in the wake of a combination of rumors of political upheavals and revolution, including the cabinet's suspension of constitutional guarantees in Havana, Santa Clara, and Camaguey provinces.

Not one of the dozens of wild stories, however, could be verified. The stories included one that President Mendieta would resign shortly. This was flatly denied.

Reliable persons in anti-government sectors denied that a revolution was planned for the near future.

Simultaneously Col. Batista cleaned house in his officer personnel, ousting one major, three captains, twenty-two lieutenants, and two enlisted men. It was understood, although not officially confirmed, that the men had been "retired" for conspiring against the government and Batista.

In Santiago, long center of radical agitation, the military supervisor instructed pedestrians and vehicles to be off the streets after midnight and ordered theaters and other gathering places closed after 11 p. m.

SUES TO DIVORCE FRANK DU BANE FOR DESERTION

Frank J. Du Bane, president of the Chicago Blue Print company, 68 West Washington street, was sued for divorce in the Circuit court yesterday by his wife, Clara T., 4851 North California avenue, on grounds of desertion.

A $200,000 breach of promise suit against Du Bane, filed last June 25 by Mrs. Elaine Lee Harris, former wife of a New York banker, is still pending in the Circuit court. Process servers have reported they can't find Du Bane.

In Mrs. Du Bane's bill, drawn by Attorney Louis C. Horner, she says they were married on June 23, 1909, in Milwaukee. They have a grown son, Edwin. Her husband's name at that time was Saridakis, but it was changed by a Waukegan court ruling in June, 1932, the bill says. The couple separated first in 1930, lived together after that, and separated finally in August, 1933, Mrs. Du Bane relates. She asks alimony and an injunction to restrain her husband from disposing of his assets.

Illinois Legion Campaign Adds 1,770 New Members

The American Legion in Illinois announced yesterday that its membership drive was far ahead of last year. Throughout the state the Legion now has 30,191 members, as contrasted with 28,421 at this time a year ago, according to Elmer Taylor, assistant organization officer in charge of the Chicago area. In Cook county 97 posts have turned in 1,079 more membership cards than last year. For the state as a whole the gain is 1,770.

QUICK! STOP THAT COLD

IN THE DRY OR FIRST STAGE!

A cold generally goes through three stages: The Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. It is twice as easy stopped in the first as in the second or third stages. In fact, to let a cold run beyond the first stage is inviting trouble.

As your doctor will tell you, there is nothing better you can take for a cold than Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. It is expressly a cold remedy and not a "cure-all". It is internal treatment which a cold requires. It is complete in effect. It does the four things necessary.

First, it opens the bowels. Second, it combats the cold germs in the system and reduces the fever. Third, it relieves the headache and grippy feeling. Fourth, it tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack. Anything less than that is inviting trouble.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is absolutely safe to take. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet of the world, the formula always keeping pace with Modern Medicine.

Every druggist sells Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Only druggists more interested in making an extra profit rather than in your welfare offer you a substitute. When a cold threatens, don't wait or delay, but go right to your druggist for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Always ask for it by the full name and look for the letters L B Q on every tablet.

why waste time looking at apartments which do not interest you?

DESIRABLE apartments are harder to locate this year. You cannot get what you want as easily as last year. You need a reliable guide. • The sensible way to go about locating a new apartment is to begin by shopping the want ads in the Tribune. A few minutes in an easy chair with the want ad section in your hands will eliminate days of plodding from apartment to apartment. • Tribune want ads are a comprehensive directory of apartments available in Chicago and suburbs. They list apartments in every neighborood, of all kinds and at a wide variety of rentals. • Open today's Tribune at the apartments-to-rent columns and make up a list of the offers which appeal to you. Then visit them in person. You will find this plan saves energy and time.

recommended the reform of the entire economic system, it is generally regarded as the statement of a national socialist program.

The pamphlet advised the people "not to swallow western culture in its entirety." Instead it urged an enhancement of the culture of the Japanese race, with the "cultivation of the noble spirit of self-denial on the part of both the nation and the people."

Sees Three Nations as Foes.

The pamphlet called attention to the fact that the seizure of Manchuria increased Japan's line of defense threefold, that soviet Russia's military preparations are the most extensive in the world, and that Japan faces three nations—the United States, Russia, and China—who possess more than 6,000 aerial craft while Japan is said to be barely able to muster 1,000 planes.

The issuance of the pamphlet caused an immediate slump on the stock exchange, but despite criticism from political and commercial elements the extraordinary diet session, called for the purpose of relieving domestic distress, adopted the government's program involving appropriations which the political interests charged were entirely inadequate to meet the crisis.

Politicians Criticize Army.

The political criticism constituted a thinly veiled attack on the military elements for their monopolization of about one-half of the forthcoming budget, necessitating the further issuance of several hundred million yen in so-called red ink, or deficit covering bonds.

While the leaders of the disrupted political parties, as well as business and financial executives, no longer are so responsive to flag waving, there is little question of the ability of the military elements to dominate the situation in event that a crisis develops due to the natural course of events following abrogation of the Washington treaty or further incidents on Japan's far flung territorial and diplomatic frontiers.

This is due to a long prepared defense program which antedates, but was considerably accelerated by, the Manchurian incidents of 1931. This program includes frankly expressed plans to meet the so-called crisis of 1935 and 1936, when the naval treaty is ended and Japan's resignation from the league of nations becomes effective.

Plan to Sieze Industries.

War, or so-called defense preparations, include sequestration of essential materials, such as oils, metals, cotton, and wool obtained from foreign sources, and development of so-called heavy, or war industries, which unquestionably will place the military in control of the industrial situation, since the carrying out of military contracts is largely responsible for the industrial boom upon which the present prosperity is considerably dependent.

The imminent possibility of war is constantly brought home to the populace through air defense and gas attack drills in all the large cities and through constant so-called spy incidents, given prominence in the newspapers, which involve foreign residents.

The latest of this character occurred this week. It concerned a young French naval attaché, whose love affairs with Japanese maidens were characterized in police reports as a plot to obtain military secrets.

REPORT ON INDIA SELF-RULE GETS 'O.K.' OF COMMONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 12.—A decision affecting one-sixth of the human race was made by the house of commons tonight when it approved the report of the joint select committee as a basis for a bill to provide a greater measure of self-government for India.

The house, which was crowded to capacity, adopted the report 410 to 127, diehard Tories and Laborites constituting the opposition.

Winston Churchill, leader of the diehards, denounced the reform scheme as being "without efficiency or consent." The Laborites demanded a plan for the progressive attainment of dominion status for India.

REDS AT WORK IN ARMY, NAVY, AVERS COMMERCE GROUP

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Communists whose orders come from Russia are seeking to foment disloyalty in the American army and navy, the United States Chamber of Commerce charged today.

Red agitators were active in the United States fleet at the very time when President Roosevelt held his great naval review off New York last June, the chamber revealed in a special report to its members.

Creation of a special squad of federal agents to track down radical agitators was suggested by the chamber as a means of curbing subversive influences in the United States. The report also suggested enactment of a sedition law and other safeguards.

The chamber also declared that communists have used labor unrest accompanying the New Deal to further their revolutionary ends. The chamber also hinted that Russia is violating the "no propaganda" pledge which she made when President Roosevelt recog-

Estimating that there are between 500,000 and 600,000 members of the communist party in this country, the report charges that their activity is being directed from Moscow.

BAPTIST COUNCIL ADJOURNS WITH TASK COMPLETED

The general council of the Northern Baptist convention closed a two day session last night at the Medinah Michigan Avenue club. The general council is the coöperating agency of all activities set up by the convention and meets annually in Chicago. It was announced that far reaching reorganization of activities of the church, as authorized by the convention at Rochester, N. Y., last May, was completed.

The principal change has been the abolition of the board of missionary coöperation. In its place a council of finance and promotion has been set up under the presidency of Judge W. H. Witty of Pocatello, Idaho. Dr. William H. Bowler of New York will be the executive secretary of the new council. According to announcements the new council is in permanent session and is vested with powers to determine questions of policy, subject only to the veto of the president of the general council. More than 300 Baptist leaders from various sections of the country attended the Chicago sessions of the council.

ARMY ENGINEERS MAP HUGE LAKE HARBOR PROJECT

Recommend Spending of 336 Millions.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Envisioning a day when the largest of ocean-going vessels may reach the Great Lakes, district engineers of the war department today recommended a $336,462,000 rivers and harbors development program, including the $175,000,000 St. Lawrence waterways and hydroelectric project.

The huge program, the engineers estimated, would require 100,000,000 man hours of work over a period of four to seven years.

Besides the St. Lawrence project, which is dependent upon the signing of a special treaty with Canada, the program calls for a $34,298,000 waterpower project at Niagara Falls, N. Y., a $27,000,000 expenditure to deepen the old Erie canal between Buffalo and Albany, N. Y., and for other large items to make eight Great Lakes ports adequate to accommodate the Atlantic's biggest ships.

Chicago, Calumet Included.

The ports are Buffalo, Chicago, Milwaukee, Toledo, Cleveland, Duluth, Detroit, and Calumet, Ill.

The recommendation, forwarded to Washington by Col. Max C. Tyler, chief of engineers for the Great Lakes district, follow a seven year study by the department's engineers of requirements for navigation development of water power, control of floods, and the needs of irrigation.

Tyler said the corps of army engineers is ready to proceed with the huge waterways project under a general public works plan or any other plan that may be authorized by congress. The financing, he said, "depends on President Roosevelt's policies and whether congress appropriates the money necessary."

The Erie canal, now nine feet deep, would be deepened to fourteen feet under the plan, but much greater depths would be provided for the bigger ship channels in the St. Lawrence and the lakes.

Breakwater at Kewanee, Wis.

An expenditure of $2,650,000 would be required to construct a breakwater and deepen the present channel of the waterways to twenty-five feet at Kewanee, Wis., and $665,000 for a breakwater and deepening of the harbor there.

A sum of $1,440,000 was estimated for expansion of the Toledo harbor, $165,000 at Buffalo, $180,000 in addition to $619,000 now being expended on the port of Cleveland, $480,000 at Calumet, $180,000 at Chicago, $210,000 at Milwaukee, $4,000 at Duluth, and $5,000 at Detroit.

The plan calls for an expenditure of $175,000 for dredging a sixteen foot channel at Lorain, O., $132,400 for enlarging the channel at Grays Reef Passage, Mich., $258,000 for channel work at Rouge, Mich., $377,000 at Erie, Pa., and $188,000 for similar work at Oswego, N. Y.

N. Y. DANCER MISSING FOR 6 DAYS; SISTER ASKS AID OF POLICE

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Police ordered a widespread search tonight in Greenwich Village night club and amusement centers for Mrs. Lea Durant, 34, reported missing from her home since last Saturday.

Her disappearance was reported to the missing persons bureau by her sister, Kay Gatska, who said the woman, a dancer, was wearing a $2,000 mink coat and a $6,000 diamond ring when she left their apartment to attend a motion picture theater. She has not been seen since.

Earlier police had erroneously identified the missing woman as the daughter-in-law of W. C. Durant, automobile manufacturer.

Edgar Rice Burroughs to Wed Former Actress

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Edgar Rice Burroughs, the author, and Mrs. Florence Dearholt Jr., formerly of the screen, will be married in the spring after her divorce from Ashton Dearholt, independent film producer, becomes final in March. Burroughs, creator of "Tarzan," fictional character of the jungle, recently was divorced from his wife in Las Vegas, Nev. The author and Mrs. Dearholt Jr. first met about eight years ago.

Purse Snatchers Seize $481 from Store Employe

Miss Sophie Rajca, 3304 North Springfield avenue, reported to the Pekin Inn police yesterday that two men snatched her purse containing $481 as she emerged from a manufacturing plant at 2909 Indiana avenue, late in the afternoon. Miss Rajca said the money belonged to the Goldblatt Brothers department store, where she is employed as a buyer.

CAROL'S SWEETIE GROWS FAT; PICKS UP THIRTY POUNDS

Emerging today from the somewhat hidden life she has been living for the last two years, the 36 year old daughter of a Jewish junk dealer startled Rumanians along the fashionable Calae Victoreii boulevard by her plumpness and rotundity.

Friends remarked that "Bibi," as King Carol calls her, has gained about thirty pounds in weight during the last year. King Carol is said to be fond of slightly plump women.

FRANCE PLANS CENTRAL BUREAU FOR PROPAGANDA

PARIS, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The foreign affairs committee of the French chamber of deputies today approved consolidation of French propaganda "to make France more favorably known abroad."

The task of presenting France in a favorable light in foreign eyes would be committed under the proposal to a central "national information committee."

The resolution to be presented to parliament approved assignment by various ministries of credits totaling 75 million francs ($4,950,000) to finance the work of the committee.

DENTIST IS HELD IN CONTEMPT IN ESTATE BATTLE

Dr. John B. Dicus, a dentist, 1031 Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park, was held in contempt yesterday by Superior Judge Joseph Sabath for failing to obey a court order to turn over $4,000 from an estate to his sister-in-law, Mrs. Emma Dicus, 533 South Ridgeland avenue, Oak Park.

The dentist and his brother, Dr. W. O. Dicus, also a dentist, are married to daughters of Henry Scherer. Dr. John's wife is Bertha and the brother's is Emma. Scherer died, leaving a $300,000 estate and Dr. John became administrator. The heirs are Bertha, Emma, and Scherer's two other children, Louis Scherer and Mrs. Ida Slavik of Oak Park.

Testimony related that Dr. John paid from the estate $13,500 for attorney's fees; $19,000 to his own wife, Bertha; $7,000 to Mrs. Slavik, $10,000 to Emma, and nothing to Louis Scherer. Emma retained a third Dicus brother, Attorney A. G. Dicus, who obtained in court the order that Dentist John pay $4,000 to Sister-in-Law Emma. Dr. John ignored the order and is to appear today before Judge Sabath for sentence.

FALL FATAL TO WOMAN.

Miss Carrie Kostner, 38 years old, employed in the home of Mrs. W. D. Sandel, 306 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, died in the Oak Park hospital yesterday a few hours after she fell on the sidewalk in front of 142 South Oak Park avenue.

CHRISTMAS TREE TRADE RECALLS A FATAL VOYAGE

Lost Captain's Daughters Carry On His Business.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Old timers of the near north side who noted a sign: "Capt. and Mrs. H. Schuenemann's daughters," above a tiny store almost obscured by Christmas trees at 1641 North La Salle street yesterday, recalled the tragedy of 22 years ago when Capt. Schuenemann, pioneer in Chicago's Christmas tree business, and his crew of 17 men went down in Lake Michigan while bringing home a cargo of trees on the captain's boat, the Rouse Simmons.

They were reminded, too, of the heroic effort of Mother Schuenemann to carry on her husband's business. But Mother Schuenemann died two years ago, and now their three daughters, Mrs. Elsie Roberts, Mrs. Pearl Ehling, and Mrs. Hazel Gronemann, all of 158 Eugenie street, carry on in the Christmas tree business. They find, as did Mother Schuenemann, plenty of trees left over for the destitute homes west of Clark street.

Crew Survivor Tells of "Hunch."

Yesterday Mrs. Ehling, bundled in heavy clothing, sat in the "office" of the Christmas tree shop making wreaths of balsam with her sister, Elsie. The third sister is a teacher at the Graham Stewart school. Helping the customers was "Big Bill" Sullivan, the only member of Capt. Schuenemann's crew alive after the fateful trip. Had he not had "a hunch," he would have drowned with the rest, he revealed yesterday.

"I went up with the crew," said Sullivan, "but when it came time to come back with the cargo of 15,000 trees, the lake was stormy. I simply had a hunch, that's all. It looked bad, so I told the captain I would come back on the train. I did. Three days later the Butcher Boy, another boat, came in with the news that the Rouse Simmons had gone down with all on board.

"I was afraid almost to tell Mrs. Schuenemann, but I got courage to go around—they lived just back of this store on Clark street. When Elsie, who was a little girl then, saw me, she backed away in fright, as if I were a ghost. They had heard the news and I was reported drowned with the rest.

Hardships Are Described.

"I helped as best I could, because the Christmas business had to go on. We got more trees. The captain's wife was plucky. She went after the trees herself. Every year, until during the war, when the government bought her boat, she brought the trees down in the vessel. She loved those trees."

Mrs. Roberts, since her mother's death, has gone to northern Michigan woods to superintend the cutting of the trees, selecting the fullest and prettiest ones in the forests.

"Few realize the hardships necessary to furnish Chicago with its Christmas tress," she said. "First there were two weeks of rain, then two and a half days of steady snow. Some of the trees we brought back with snow packed in their branches."

Capt. Schuenemann, with his brother, August, gave Chicago its first boatload of Christmas trees in 1887. In 1899 August and his crew lost their lives bringing the trees by boat. Thereafter Capt. Herman carried on the business until he suffered the same fate in 1912.

ILLINOIS JUDGE IGNORES DIVORCE ARKANSAS GAVE

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Declaring that the Arkansas divorce law was "born in iniquity" Judge Walter W. Wright today refused to recognize a divorce secured in that state by Norman Brinkerhoff.

Instead he granted Brinkerhoff's wife, Polly Brinkerhoff, separate maintenance of $40 monthly pending settlement of a suit she filed against her husband here.

Brinkerhoff left Springfield in September 1933, and went to Luxora, Ark., where he obtained a divorce on Dec. 20, 1933 charging his wife with mental cruelty. The following day he was married in St. Louis to Katie Watts Rhodes. Mrs. Brinkerhoff in her suit here charged Brinkerhoff with desertion and infidelity and named Mrs. Rhodes as correspondent.

TICKET CONCERN SUES EX-MAYOR, ASKING $100,000

1930 'Prosperity Drive' Has Court Echo.

An echo of the ill-fated "prosperity drive," promoted by former Mayor William Hale Thompson, was heard in the Circuit court yesterday when the Arcus Ticket company sued him for $100,000. The company seeks this amount in damages for the former mayor's abrogation of contract for coupons which were to have been used.

During the ex-mayor's last term, in 1930, he conceived a plan of stimulating business by selling serially numbered coupons to storekeepers for distribution with purchases. The coupons were then to be used in a public drawing to determine the winners of awards ranging from $100,000 down to $50. The scheme flopped.

Suit Based on Contract.

The bill in the suit against the ex-mayor was filed by Attorneys Henry L. Blim and George T. Spensley. It is based on the contract entered into by the Arcus company to furnish 500,000,000 coupons at 22 cents per 1,000.

The company says it ordered a special kind of paper, and manufactured 85,000,000 of the coupons. Of these, 16,000,000 were delivered, but the ex-mayor refused the next delivery of 69,000,000 coupons, the bill alleges, and announced his abrogation of the contract.

Liability Put at $54,725.

The suit declares the ex-mayor was liable for $54,725, only $29,426 of which has been paid. The $54,725, according to the bill, includes the cost of the coupons that were delivered, the cost of those manufactured but refused, the storage expense on the refused coupons, the loss of the company's 25 per cent profit on the 415,000,000 coupons ordered but not printed, and the cost of 86 tons of the special paper purchased by the company but not used.

WOMAN HAS 11TH CHILD SINCE 1926; LEADS IN "RACE"

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Matthew Kenny held a wide lead today in the Charles Vance Millar $500,000 "stork sweepstakes" after giving birth to her eleventh child since 1926.

The birth of a baby girl put Mrs. Kenny two up on her nearest rival in the contest for the prize which Millar, millionaire sportsman-lawyer, offered for the Toronto woman who should have the most children in the ten years following his death in 1926. Provision for the prize was contained in Millar's will.

Mrs. Kenny's nearest competitor is Mrs. Grace Bagnato, who expects this week to give birth to her ninth child since 1926.

Mother and Father Away, Boy, 3, Is Staked in Lot

Santa Rosa, Cal., Dec. 12.—(AP)—A three year old boy, who police said had been staked out for hours in a vacant lot along with the family goat by his parents, spent the night at the county detention home. County Probation Officer William A. Shulte, who investigated the case, said the mother, Mrs. Nick Jabin, explained the boy had been tied to the stake because there was no one to take care of him while she went shopping. The father, Shulte said, was away working.

BOYS RUN MOVIE TO AID WORK OF GOOD FELLOWS

They'll Buy Two Baskets; Jobless Uncle Helps.

BY PHIL MAXWELL.

Adults do not have a monopoly on the privilege of being Good Fellows at Christmas time. Many of those who will take baskets to unfortunate families at that time are youngsters. For instance, there are two freckle-faced brothers, Jack Riley, 12 years old, and Robert, 11. For the last few weeks they have been giving cowboy moving picture shows in their basement at 6322 South Seeley avenue. From their proceeds children's tickets costing 3 cents, and grownups, 5 cents—together with a little financial aid from their uncle, Owen O'Malley, a jobless war veteran, they will be able to buy two baskets for needy ones.

They Pick Two Families.

At THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S Good Fellow department at 1 South Dearborn street, the Riley brothers picked out two families, each with two boys in them. "Our stockings will be filled Christmas eve," said Jack. "Bob and I hope to make a happy Christmas for some kids who aren't so lucky."

Jack and Robert are a challenge to you older readers of THE TRIBUNE to join them in taking Christmas baskets. Names of deserving families may be obtained by filling in the adjoining coupon or phoning the Good Fellow department, Superior 0100.

Artist Contributes Drawing.

One of the finest contributions made to the Good Fellow work this season is a pen and ink drawing submitted to THE TRIBUNE by Clyde James Newman, a commercial artist of Wheaton. It will be displayed in the Good Fellow window at THE TRIBUNE'S Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street.

The sketch depicts a Good Fellow delivering a basket to a poor family in an attic kitchen. Mr. Newman formerly worked in THE TRIBUNE art department, leaving in 1912.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Oscar Berman, president of the Crown Overall Manufacturing company of Cincinnati, O., protests that he was not a member and therefore not one of the eleven members of the garment code authority who were removed, according to Washington dispatches of Dec. 6, 1934. Those dispatches attributed the removal to membership in a trade association that had obtained an injunction against the presidential order for shorter working hours. Mr. Berman points out that he was a member of the intercode committee named by the National Recovery administration "to adjust differences between the men's clothing code and the cotton garment code." This committee, he writes, ended its work last February. He adds that his concern runs a union shop and belongs to an association that was running shorter hours, under such agreements, than the hours set by the code or presidential order. He says he cooperated with the recovery administration.

'SERUM' CONVICTS GIVEN PAROLES FOLLOWING TESTS

Denver, Colo., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Gov. Ed C. Johnson today announced paroles, effective Dec. 20, for the two Colorado convicts who risked their lives in a test of a serum to prevent tuberculosis.

The state prison physician reported to the governor the pair, Mike Schmidt and Carl Erickson, now were in "good physical condition."

The announcement indicated success in the experiment in which the convicts permitted themselves to be inoculated with thousands of live tuberculosis bacilli after they were given the serum.

The governor said he expected a more detailed report shortly from physicians who developed the serum, but who have maintained silence as to the effectiveness of their research. The convicts were the first human beings upon whom the serum was tested and doctors said at the outset the experiments might result in death.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

THE LIMITATION OF INHERITANCES.

A number of readers have protested against the publicity given the recent litigation over the Vanderbilt child. They make the point that such news items provide ammunition for those who want to overthrow American institutions. Much the same objection has been made to the publicity given in newspapers and news reels to the wanderings and squanderings of the 5 and 10 princess.

THE TRIBUNE regards fears of these objectors unwarranted and their reasoning unsound. Any one who does not know it already should be reminded from time to time that the recipients of immense wealth are commonly the victims of what the world regards as their good fortune. The great majority of them would be far better off if they had been given no more than a modest competence. Human nature being what it is, few persons can be accorded the right to gratify every whim without rendering themselves occasionally either odious or ridiculous. Not infrequently self-indulgence in good works leads to results scarcely more admirable than self-indulgence in other directions. In the long run the country may have more reason to regret the Harkness influence upon our colleges than the Hutton prince.

Those who think that the continuance of either form of indulgence is necessary to the continuance of the American system of law and government don't know what they're talking about. Our government does recognize the existence of property rights and to invade these rights would be to undermine our governmental system; but the right to property does not, broadly speaking, extend beyond the life of the owner of it. In our law there is a right to bequeath but there is no inherent right to inherit. The laws of inheritance are statutory. They can be changed by amendment and no doubt will be changed from time to time. The fundamental question to be answered is not should they be changed but how should they be changed. How can the interests of society be best conserved in the distribution of the great fortunes?

These are not easy questions to answer. To answer them hastily and impatiently, as one is tempted to do in the contemplation of some of the vagaries of the inheritors of great wealth, is almost certainly to answer them incorrectly. It is easy to laugh at Radio City, as the audiences at a contemporary revue are doing nightly, but what is to be the alternative?

The impatient answer demands the breaking up of the great accumulations through crushing taxation of estates. That is the policy which is now being pursued, but only a zealot can regard its consequences as wholly desirable.

There are two principal objections. The first is that this kind of taxation frequently leads to the forced sacrifice of controling interests in productive enterprises. The successive deaths within a short time of the original owner and his principal heir are almost certain, under existing rates, to force a transfer and with it a shakeup in management. A business which is profitable because it is well managed is suddenly subjected to new ownership with the high probability of inferior management. Society can prevent the vulgarities of youthful inheritors by exacting the sacrifice of efficiency in the production of goods and services. This price is a high one and in many instances far higher than the gain warants.

What the change of ownership frequently means in practice is a transfer to Wall street. The death of a man of great wealth can impose such heavy taxes on his estate that many millions of dollars must be found to pay them. There is, practically speaking, only one place to go to find millions of dollars in cash and that is Wall street. Wall street will take, in exchange for its money, either control of the business or a mortgage on it, or perhaps both. A business which has long been providing good wages and steady employment because of good management and a thick cushion of credit to meet contingencies is suddenly provided with new management or its credit is exhausted to satisfy the tax collector. The business is thrown open to all the abuses which Wall street has come to stand for in popular thought. To carry one's disgust at the antics of gilded youth to the point of regarding Wall street management as wholly good is the privilege of zealots, but the remedy will not recommend itself to sensible men.

The other disadvantage is somewhat less apparent. The forced sale of assets to raise cash for the tax collector is a depressing influence on all property values. If an estate consists largely of securities the market for all securities will be adversely affected. If the estate consists of a going business its forced sale will depress the value of all competing businesses. The so-called redistribution of wealth thus becomes a redistribution downward of every one's wealth, a result which can hardly be regarded as socially desirable.

As was said before, the problem is not an easy one. Any system of inheritance which is substituted for the present one should encourage, so far as possible, the continuity of the management which has amassed wealth, for that management has been proved good by its results. After adequate provision has been made for dependents management should pass at death to the business associates of the testator.

Many objections to taxation and even to heavy taxation of estates would be minimized if the payment were not exacted in a lump sum within a short time after death. Payment might be extended in instalments over a considerable period of years, say fifteen or twenty. From the viewpoint of the government this arrangement would be rather more desirable than the lump sum payment now demanded because the government's estimates of revenue could then be made with a much higher degree of accuracy than at present.

The yield from estate taxes should be devoted to the retirement of the public debt, in addition to the normal sinking fund operations. The general welfare would thus be promoted without inviting the politicians to expand their patronage pay rolls.

A CONSTRUCTIVE PROPOSAL.

The proposal of the Security Owners' association for the expenditure of nearly 900 million dollars on the removal of grade crossings presents a method of spending public money which is in sharp contrast to the most conspicuous spending schemes of the New Deal. If it could be substituted for some of these schemes which represent almost total loss to the nation, socially, politically, and financially, the administration would confer a double benefit on the people. The automobile has made the grade crossing a hazard which exacts a terrific toll in human life, and its abolition is or ought to be a major concern of government policy, federal or local. The Security Owners' association is just as well as practical in asserting that the whole cost of this costly reform should not be imposed upon its members through laws requiring the railroads to remove grade crossings. The motorist uses the public highways as the railroad uses its right of way, and a very large proportion of the casualties occurring at grade crossings is the result of careless driving. It is fair, therefore, that the public purse should be drawn upon for the removal of this hazard.

The proposal must also appeal to the administration as a means of employment if its regard for the unemployed is as sincere as it would have us believe. Many projects of the New Deal have little if any justification save that of giving work and income to the unemployed in place of doles which compromise the independence and self-respect of the great majority of recipients of relief. Here is a project which offers employment as well as a great permanent benefit to the public.

But if this project is adopted it should be protected as far as possible from the abuse familiar in Illinois, and probably in other states, where grade separations seem to have little relation to trafic. Crossings which carry heavy trafic and have a notorious record of casualties are ignored and money is spent on costly improvements for crossings used by relatively few cars. The explanation is favoritism and in a project so extensive as the association proposes the waste of public money in this way will be heavy, to say nothing of the postponement of security where it is most needed.

BRAINS AND FEET IN FOOTBALL.

Some team, some day and some place had to end the Chicago Bears' string of professional football victories which they had run out to thirty-three games without defeat [including 31 won and two scoreless ties], and the Bears knew it, although they would have preferred to defer it until next year or for several years. It happened in New York Sunday when the Giants, twice previously defeated by the Chicagoans, got going in the last ten minutes of play, scored touchdowns at the rate of about one every two minutes, and left the Bears standing on their heads.

The Giants, who did not have their great passer, Harry Newman, managed without him better than the Bears could without their great runner, Beattie Feathers. What adds to the pleasure of the winners and compensates for the disappointment of the losers is that the season apparently consolidates the position of professional football with a fandom of its own. Being professional, it is to make money, and in profit taking it is coming up on even terms with the amateur college game.

In the championship game in New York the ground was frozen and slippery. The cleated footgear was not keeping the players on their feet and at the half the New York management decided to use the bean as well as the foot. They use both in soccer, but in a different way. The sports writers agree that the game turned on the decision of the New York coach, Steve Owen, to substitute rubber soled shoes for the cleats. When the Giants sprung loose their hair raising closing attack the two fine backs, Strong and Danowski, could escape from the tacklers.

The Bears no doubt were worn down by the fierce competition with Detroit prior to the closing game, but the Giants seem to have won by mixing brains with the feet in football.

Editorial of the Day

[Emporia, Kas., Gazette.]

Rats last year chewed up between 2 and 4 billion dollars' worth of goods, about half of which was foodstuffs, according to Business Week.

In this statistic lies a thought for those in high places who believe that the less we work the more we'll prosper, and the less food and clothing we grow the more profit the farmers will make.

Instead of bickering around with every land owner, measuring his restricted production with governmental tape, why doesn't the government itself do something more constructive?

Why doesn't it start rat breeding farms, which will produce enough each year to eat up whatever the department of agriculture decrees the unsalable surplus to be?

A government Rodent Breeding corporation would be the second [or is it the third?] step forward into the New Dawn, when nobody will produce anything at all and yet be paid for it by the government.

The RBC would have trained dietitians on its staf, educating the immature rats' taste to consume whatever surplus the statisticians say we have.

Laugh at us, scoff at us if you will—call us a dreamer—nevertheless the RBC is our dream and we stick to the vision. Four years ago what were the other ingredients of the federal alphabet soup but crazy dreams? And now look at them—big, grown-up nightmares for the most part. Years ago people used to laugh at the Populists, at Eddie Cantor and Ed Winn. Think of it, just a few years ago! Perpetual motion, gentlemen, is around the corner—may be closer even than television, if we only knew it.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

THERE ARE SEVEN MILLIONAIRES and five former members of European nobility now inmates of a California county farm. The superintendent says that most of the inmates in the county farm used to come from the farmer class, but in the last six years there has been a great increase in the professional and white collar classes. This is very discouraging. One reason I was always perfectly calm over the idea of finally landing in the poorhouse was that, anyhow, there wouldn't be any millionaires there. The fact that they're already there ahead of me just ruins the place so far as I am concerned. I couldn't bear to sit around in the evening of my life listening to the millionaires talking about the money they used to have and how many ocean-going yachts they had and the number of their châteaux in France. My idea now is that when I get to the poorhouse I'm going to climb the highest tree they've got and stay there.

STRANGE MUSIC.

I have hidden a magic harp
In a secret place—
A harp with a woman's form
And a child's face.

In a windowless house the harp lies,
High on a windy hill;
There is dust on the gilded frame,
And the strings are still.

No man has heard the harp sing,
Or seen the child's face.
No man would dare the dark stair,
Or the windy place.

AND SOMEBODY who got mad at some paragraph I wrote the other day sent me a letter yesterday saying: "Go back to Russia where you came from." That was a sign the writer was quite angry with me. When they get quite angry they always tell me that. It annoys me, because, as I have frequently pointed out, I never came from Russia. That is, I wasn't born there. I came from there once, I admit, and I came very, very fast, with four Reds in full cry and fixed bayonets, and I got over the Esthonian border not more than two jumps ahead of them. So, even admitting that at one time I came from Russia, the circumstances of my coming and the record speed I made should prove to one and all that Russia is not what I might call home. However, there's no use explaining. There'll be probably two or three who will take such violent exception to what I have so truthfully set down here that in tomorrow's mail I will get some more letters and they will all say unanimously, "Go back to Russia where you came from." What's the use?

I've Run Out

of something new to say about the Linebook. You see, I've been through eleven Linebook campaigns, counting this one, and then, as I've mentioned before, I'm so doggoned shy and I just hate to brag about the Linebook, deserving though it may be of the highest encomiums (I admit it). Will some of you contribs and readers please dash off a few boosts? I have to keep this thing going until they're all gone. They're most gone at that, but some few may stick around here and there for two or three days yet.

MRS. ELLA A. BOOLE, the high priestess of bone dry prohibition, says (and we have not heard from Mrs. Boole for quite some time) that: "Social customs, led by the White House, encourage the serving of wine. Even if it be American, the nature of the alcohol remains unchanged." But the nature of the price, Mrs. Boole, between American wines and the imported kinds is very much changed. And how! But the nature of the taste is not changed: I'd just as soon have American wine as French. It's just the same to me. And, besides, I don't drink wine, anyhow. Scotch for mine.

FRAGMENTS.

("Fragments of the news—'Serbs Massing at Border,' and so forth—need not alarm us."—A Washingtonian potent, grave and reverend signor.)

Fragments, fragments of the news,
Holy holidays enthuse. . . .
Sundry men have sundry views!

I recall some fragments, once,
Which I dare not tell.
We were up for quick relief
Out from St. Mihiel.
Four years after Sarajevo—
A "fragment of the news"—
Men death-windrowed, stacked in millions;
Fragment, what accrues?
Fragment, thou protrudest quaintly
From that gray-clay bank.
Leg of khaki, hobnailed boot,
A lethal-jested prank!
Where's thy owner, he that tended
This that was a gun?
Can it be these shining splinters
Once were wheels that spun?
This, in war's sweet dramaturgy,
Was a "hit" select;
Swift, compact, and well-directed;
Zeus! A "hit" . . . direct!
I recall some fragments once
Which I dare not tell . . .
We were up for quick relief
After St. Mihiel.

THE ENDOCRINE GLANDS.
PART III.
[Conclusion.]

IN the first two articles of this series mention was made of many important body functions that are under the control of tiny quantities of powerful chemical substances thrown into the blood by certain endocrine glands, many of which appear to be interrelated.

Pancreas: The pancreas [called sweetbreads in animals] is from 6 to 8 inches in length, lies across the body close to the stomach, and has a duct that pours a digestive fluid into the upper portion of the intestine [duodenum]. Special collections of cells within the structure of this organ, however, produce an internal secretion known as insulin that enables the body to burn or oxidize carbohydrates. Lack of this insulin in some individuals causes diabetes, and destruction of these cell groups may be followed by the excretion of sugar in the urine. Fortunately insulin is now commercially available and can be used under skilled medical direction so as to control the burning of carbohydrates and hence diabetes.

Pituitary gland and ovaries: The pituitary gland, sometimes called the hypophysis, is divided into two lobes—the anterior and the posterior—and is connected with the base of the brain. The anterior part is glandular in structure and the posterior part is made up of nerve tissue. From the latter part a substance called pituitrin is extracted that will increase the blood pressure, cause contraction of the uterus in the female, and reduce the amount of urine excreted.

The anterior lobe is essential to normal growth and development. If anything goes wrong with this portion of the gland there is a slowing down or cessation of growth, a failure of the sex organs to develop, and a marked reduction in the activity of the thyroid and adrenals.

Recent studies have shown that the anterior segment of the pituitary produces at least two hormones and the absence of one of these [prolan A] results in dwarfism. Conversely, the excess of the secretion results in giantism, and a peculiar condition called acromegaly characterized by marked enlargement of the bones of the face, hands, and feet.

The second hormone [prolan B] has a definite relation to the development of the ovaries in females and a considerable amount of this substance is found in the urine of pregnant women. Using this fact Aschheim and Zondek devised a test for pregnancy now known and used throughout the scientific world. Not only does the urine of pregnant women contain prolan B, but it also contains folliculin, a hormone from the ovaries. By appropriate tests on small animals early pregnancy may be diagnosed. It was also found that this substance stimulated sexual maturity in females only if the ovaries were functioning normally. In other words, the two substances—that from the ovaries and that from the pituitary—are essential for the female sexual cycle. Because of these discoveries many disagreeable symptoms in women, such as hot flushes, headache, marked irritability, and premature change of life, have been successfully combated. Occasionally sterility in females has been entirely relieved by the combined action of the hormones from the pituitary and the ovaries.

There are numerous other structures within the body that secrete important hormones, for example, the mucous lining of the stomach and of the duodenum, the testes, the thymus, possibly the spleen, and the pineal body. There are no doubt unrecognized sources of hormones.

In most of us these needed endocrines are functioning properly. Now and then a drop in body resistance or in nutrition or the effect of disease may bring about a deficiency in one secretion or another. Physicians are now able to measure fairly accurately most of the body functions that are activated or controled by the endocrine system, and there are many persons with slight glandular deficiencies who have been helped by our advancing knowledge.

SERUM NOT TO BLAME.

Mrs. C. K. writes:

A child in school was inoculated two successive years for diphtheria. The treatment was given in a series of three inoculations each time, but soon after the second inoculation of the second year the child's tonsils became infected and an abscess formed on one tonsil which very slowly healed. The third inoculation in that series never was given. The mother claims that the tonsil has not even yet cleared up properly, although this occurred a few years ago. She also claims that the trouble was caused by too much serum in the system. Some one else has suggested that it might have been due to a poor serum, but if this were true more children would have been affected and we know of only this one case. What do you think?

REPLY.

The serum—good, bad, or indifferent—had nothing whatever to do with the development of the tonsil abscess. Tonsil abscesses come from just one cause: infection by bacteria. Under the strict supervision that covers the manufacture of serum for human use there is little danger of impurities.

HAVING BOILS OR PIMPLES DOES NOT PURIFY THE BLOOD
FUR BAY
BILL VENN

The old idea that boils and pimples are just "the badness coming out of the blood" is all a myth to medical men. Boils are caused by germ infections and instead of purifying the blood they contaminate it. The same is true of most pimples.

ATTENTION, INVENTORS!

Chicago, Dec. 8.—I have often wondered why, with all the brainy inventors and scientists this world holds, not one man has ever invented or discovered a chemical powerful enough to dissolve ice or snow on sidewalks and streets. When men have discovered wonders like radio and electricity and invented marvels like the steam engine, automobile, radio, telephone, wireless telegraphy and countless other useful [as well as useless] things, and also constructed power plants and ocean steamers and erected skyscrapers, it seems to me that if sufficient thought were given to the problem above mentioned some man would discover or invent a chemical which could be sprayed on slippery sidewalks and streets and make them safe for pedestrians, automobiles, as well as horse drawn vehicles.

ICY WALKS.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—I suggest one of the finest things W. G. N. could do for Chicago would be to create public sentiment that would result in the elimination this winter of icy sidewalks and crossings.

JOHN W. HALL.

FOR MORE POLICEMEN.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—I notice that the finance committee of the city council has been listening to the needs of the various city departments. More money for food for the Bridewell prisoners; better conditions for the county jail, but less protection for the paying public.

Only 100 new policemen for Chicago in 1935.

If any one thinks that crime conditions in Chicago do not warant at least 500 new policemen listen to the police calls for a couple of hours on a Saturday evening and you, too, will realize the magnitude of the work of Chicago's crime fighters.

APPRECIATION.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—May I express my appreciation and thanks for the very helpful article which Miss De Young gave to THE TRIBUNE for Sunday last? Miss Bane's coming to the school is an event we are glad to have announced in such a dignified and interesting way.

BONNIE W. EVANS,

WELL SEASONED ZEST.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—One of the most inspirational news items of recent date told of the matriculation in the University of Chicago of Mr. Frank Morse, retired principal of the Harrison High school. At the age of 70 he continues in his search for the fundamental satisfactions of life. My own father, Edward E. Collins, at the age of 75 is carrying three major subjects at the University of South Dakota. As a means of livelihood he drives a milk route twice daily and for fun he plays the bass-viol in the University Symphony and sings in the church choir. These two gentlemen are living full and complete lives during the period which has come to be looked upon as one of decadence. I salute the spirit which takes no cognizance of either a mental or physical age of retirement.

L. G. COLLINS,
Principal, Hamline School.

MICAWBER'S WISDOM.

Oak Park, Ill., Dec. 8.—Mr. Wallace orates that "balance the budget" is a catch phrase. Even the irresponsible, castle building Mr. Micawber knew better when he said:

"Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure nineteen six; result happiness. Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure twenty pounds ought and six; result misery."

And the point of this aphorism, written by one of the most humane of all authors, Charles Dickens, remains true whether applied to families or governments. Those who disregard it invite disaster to rich and poor, but especially to the poor.

COMMON SENSE.

THE ALTITUDE OF EVEREST.

Evanston, Ill., Dec. 8.—In reference to the height of Mount Everest, which is the tallest peak in the world: In the Lincoln Library of Essential Information [1928] the height is given as 29,002 feet; in the "Flying Carpet," by Richard Halliburton [1932], the height is 29,141 feet. and in "Half Mile Down," by William Beebe [1934], the height is given as 29,145. This is most disturbing as I have all three books, and wish you would take time to settle my mind on this subject. Am wondering if any one else has noticed this discrepancy.

OLIVER A. WARREN.

THE ABOLITION OF MACHINERY.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—THE TRIBUNE a few days ago reported that a certain cracker manufacturer had discontinued the use of various machines so as to give employment to more persons.

Fine! Down with all machines, not only cracker making machinery but also the factory's packaging machines so that the grocery stores can employ more clerks to ladle crackers into paper bags, thus creating more employment in the sack factories. Carrying this move to its logical conclusion, let us abolish trucks and freight trains, which, after all, are simply more machinery, and instead let us employ men with wheelbarrows to move the crackers from the factory to the customers' stores throughout the country.

Thus with one swoop the cracker industry all by itself can go far toward solving the entire unemployment situation in this country. If there is sound logic in this company's procedure, why not abolish washing machines and put millions of washerwomen back to work? Let us cut out sewing machines and require all factories to use nothing but hand labor in manufacturing garments for men, women, and children.

I am afraid "Backward, Turn Backward, O Time, in Thy Flight" never will become the title of a national theme song.

WILLIAM SHAW.

OUCH!

Chicago, Dec. 6.—I am wondering whether or not the inscription under the title "Voice of the People" means anything.

The other day there was an article in there of nearly a thousand words and as far as it went could have been summarized into one little paragraph.

Why not allow only the limited number of lines? Then all can express their attitudes toward different things. This will allow more opinions on different things. By allowing manuscripts to appear in your columns that are long winded you show the people that your statements don't mean anything.

REVEALS BRITISH PROTEST HALTED SERB EXPULSIONS

Hopes to Effect Return of Hungarians.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 12.—The stopping of expulsions of Hungarian subjects from Jugo-Slavia was the result of British protests. This was disclosed by Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon in the house of commons today.

Sir John, in answer to a question, said that, while the minority treaties did not cover these cases, the British government was impressed by the hardships imposed upon the Hungarians and made representations to the Jugo-Slav government, with the result that Prince Paul, chief of the regency, immediately upon his return to Belgrade ordered the deportations stopped.

Sir John also said that the matter of the return of deportees to their homes in Jugo-Slavia had not escaped the British government's attention.

First Soldiers Off to Saar.

Pursuing its new policy of acting as peacemaker on the continent, the government announced today that Maj. Gen. J. E. S. Brind of the British army, who was appointed yesterday as commander in chief of the international force to keep order in the Saar during the plebiscite of Jan. 13, will leave for the Saar tomorrow.

The 1,500 British troops who will be part of the force will probably leave Saturday. In addition to the regiments already announced, a party of the Twelfth lancers, with armored cars, will also be sent.

The first party of four officers and three noncommissioned officers left today to prepare for housing of the troops. They landed in France this afternoon.

It is not intended that the troops will do ordinary police duty. They will be held in reserve in event of an outbreak of disorder.

Yevtich May Be Premier.

BELGRADE, Dec. 12.—(AP)—From the sound and the fury of the recent Jugo Slav-Hungarian controversy at Geneva, Foreign Minister Bogoljub Yevtich emerged today as the man most likely to be named to pilot Jugo-Slavia through the difficult years ahead.

A government of true national concentration, such as that Prince Paul, cousin of the late King Alexander and head of the regency now governing the kingdom, is trying to form must necessarily be headed by Yevtich, observers believed.

The man who fought so vigorously before the league of nations' council for "satisfaction" from Hungary, charged by Jugo-Slavia with complicity in Alexander's murder at Marseilles on Oct. 9, probably will be Prince Paul's choice for premier, it was indicated.

Prince Paul today began conversations with former opposition parties in an effort to make his government representative of all factions.

Czechs Give Benes Big Welcome.

PRAGUE, Dec. 12.—Foreign Minister Edouard Benes was given a tremendous reception on his return here from Geneva tonight. At the station he was received by cabinet ministers and diplomats of the little entente countries and France. The Jugo-Slav minister made a warm speech thanking him for his championship of the Jugo-Slav cause at Geneva.

Outside of the station, drawn up in parade formation, were Czech legionnaires, national guards and sokols—national gymnastic associations. Enormous crowds cheered Benes.

We Refuse to Be a 'Yes Man' for France! Polish Chief Says

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 12.—The blame for the misunderstandings disturbing Franco-Polish relations was placed squarely on the shoulders of France today by Prince Janusz Radziwill, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Polish parliament and vice president of the Pilsudski Non-Party union, in an explanation of Polish foreign policy to the press. The prince indicated he was speaking for Foreign Minister Josef Beck.

The Franco-Polish alliance, the prince said, remains the basis of Polish foreign policy and the French government has been informed of this fact on several occasions by Marshal Josef Pilsudski, dictator of Poland, by Foreign Minister Beck and by President Ignac Moscicki.

Lists Poland's Grievances.

However, the French policy of deporting Polish workmen, and the attitude of French capitalists who regard Poland a fit object for exploitation, together with a lack of economic conventions, have developed serious differences, which are increased by France's lack of consideration for Poland's independent foreign policy, he said.

Radziwill said Poland wishes to avoid becoming involved in Danubian and Balkan problems and at the same times wishes to be consulted on problems directly affecting it, such as the proposed eastern Locarno security pact and questions concerning its relations with Russia, Germany, and the Baltic states.

Poland is not the "yes man" of France, and it cannot permit action to be taken in northeastern Europe without being consulted, Radziwill continued. He blamed the French press for the existence in France of a lack of understanding of the Poles' attitude.

Calls French Idea Untrue.

The average Frenchman has acquired the idea from the French newspapers that France has an enormous capital invested in Poland which is threatened, the prince explained. This is untrue, he said, "for French capital until now has found Poland a profitable field and France has attempted to exploit our labor, our markets, and our economic situation.

"We believe that the alliance is strong enough to withstand plain speaking, and if France learns the truth about us it will do good for Polish-French relations and peace generally."

The prince denied emphatically that Poland and Germany have reached a political understanding concerning northeastern Europe. He said Poland and Germany have merely agreed to stop quarreling over their differences and to concentrate upon mutual interests. He said Poland had not made a single political concession to Germany, and that Poland's nonaggression pacts with Moscow and Berlin have not involved its alliance with Paris.

Calls Relations Not Normal.

Poland cannot consider its economic relations with France normal, and until French public opinion toward Poland changes misunderstandings will continue, the prince declared.

Poland's position today is much different from that of a few years ago when European opinion associated the name of Poland with unpleasant things, Radziwill asserted. Poland has improved relations with its neighbors so that today it is no more involved than other nations, he said.

"France has no reason to think that our loyal attitude toward an alliance should exclude peaceful coöperation with our neighbor, Germany," the prince explained.

Coming at a moment when the leader of the opposition parties in parliament is planning to request Beck to appear before parliament and explain the Polish foreign policy, Radziwill's interview is expected to clear the political atmosphere in Warsaw, which has been clouded since the Polish-French quarrels began last spring after the signing of the nonaggression pact with Germany.

Britain to Issue Special Stamps for King's Jubilee

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Sir Kingsley Wood, postmaster general, announced in the house of commons tonight that he is prepared to authorize the printing of a special series of postage stamps to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of King George's accession to the throne next year. It is understood that the dominions and colonies will also issue special stamps to mark the occasion.

Nazis Free Hollander After Dutch Minister Protests

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 12.—A Hollander who was arrested in raids last Saturday in Berlin was released today when the minister of The Netherlands protested at the foreign office. The Germans accused the Dutchman of being a "suspicious character" and ordered him to leave the country within twenty-four hours.

OPERETTA KING'S WIDOW A SUICIDE; DIES PENNILESS

Once Rich Wife of 'Dollar Princess' Composer.

VIENNA, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The widow of the man who composed "The Dollar Princess" music was at home again today.

They found Mrs. Bertha Fall dead in the great salon of the villa which is now unoccupied but was once hers. Penniless despite the many dollars which had flowed into that villa from the United States and the rest of the world, she had committed suicide.

She was still kneeling before a portrait of her husband, Leo Fall—"the king of operetta"—who died nine years ago. Those who saw her there thought of Fall's famous "My Dream of Love"—

". . . My own sweetheart,
Here at your feet I choose my part,
For in your eyes that shine above
I find my dream of love."

No one knows how the once wealthy woman entered the beautiful old residence, but she left behind a note that told the finders it was there she wished to die. The message read:

"Finally, I am home again. Please forgive me."

Once Had Every Luxury.

Mrs. Fall once had every luxury and much of the money came from the success of Leo Fall's most famous operetta, "The Dollar Princess." It started out in Vienna in 1907 as "Die Dollar Prinzissin"; opened in London in 1909, and started its tremendous run in the United States in 1910.

It was given in 1910 in Vienna as a special performance in honor of Theodore Roosevelt when he went to Europe to visit Kaiser Wilhelm.

When the musical play was brought to the United States, George Grossmith Jr. wrote the lyrics to the tunes. The first cast in New York contained such players as Frank Tierney, Percival Knight, Valli Valli, and Pauline Francis. Hazel Dawn, who was later to reach the heights of stardom in "The Pink Lady," was another who played in "The Dollar Princess."

Music Became Obsession.

Fall's music became almost an international obsession; the tunes of "The Dollar Princess" were sung and whistled all over the world. Along with "My Dream of Love" were such numbers as "Love's a Race," "Chewska," and the title song of the operetta.

Mrs. Fall's death in poverty recalled the closing lines of the chorus of the title song:

"How every action confesses
Princess of Dollar Princesses

REVEAL JAP HELD IN SINGAPORE SPY "PLOT" POISONED

SINGAPORE, Dec. 13.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—Y. Nishimura, president of the Singapore Japanese association, who died suddenly while being questioned by secret service operatives, succumbed to poison, it was disclosed here today. The poison was believed to have been self-administered.

Two other leading members of the Japanese community were arrested after Nishimura's death, news of which was accompanied by rumors that authorities were investigating alleged Japanese espionage here. The cause of Nishimura's death was originally said to be heart disease.

[Singapore is the seat of an enormous naval base under construction by the British government. A new military airdrome also is being built. Police clamped down tight censorship on all their activities shortly after the first disclosures of political activity, and official information was not available.]

De Valera Party Receives Rebuff in Irish Senate

DUBLIN, Dec. 12.—(AP)—President Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail party, which recently made gains in senate elections but failed to win a majority, received a rebuff in the senate tonight. Michael Comyn, Fianna Fail candidate for chairman, was defeated by the deciding vote of Gen. Hickie, presiding. The former chairman, Westropp Bennett, was reëlected.

"Amazed to see a car of such luxury and style priced so low," says buyer, after glimpse of new Dodge for 1935.

"The new Dodge will certainly head the year's style parade," says Frank J. Leahey, buyer for one of New York's most exclusive shops, and a thorough expert in both fashion and value. "It has the lines, the beauty, the grace you expect to see only in very high-priced cars. And so it is amazing to find that a car of such smartness will be sold for such a radically low price."

Experts in many fields—stylists, artists, value authorities—have been frankly puzzled when asked to guess the price of the new 1935 Dodge. They couldn't believe their own eyes when they saw how much Dodge will offer . . . and learned how little it will sell for. Watch for it!

WALLACE URGES PERMANENT AAA RULE OF FARMS

Will Ask Congress for More Power.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace is convinced that agriculture should be brought under a permanent control. To this end his department will seek passage of drastic new legislation in the next session of congress.

Included in the proposed legislation are the broad amendments to the agricultural adjustment act defeated in the last session, the Tugwell food and drugs bill, and a wide extension of the grain futures act.

Secretary Wallace makes all this known in his annual report to the President, released for publication today. In this document he defends the working of AAA reduction schemes to date, outlines his plans for a permanent control toward a "balanced abundance," expresses grave doubts that our lost foreign markets can be regained, and looks for new home markets through the restoration of industrial purchasing power.

Defends Proposed Amendments.

The secretary defends the proposed amendments to the AAA on the ground that they really did not enlarge his powers but merely "sought to remove uncertainties in the law and to specify more clearly the secretary's powers to enforce these marketing agreements against the recalcitrant few."

He explains that in attempting to enforce the agreements the AAA met with resistance from minority groups who took advantage of technicalities and ambiguities in the law. This disregard of the rights of minorities does not conflict with the principles of democracy, in Wallace's opinion, for in another connection he says:

"How far the principle of majority rule applies legitimately to the control of farm production is not yet established, either through experience or discussion. But we cannot rule it out in advance as being inconsistent with democracy."

Reviews Original Act.

Wallace points out that the original AAA act gave him power to license all processors, associations of producers, and others to handle farm products in interstate commerce; to suspend or revoke licenses for violation of the terms thereof; to fine any one [$1,000 a day] handling farm products in such a manner without a license, and to require licensees to keep accounts and furnish reports.

He also states that a great many marketing agreements, covering milk and cream, tobacco, peanuts, rice, deciduous tree fruits, citrus fruits, grapes, peaches, asparagus, olives, walnuts, etc., were already in effect when the amendments were proposed.

Apparently the secretary is satisfied that his powers are virtually unlimited, under the present act, but wishes the amendments to clarify these powers and make more feasible their enforcement in the courts.

He could license any food processor in the country and extend the marketing agreements to all farm products, so long as a majority of the producers, through an association, approved them.

The amendments to the grain futures act advocated by Wallace would give him powers to place a limit on "purely speculative" trading on the part of any person or firm, to license commission firms accepting orders from the public, and to prohibit, under severe penalty, the "bucketing" of customers' orders, the making of wash sales and fictitious trades, and cheating or fraud in the handling of customers' orders.

Defends Tugwell Bill.

The Tugwell amendment to the food and drug act is defended by Wallace on the ground that it would remove from the government "the formidable obligation of proving that claims made in the labeling of patent medicines are both false and fraudulent" and provide more drastic penalties, including jail terms for violations.

He defends the section of the proposed amendment which would give him czaristic control over all food, drug and cosmetic advertising, a feature which raised a storm of protests in the last session on the ground that it invaded the freedom of the press.

"Another groundless objection was that the proposed law would have doomed advertising by insisting on the truth," Wallace says. "This charge involves the ridiculous assumption that American business depends upon dishonesty."

End Bad Cough Quickly, at One Fourth the Cost

Home-Mixed! No Cooking! Easy!

Millions of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough medicine, they get a purer, more effective remedy. They use a recipe which costs only one-fourth as much as ready-made medicine, but which really has no equal for breaking up obstinate coughs.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and one cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and makes the most effective remedy that money could buy. Keeps perfectly, and children love its taste.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, clearing the air passages, and soothing away the inflammation, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

News of The Tribune Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

A Tree Encyclopedia

December 12, 1934.

TREES are among the most important crops grown on THE TRIBUNE experimental farms near Yorkville and Wheaton, Ill. They are grown around the farm buildings, in woodlots and in the woodland pastures. They produce firewood, fence posts, windbreaks around the homes and for live stock, and are effective in preventing erosion on steep slopes and on badly washed places in the fields and along streams.

Men at THE TRIBUNE farms, as well as other farmers in this part of the country, are fortunate in having one of the greatest tree laboratories or museums in the world within a few miles of Chicago. Within less than an hour men at THE TRIBUNE farms can drive to the Morton arboretum on Joliet road near Lisle, Ill., and get the answer to almost any practical or technical question they may ask concerning trees.

The late Joy Morton, founder of the Morton arboretum, picked out land with hills and stream where he could test out the growing of trees and shrubs under various soil and moisture conditions. There farmers in this part of the country will find a great variety of trees growing under conditions similar to those on their own farms. From 1922 to 1933 the arborteum planted 391,953 trees and shrubs. The arboretum covers 735 acres of the 1,700 acres in the Morton estate near Lisle.

A well defined plan of classification was followed in planting the trees and shrubs. First, the plants were set out in systematic groups according to botanical relationships; second, in geographical groups according to native habitats; third, in ornamental and landscape plantings; fourth, in economic plots where various species are tested for timber value.

C. E. Godschalk, superintendent of the arboretum, says that Mr. Morton's purpose in founding the arboretum was to offer not only a scientific service to the people of the middle west but an economic and cultural service as well, where the landscape architect, forester, amateur gardener, nurseryman, botanist, pathologist, and hybridizer would find an opportunity for study and research.

Trees of almost every description are to be found thriving at this arboretum—trees of the old stand-by group that are natives to this part of the country, trees from many foreign lands, trees that are short and tall, spindly and spreading, trees that are straight and trees that are crooked, dwarfed, and twisted. But none is for sale and none is given away; they are there to demonstrate under practical conditions what trees can be grown in this part of the country and where they do best.

Here farmers and city people may go and get first hand information about trees and shrubs, information that will guide them in doing their own landscaping around homes or on the farms. The arboretum is open from sunup to sundown winter and summer.

(Other articles will appear from time to time under the Experimental Farm heading, giving information on what trees to plant, when to plant, how to move trees, and otherwise how to care for them.)

U. S. PLANS TO BUY 50,000 ACRES OF LAND IN INDIANA

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Some 50,000 acres of Indiana farm land will be bought by the federal government and retired from cultivation, according to plans being developed by Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator.

The land termed submarginal is of small value, cultivation not being worth the time and labor required. It will be set aside for recreational and state park purposes. Farmers living on the land will find more productive farms elsewhere.

Three tracts in Indiana of several thousand acres each are under consideration and partly under option. They are in Ripley, Martin, and Brown counties. The land will be acquired at about $10 an acre.

Gov. Paul V. McNutt, in conference with Hopkins on winter relief plans, today gained the impression the federal government would seek to open closed factories and manufacturing plants in order to get jobless off relief rolls and on the pay rolls.

FLORIDA COLD MENACES ORANGE, TOURIST CROPS

Latter Valued at 700 Million Dollars.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

West Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Florida's agricultural and tourist crops were frost bitten last night. Before the cold the yield from the winter tourist crop was estimated at 700 million dollars by Alfred H. Wagg, president of the Florida Chamber of Commerce and counselor for Florida on the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The mercury here dipped to 31 degrees, equaling the 1922 minimum and approaching the 26 degree low of 1920 and the all time record of 24 degrees in 1905 and in 1894. The luxuriant tropical flower gardens around the homes of the wealthy here were nipped by frost.

From other parts of the state came reports of heavy damages to agricultural crops. The orange orchards, for example, lost from 25 to 35 per cent of their fruit. Vegetables for winter markets were frozen.

COLD WAVE SETS N. Y. RECORD FOR DATE; 11 ABOVE

New York, Dec. 12.—[Special.]—The cold wave maintained its grip on the city for the sixth successive day and for the second time this week sent the mercury down to 11 degrees, a record for Dec. 12.

The weather bureau reported tonight that the cold wave is now on the wane here and that tomorrow will be fair and warmer.

BENCH, BAR LAUD JUSTICE DE YOUNG'S CAREER AT SERVICES

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Bench and bar today united in tribute to the memory of the late Frederic R. De Young of Chicago, for ten years a member of the Illinois Supreme court.

The Illinois Bar association and the Chicago Bar association united in the service which was opened by James S. Baldwin of Decatur, president of the state bar.

Justice De Young, 59, at the time of his death, served in the state legislature and was a member of the constitutional convention of 1920. He was appointed to the Circuit bench in 1921 to fill a vacancy and then was elected to the Superior court of Cook county.

In 1924 he was elected to the Supreme court from the Seventh [Chicago district] and was reëleced in 1933 for a second term. He was nominated for the court by both Democratic and Republican parties in 1933.

Ask Writ Against Municipal Judge to Bar Receivership

A petition for a writ of prohibition was filed in the Superior court yesterday seeking to restrain Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green from hearing a suit for the appointment of a receiver for a restaurant at 67 East Lake street owned by Ralph P. Levin. Levin's attorney, Mandel Mendelson, said Judge Green was assigned to hear a receivership suit brought by Roy D. Zeff as creditor. The petition contends that the Municipal court is without jurisdiction in receivership cases. The Appellate court recently upheld the right of the Superior and Circuit courts to issue writs of prohibition against the Municipal court.

"It's always been GOOD GIN"

SINCE 1882 Mistletoe has always been good gin. It's well to remember that, with so many new gins on the market now. Why experiment?

Mistletoe has the same dainty flavor which delighted connoisseurs a generation ago. It is distinctive and has never been successfully imitated. No real "secret" about it — just expert distillation and a rare combination of grain and fruit ingredients.

Mistletoe makes these gin drinks delicious

Dry Martini: 1 part Mistletoe Dry Gin, ½ Part French Vermouth, ½ part Italian Vermouth, dash of Orange Bitters. Stir with ice, strain, and add olive.

Remember—with the Holidays so close at hand—"It's Mistletoe Time." Your dealer and tavern have Mistletoe Dry, Tom, and Sloe Gins, and Mistletoe Kummel, or can get them for you. Insist on Mistletoe.

EX-CONVICT HELD IN MURDER CASE OF SIX YEARS AGO

Recalls Mystery Death of Teacher.

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Revived attempts to solve the six year old mystery surrounding the slaying of Miss Cordelia Gummersheimer, popular high school teacher, tonight awaited the arrival of a witness from Beloit, Wis., who is coming here tomorrow to view a suspect held in the case. Miss Gummersheimer was clubbed to death in her apartment.

The man in custody is Chester Francis, 34, an ex-convict and a graduate and former track athlete of the University of Illinois. He was arrested two weeks ago on a charge of breaking into the home of Miss Marion B. Whittle, who is also a school teacher.

Seized as Peeper.

Four months ago Francis was arrested as a "Peeping Tom" and was fined $50. Police said they suspect him of being the night marauder who has broken into the bedrooms of five Rockford women in recent weeks.

The man who invaded Miss Whittle's bedroom bit her, and her father, Fred, on the hands when they attempted to seize him. His movements had awakened the teacher, and she slipped out of the room and summoned her father. The man escaped, but the following day Francis was arrested and accused of the crime.

It was recalled that the body of Miss Gummersheimer, when found on Dec. 8, 1929, in the bedroom of her apartment where she lived alone, bore evidence that the slayer had bitten her.

Guard Witness' Identity.

Police said the Beloit man, whose identity they refused to reveal, agreed to come here and attempt to ascertain whether Francis is the man who six years ago frequently visited a woman friend in the same apartment building where Miss Gummersheimer lived.

Francis was paroled to a Rockford man in May, 1932, upon his release from the Joliet penitentiary where he served two years of a term of one year to life on a conviction of robbing a woman. A warant was recently issued for his arrest as a parole violator.

Four months prior to the murder, Francis was divorced in Chicago by his wife who charged he had threatened to kill her, had tried to choke her, and kicked her out of their home. It was also recalled that about the time the teacher was slain Francis was out robbing women, eight of whom identified him.

A. N. TODD, FORMER WEST SIDE G. O. P. LEADER, IS DEAD

Alexander N. Todd, paving contractor and prominent for many years in Republican politics on Chicago's west side, died suddenly yesterday at his home, 5927 Washington boulevard, of a heart attack.

Mr. Todd rose politically under the guidance of Fred Lundin and for some eleven years was committeeman of the old 14th ward. In 1920 he was elected sanitary district trustee. Following that he served as committeeman of the 28th ward until his retirement from political activity in 1931.

Mr. Todd is survived by two daughters, Ruth and Evelyn, and one son, Chester. His wife died several years ago. Funeral arrangements had not been made last night.

Harry W. Hill, Treasurer of Orchestra Hall, Dies

Harry W. Hill, for many years treasurer of Orchestra hall and familiarly known to patrons of the hall and to artists as "Jimmy," died yesterday at his home, 1217 Granville avenue, following a brief illness. He is survived by his widow, Rose K. Hill; a daughter, Mrs. Wade R. Franklin, and two sisters, Mrs. Harry Turner and Mrs. George Garter. Funeral services will be held Saturday in the chapel at 2701 North Clark street. Burial will be private.

E. J. Eckel, 89, an Architect, Dead in St. Joseph, Mo.

St. Joseph, Mo., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Edmond J. Eckel, 89, dean of the American Institute of Architects, died today. Born at Strasbourg, Alsace, he years later was graduated from the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris and had practiced his profession in St. Joseph since 1869. He had designed many of the larger buildings here, as well as in St. Louis, Council Bluffs, Omaha, Los Angeles, Batesville, Ark., and Cleveland.

Plan Memorial for Officer Slain by John Hamilton

An anniversary mass and memorial service for Police Sergeant William G. Shanley will be held Saturday, at 8:30 a. m., in St. Gertrude's Roman Catholic church, Glenlake and Granville avenues. Sergt. Shanley was shot and killed by John Hamilton, Dillinger gangster, on Dec. 14, 1933, when the sergeant attempted to arrest Hamilton in front of 5217 Broadway.

Rites for Martin Ronan Will Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services for Martin F. Ronan, for twenty-two years a police operator, will be held tomorrow morning from Presentation church, Springfield avenue and Polk streets. Burial will be at Calvary cemetery. Mr. Ronan, who was 52 years old, died Monday at his home, 4040 Polk street, of pneumonia. He had been attached to the Fourth division headquarters of the police department.

Minneapolis and St. Louis Railroad Receiver Dies

HURSEN Funerals

Always Cost Less

HURSEN revolutionized the prices and methods of funeral direction over a quarter of a century ago. This policy of "always lower" prices, without exception, and of giving the utmost in quality has never been equaled!

The 3 Hursen "funeral homes" in Chicago make up the largest and finest funeral establishments in America.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A vocal "symphony of popular music" has been organized for a new radio program to be sponsored by the makers of the well known soft drink, "the pause that refreshes." Under the baton of Frank Black, NBC musical director, a symphonic orchestra of 65 men and a choir of 26 voices will broadcast weekly at 9:30 o'clock Friday nights over the national chain's coast to coast network, beginning Dec. 21. The vocalists will be used as if the singing actually represented so many additional instrumentalists to give a united, blended effect.

Ruth Etting, who has been off the networks for eight months, will return for a single appearance Saturday evening. Miss Etting will headline the new Radio City party series at 8 p. m. over NBC, which will bring to the microphone "stars of the future" picked by Lawrence Tibbett, Paul Whiteman, Gladys Swarthout, Jessica Dragonette, and Frank Black.

Ethel Barrymore will headline the New Year's day three hour show the Wisconsin motor maker is sponsoring over CBS. Lionel Barrymore, her brother, is to appear on the Christmas afternoon show which has the same sponsor. Others signed for the Yuletide show not previously announced are Beatrice Lillie and Kathryn Wittwer, Chicago soprano.

Herbie Kay's orchestra, with Memo Loa, Hawaiian songstress, as soloist, returned to WBBM-CBS from the Edgewater Beach hotel last night. . . . Jan Garber almost missed his commercial show Monday because of the storm. It took his band almost three hours to get from the Trianon to the Merchandise mart.

With a letter of instructions from Ben Bernie in his pocket, Jackie Heller will take over the leadership of the orchestra Buddy Rogers is relinquishing to open at the Music Box in Pittsburgh on Dec. 21. Bernie's advice: "Jackie, there's nothing to it. All you've got to do is count one-two and try to smile like George Olsen. If you can, keep your head down and start autographing. Learn to shake hands with both hands and always make a strong finish. And when you meet Winchell, say no. That's how maestros are born."

Lain & SON

SINCE 1891—

A SIGN of SERVICE

Pioneers in protecting the public against high funeral costs, Lain & Son have always set the standard of service.

Today, Lain holds more services in a month than the average undertaker has in a year. No other Chapel in Chicago holds as many services as Lain's.

Because of this leadership, Lain includes these exclusive features with all services, even those as low as $110:

Conditioned Air

Protects the health of all who attend Lain Chapel services—provides an abundance of air washed and purified and circulated at correct temperature.

Imperial Quartet

Lain was the first Chapel to include with all services—the Imperial Male Quartet, Organist and Organ.

Price Protection

Lain was the first to answer the price question by publishing the cost of 1,000 funerals; showing that more than one-third of Lain services actually cost less than $200. Also, to price-mark all merchandise.

Highest Quality

Lain's prices are lower because of volume. All merchandise is bought on a cash basis from reliable manufacturers only; we never offer "bargains" or "seconds" in merchandise.

Lain's personnel has few changes over the years, and with the most modern of facilities—render a service that cannot be equalled.

To secure this finer type of service, call Lain—no matter where you live in Chicago or Suburbs.

V. M. HUNTINGTON, SPORTSMAN, DIES OF PISTOL WOUND

Vincent M. Huntington, 43 year old suburban real estate man and sportsman, died in the Oak Park hospital yesterday, several hours after he was found unconscious from a bullet wound in his head at his office, 1033 South boulevard, Oak Park. A pistol from which one shot had been fired lay near his right hand.

His widow, Katherine, told police he had been absent all night from their home at 510 Ashland avenue, River Forest. She added that he had been despondent over financial worries. Friends advanced the theory that Huntington, who was known to have kept firearms in his office, had shot himself accidentally.

Huntington had built many apartment buildings and homes in the western suburbs. He was well known as an amateur golfer, having held the championships of the Westward and Brookwood Country clubs. Besides Mrs. Huntington, he is survived by two sons, John and Peter, and a daughter, Nancy.

RITES TODAY FOR FREDERICK HOW, FORMER BANKER

Funeral services for Frederick J. How, 69 years old, 5625 Dorchester avenue, retired Hyde Park real estate man and banker who died of a heart attack at home Tuesday, will be held at 1:30 p. m. today in the chapel at 5203 Lake Park avenue. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

Until his resignation because of ill health four months ago, Mr. How had been secretary of the 53d Street Business Men's association. He had for 12 years been secretary of the Hyde Park Kiwanis club and treasurer of the Hyde Park Men's club. He once owned the former 63d Street bank.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A luxurious, though not expensive, gift for your favorite lovely lady might be bath twins—a box of powder and a fat bar of soap, both in the lush fragrance of water lily.

Consider one of the most attractive bath twins of the season, a beautiful box, all pink and peach, of downy bath powder, and a fat bar of bath soap, also pink, held snugly on top with satin ribbon. Its so yummy to look at your mouth waters—and when you learn that the fragrance of both is the lush, dreamy one of water lilies you just about swoon. And so would any other woman. Thar's sure fire lure in that thar gift.

If we want to be thoroughly practical and sane about it, we can cling to the old Spartan idea that the three eternal verities of a bath are soap, water, and a rough washcloth. But who wants to be so matter of fact when it's so much more fun to be feminine about it and cater to our instinctive yen for bath glorifiers? Just show us the woman—old or young, rich or poor—who doesn't get a bang out of orchidaceous touches to the daily tubbing!

And show us the woman who could resist the water lily powder and soap set. There's a thrill in their mere ownership—and using the two would amount to a feminine orgy. The soap is the smooth, lathery kind that tempers its cleansing powers with a merciful blandness and its fragrance is beguiling beyond words.

The feathery powder is just as much of a joy. The beautiful scent and the perfect texture make it an ideal medium for that final, heavenly touch to a bath—a liberal powder dusting all over the body.

It's luxurious as could be, this set, but unlike most luxurious gifts for lovely ladies, it isn't priced way up in capitalist heaven. You'll be pleasantly surprised at the price.

The delectable powder and soap pair have a sister, by the way. If you prefer a trio to twins you can include a tall bottle of cologne—cooling, refreshing, and in the same scent of water lily. Several shops have all three.

Miss Strange Reads Poetry at Arts Club

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Bored with her assigned topic to talk New York theater, Michael Strange turned to the reading of poetry—her own and others—and scored a hit at the Arts club yesterday. The applause of the select group, gathered under the auspices of the Chicago players, signaled an enthusiasm that flagged only once or twice toward the end, when her flights of fancy came perilously close to her own candid admission as she began her program.

"I've been told my verse is too complicated. But then you've just had Gertrude Stein out here, so I feel confident you won't find me too baffling, since you seem to have found her coherent."

Balanced against serious mood, this versatile literary figure [she is playwright and novelist as well as versifier] offered some cynically humorous bits that ended her personal appearance in a burst of appreciative laughter. There was, for instance, the bit extoling the grandiose background of trifling things in the Pennsylvania station, New York—an impression on returning from a lecture tour. One stanza read:

"When down the Niagara steps
To Corinthian, Ionic, Babylonian, Renaissance,
Immensity of station . . .
With temple porticoes at either end.
Plinthing a mauve pallor of enormous maps. . . .
Also a spiral peppermint rope of moving light
Announcing the barber. . . ."

Slim and animated, in a tailored black frock with a trailing scarf of scarlet silk, the poetess in private life, Mrs. Harrison Tweed of New York, was clustered about with admirers as she ended her program and turned to greet old friends and new. Her son by a previous marriage, Robin Thomas, now a member of the Uptown Players in Chicago, shared the limelight with her and the laughs over the poem she wrote to him when he was small, and recited bravely yesterday, even though he is tall enough now to look over her head.

As a preface to her own works, Mrs. Tweed read verses by Edna St. Vincent Millay and her close friend, Iris Tree, in a musical, resonant voice which won her a radio contract in the east. Most of her readings are done to special musical programs.

Mrs. Bror G. Dahlberg was hostess for tea following the program. Mrs. Walter Paepcke, Mrs. Jacob Bauer, Mrs. Samuel Ettelson, Mrs. Ernest Graham, and Mrs. Edward A. Leight poured.

Good Morning!

Lovely! That at this Christmas season the operetta of Oscar Asche should "come alive" again—and take us back to fairy book days and the beloved story of "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves."

This extravaganza that delighted theater audiences of other days was screened once before as a "silent," with Betty Blythe in the rôle of the slave spy, now played by Anna May Wong. But this former version could not, of course, be comparable to the sound one, which is certainly something for its British makers to write Hollywood about.

The action is intentionally florid, false, extravagant—and this is what makes the picture such a darb. The characters live on the screen as they did in the fanciful pages of the book and exaggerated dialog, settings both unbelievably weird and rococo, costumes such as you might expect to see at a "Little Egypt" masked ball—and music that goes with it all, make "Chu Chin Chow" a holiday movie that SHOULD stand 'em in line at the box office.

The most intriguing character of all is Abou Hassan, leader of the bandits. There is simply no good at all in Abou as played by Fritz Kortner—the most completely, fascinatingly ugly man I have ever seen!

Abou stops at nothing—and the scenes showing himself and his devilish followers in their cave—the doors of which open and shut to the magical words of "Open" and "Shut Sesame" are truly works of fiendish, roistering art.

A bit of reason has been introduced re the conduct of these portals of rock. In the picture, magic is NOT what controls them. What DOES is just another bluggy footprint along the gory trail of the heartless, soulless, conscienceless Abou.

George Robey, comedian, does handsomely by Ali Baba, the nitwit who overnight becomes a millionaire. John Garrick—a handsome chap with a glorious voice which he raises now and again in song—plays Ali's son, Nur-al-din, who loves the noble slave girl Marjanah.

Anna May Wong is clever as Ali's spy, and Pearl Argyle neatly portrays Marjanah, who discovers Zahrat's [I love their names, don't you?] perfidy and finally brings Abou, his thieves and their plans to a bad end. All other rôles are neatly turned out, and there is one striking ensemble number.

As for the director—that man certainly does know his way about!

Go to see "Chu Chin Chow!" Take the youngsters! And a grand, good time to yez all!

Saxophones—Humanitarian—
Choice—Repetition.

THE mail was flooded with corrections of the statement made in this space that Edwin H. Clark was the first man to play the saxophone in Chicago — and that in 1908—an assertion not made by Mr. Clark himself, by the way. Clews in the various communications led us to Emile Borre of the musicians' union, an elderly Belgian gentleman who admits he brought the first saxophone to Chicago in 1884. He had played it for four years in a regimental band in the Belgian army, and in 1886 he was again playing it in the Second Regiment band of that time. A saxophone quartet was composed about that time, and the first concert given in Chicago in which saxophones were played was at the Central Music hall, then located on State street, Mr. Borre said.

* *

INFORMATION about Mr. Borre came from an Oak Park gentleman whose letterhead reads, "J. W. Farr, Plastering Contractor." H. R. Geicke writes that the Banda Rossa came to Chicago from Italy about the time of the World's Columbian Exhibition and carried a full complement of saxophones. This band was followed by Creatore, then by Furello, and then becoming known as the Ellery band, he adds, and it at all times had four saxophones. . . . And among the other communications was one from Frank Mills Lescher stating that his older brother played one in Marshall's band in Topeka, Kas., in the middle '80s, and that he himself had played it before 1908. . . . And Ernest Brooks writes that De Bussy's Rhapsody for saxophone and orchestra was composed in the years 1903 and 1905, and was commissioned by Mrs. Richard J. Hall of Boston, herself a saxophonist.

TOM R. WELCH was in a Greek restaurant the other evening when a young fellow came in, ordered a big dinner, and ate it with relish. Then he walked up to the proprietor and told him that he was sorry, but he didn't have any money. The proprietor glared at him, turning slowly purple with rage, tongue-tied with indignation. The impudent youngster, obviously impatient at his slowness to answer, said:

"Well, make up your mind. What do you want me to do—work or fight?"

EVEN fellows who read Plato write in to this column, surprisingly enough. Calvin Holmes bulletins that he supposes the last word has been said on Miss Stein, but he still wants to pass on the apologia that turned up in a random reading of Plato a few nights ago. It's in the "Symposium" and from Alcibiades' long speech in praise of Socrates, and reads:

". . . he is always repeating the same things in the same words so that any ignorant or inexperienced person might feel disposed to laugh at him; but he who . . . sees what is within will find that they are the only words which have a meaning in them." [The Jowett translation.]

Offer Costume Jewelry Styled for Tiny Girls

BY RHEA SEEGER.

We've tooted horns about this miniature clothes hounds department before, but the place still fascinates. Now it's packed with everything imaginable for tiny sister in the way of costume accessories scaled down to her own small size.

You should see the costume jewelry, small scale reproductions of the stuff that keeps big, tall sister smart and fashionable. Bracelets with dangles, beaded multistrand necklaces and bracelets to match in all the colors, silver, chromium, and gold. Tiny rings, tiny pins, and all the charms to hang on fine chain bracelets. They have even unpacked some name pins in gold script letters that will make any youngster grab them with glee.

Handbags of every description, from trim serviceable lethers in all street colors to glittering small frivolous bags for party wear. Some with straps, some with prystal clasps, some with frames of dark wood, and there are some cheery red velvet numbers that are hard to resist, as well as green and deep blue velvet beauties.

Next to the handbags the new belts certainly cause a lot of excitement. They are snappy, narrow small belts actually ready for service without cutting or fitting. Suedes in all colors, with dashing buckles like mother has clamped to her larger sizes, exactly reproduced to fit the varying widths of the little girl belts. All can be boxed in gay holiday boxes for gifts.

Dog pins are the best looking things to be found. They are made of dark brown wood and some reddish black wood, so that the small scotties and airedales and French poodles are probably as near like the active originals as anything could be. They are fitted with small pins to attach to frocks and scarfs or belts and berets.

If you have small and very particular young ladies to please with Christmas gifts try this department. You'll have the best shopping thrill of the season.

Mrs. Francis Johnson Weds Walter Kirk

New York Ceremony Surprise to Their Friends.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE news that Mrs. Francis J. Johnson and Walter R. Kirk were married yesterday afternoon in New York will come as a great surprise to all but their most intimate friends, for they had told only a few persons of their plans. Mrs. Johnson went east Tuesday to meet Mr. Kirk and they were married yesterday afternoon in the apartment of her aunt, Mrs. Millard Polhemus, at the Plaza hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk will remain in the east for a short time, but they will be back in her apartment at 1430 Lake Shore drive before Christmas. The new Mrs. Kirk is one of society's handsomest women, a lovely blonde with great charm of manner. She is active in things philanthropic as well as social, for she is president of the woman's board of the Passavant Memorial hospital and was vice chairman of the opera box committee this winter. Mr. Kirk has been Mrs. Johnson's escort on numerous occasions since he was divorced last May from Mrs. Maud Hambleton Kirk, but Mrs. Johnson has been so popular that she has had as many beaux as a debutante. Mrs. Johnson, who is the former Louisa Nevins, has no children. She obtained a divorce in 1930. Mr. Kirk has three children, a son, Radcliffe, and two daughters, Beatrice, who is Mrs. C. Ross Cuthbert, and Barbara, who is Mrs. Lawrence Williams.

Dodd Twins Plan Double Wedding.

One of the pretty amateur barmaids on the showboat Dixiana tomorrow night will be the recipient of all sorts of good wishes from those who dine aboard the boat before the performance and those who partake of liquid refreshments during the intermissions for her engagement is being announced this morning.

She is Miss Helen Dodd, one of the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Dodd, who today are making known her engagement to Harris Bradbury Burrows III., son of Mrs. Harris B. Burrows Jr. of Cleveland. It was just a year and two days ago that Mr. and Mrs. Dodd announced the engagement of their other twin, Lois, to David Brown Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Arthur Richardson of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Miss Lois and her fiancé are waiting to be married nearer the time that he will finish his law course at Northwestern university so now the twins, who are among the most popular and prettiest girls on the south side, will have a double wedding, either in April or June.

Helen, like her sister, is a graduate of the University High school and of the University of Chicago. Both girls are actively interested in the Kenwood Social Service club, which supports an Infant Welfare station, and has taken over the performance aboard the Dixiana tomorrow night as a benefit. Young members of the club will act as checkroom girls and as barmaids and the affair gives promise of being one of the gayest ever given by the club which has many successful benefits to its credit.

Mr. Burrows, who is engaged in business in Chicago, is a graduate of Dartmouth, where he was a member of Alpha Delta Phi. Mr. Richardson is a Princeton graduate.

Three Events on Calendar Tonight.

Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, Mrs. Eames MacVeagh, Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr., Mrs. Orville Taylor, Mrs. George S. Payson, and Mrs. Frank B. Mulford are a few of the many parishioners of St. James' who will enjoy a turkey dinner tonight at the community house, 666 Rush street.

This dinner, with entertainment and a sale of the famous mince meat made each year by the women of the parish takes the place of the Christmas bazar held in previous years. Mrs. Clarence Doheny is treasurer of the dinner committee.

Some of those who attend the dinner later will go to the Symphony concert at Orchestra hall but others will drive north to the French Casino, there to take part in the gay party that will benefit the Arden Shore association and open the new revue at the Casino. The affair is a dinner-

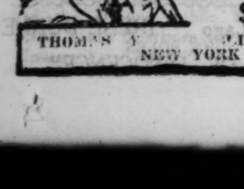
Gay Party Tonight

Mrs. Ewing Webb, pictured above, has been about the busiest young woman in Lake Forest for the last two weeks although she hasn't been at home except to sleep for she has been coming to the city every day. As chairman of the Chicago committee of the Arden Shore association she is in charge of the benefit dinner dance the committee will give tonight at the French Casino.

A new Parisian-Viennese revue will open there tonight. As soon as she is not so busy with Arden Shore activities Mrs. Webb will start working with Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer on a history of the Chicago Junior league for they hope to have it ready for publication before long.



BRONCHO CHARLIE
By Gladys Shaw Erskine
This book has a quality of its own, and will perhaps rank as the best of its kind, when the future historian seeks for documents which will explain the spirit of the last days of the frontier. It is the best and most entertaining expose of the historic West that has been published. No better book of such tales by a Western raconteur is known to me.

The Forgotten Honeymoon

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Rhoda Cornboise's engagement to Maj. Ralph Stornack is arranged by her ambitious mother. Rhoda is in love with Colin Briarley, who is serving sentence unjustly for the murder of a Canadian solicitor in a London night club. Chief witness against Colin was Stornack, who was the solicitor's host. Jack Caermaen, an old pal of Colin's, is his warder. Caermaen takes Colin's place as prisoner, allowing Colin to use his week's vacation. Rhoda elopes with Colin on the eve of her marriage to Stornack. After a brief honeymoon Colin returns to prison. Rhoda returns home and feigns a lapse of memory. To admit her marriage would be fatal for Caermaen. Her mother besieges her to marry Stornack, who is still willing. He and his confederates know she has inherited the fortune of a Canadian relative. The solicitor had come to London to tell her of it. Caermaen has his solicitor, Jarroman, investigate Stornack. Rhoda is placed under her mother's charge by court order. Mrs. Cornboise takes Rhoda to France, where the son of Rhoda and Colin is born. The baby is left there when they return to London. Caermaen arranges to get Colin out of prison again for a few days. Rhoda flies with Colin to see their son. Mrs. Cornboise sees Colin and penetrates the mystery of his excursion from jail. She threatens to expose Caermaen if Rhoda doesn't marry Stornack. Colin again changes places with Caermaen and arrives in time to rescue Rhoda after she has married Stornack. Colin forces Stornack to make a written confession that he killed the solicitor, and obtains the papers from him which Rhoda had signed, transferring her fortune to him. Stornack admits the marriage was a fake. Colin allows him twelve hours to get away. Then he and Rhoda go after Stornack's confederates, Leningway and Galston, and obtain confessions from them of their part in the crime. Colin returns to Mardlehurst prison, where a riot has broken out. After the trouble subsided some of the prisoners were transferred to another jail, among them Caermaen. Rhoda brings the confessions to Jarroman.

INSTALMENT XLVI.

IN PERIL OF DISGRACE.

Jarroman's hands trembled as he reached for the telephone.

"Not at his office yet? . . . Well, will you please ask Sir Andrew to ring me personally the moment he arrives?"

He replaced the receiver and turned to Rhoda.

"When did you get these confessions?"

"Last night. But we promised to wait twelve hours——"

"Phew! That's compounding a felony. You and I will both find ourselves in prison if we're not careful. I must tell Scotland Yard at once."

To an official at Scotland Yard he explained that the confession had just been handed to him and that he had reason to believe that the three men had absconded.

Then for the second time in his professional career Jarroman gave way to emotion.

"O, my dear!" he exclaimed and gripped Rhoda by both hands. "A confession! It's beyond one's wildest dreams. But what I can't make out is this—why should a man sign a confession when he's absolutely safe?"

"He wasn't quite so absolutely safe," smiled Rhoda. "In fact——" her face clouded and she shuddered—"it was really rather horrible at the time. Colin——Colin frightened him rather badly."

"Colin!" he repeated, and looked round the four walls of his office which were redolent of a profound respectability.

"I'm sorry to tell you," said Rhoda mischievously, "that Colin arranged with——with one of the warders in the prison to take his place. Colin walked out as the warder and——he came to Maj. Stornack and made him sign a confession."

"And he made the other people sign a confession, too? Hm! Extorting a confession by menaces."

"O! Does it spoil the confession?"

"It might—if we told the authorities about the menaces. But I don't intend to. Do you?" He did not wait for an answer but went on: "What's all this about a forced marriage? Whom did Stornack marry?"

"Me!" said Rhoda, and told him what had happened. "You see," she concluded, "it was necessary in order to save——the warder who befriended Colin."

He looked at her with something approaching awe.

"Friendship means a good deal to you, my dear! Do you think I may ask where Colin is now?"

"He hurried back to prison last night——to change over with the warder."

Jarroman took a long breath, then began to turn over the other papers.

"Well now, my dear Rhoda, I congratulate you on coming into a very considerable fortune."

"O! I'd forgotten!" exclaimed Rhoda. "My father said that Leningway had probably bolted with all the money."

Jarroman smiled.

"He can't bolt with one of the biggest ranches in Canada," he said. "And he'd find it a bit of a job to tuck a mine into his pocket. But, of course, there's the stock. I can stop him from selling that, if he's taken it with him, which I doubt. Do you know that you're worth the better part of a quarter of a million?"

"How amazing! But I——"

Fifteen minutes later Rhoda and Jarroman were entering the presence of the man whose eloquence had convicted Colin of the murder of Simpson.

"You say these confessions were handed to you by this lady? How did they come into her possession?"

Before Jarroman could answer Rhoda cut in.

"I was able to prevail upon the persons concerned to sign them, Sir Andrew," she said quickly.

"You were able to prevail?" echoed Sir Andrew, and then: "Good gracious!" he exclaimed and became quite human. He laughed outright. "I strongly suspect that you extorted them by some highly ingenious menace of your own. Fortunately I need know nothing about that unless the police bring it to my notice. And they won't, unless they catch these fellows. And, anyway, it won't affect that unfortunate Colin Briarley."

He took them both with him to the home secretary.

"Of course, it will take time to get the pardon through," said the home secretary. "But they won't keep him actually in a cell during that time. There's a special procedure in these cases. I will telegraph to the governor. I happen to know him personally and I'll call him on the telephone. If it is any satisfaction to this young lady, she shall hear me do so."

A telephone call by a secretary of state takes precedence over all others and in a few minutes the home secretary was speaking to the governor of Mardlehurst prison.

"This is a purely personal call, Slakeham," he explained. "You'll get an official telegram in an hour or so. I'm just giving you the tip that Briarley—yes, Colin Briarley—has been found innocent and a pardon will be issued with all possible speed. In the meantime, of course, you'll give him special treatment, won't you? I'm ringing you really at the request of his fiancée." He put his hand over the telephone and smiled like a benevolent old man at Rhoda. "That is correct, is it not, Miss Cornboise?"

"It's quite correct enough, sir," answered Rhoda.

"Yes—yes—his fiancée. . . . What! . . . O well, that won't make any difference. . . . Yes, I shall be up in your part of the world as soon as the house adjourns. Good-by!"

He turned to Rhoda.

"It's a curious coincidence, Miss Cornboise, but they've transferred the—ah—the prisoner—they transferred him yesterday, I understand—to Durham."

"O!" gasped Rhoda

"But it won't make any difference, I assure you. A few hours perhaps, but——"

Rhoda did not hear the rest, for she had fainted.

There is a horrible similarity between all prisons. The corridors in Durham jail looked very like the corridors in Mardlehurst.

In Durham jail a warder crossed the corridors and nodded to his comrade on duty.

Presently he stopped and opened a cell door. He spoke to the convict within.

"Three-six-two—what was your number at Mardlehurst?"

"Eighty-seven, sir," answered Jack Caermaen.

"Correct!" And what is your name?"

"Colin Briarley, sir."

"Correct!" The warder ticked it off again. "Pick up your kit—you're going back to Mardlehurst."

Jack Caermaen, impersonating Convict Eighty-seven, Colin Briarley, picked up his kit and obediently followed the warder. So he was going to go back to Mardlehurst! That left just the bare possibility that Colin might be able to work a change back.

When he was transferred to Durham he had taken it for granted that his ruse would inevitably be discovered. Colin would get a period of solitary confinement on bread and water—which he would not mind very much. He himself would be tried for allowing a convict to escape. He would be dismissed from the service in disgrace and would probably be sentenced to six months' or a year's imprisonment.

Blue Eye Makeup Glamorous for Occasions After Dark

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Have you little eye-maker-uppers tried any of the blue mascara on your lashes? Eyelash colorings do not have to be black and brown always. For evening wear there are rich shades of blue that some women find most engaging. Or should I say the men find them engaging, the women engagement-getting? Anyway, it's just a tip for evening tryout. I did happen upon an acquaintance looking particularly radiant the other evening whose lashes and lids were done in the blue tinted manner.

It's most intriguing to see the way lids and lashes are being worked upon to lend depth and glamor and what it takes to create heart trouble in the opposite sex. But, as said often, here is the one area where it takes an artist hand to turn out the devastating eye surrounded with artificial coloring. One really ought to practice days before a public appearance. It's the one makeup job that can be done so badly it were better left alone by the crude and inexperienced hand. On the other hand, if it's going to add an iota to lovely woman's fatal charms, why not get the proper hang of it and go forth to conquer and to slay?

You understand, of course, that when you put blue on your lashes they look blue. That's why the night light is best for them when you're all dolled up anyway and nobody cares so long as the effect is good. For evening you can throw gold dust on your lids, too. But you mustn't blind with too much of the gold shadow.

One of our better cosmeticians recommends to the hazel eyed one, on evening mischief bent, a film of gray-brown powder with a glistening silver mauve atop, and brown mascara for the eye. An iridescent green shadow is recommended for brown eyes, with blue-green mascara for evening wear. For daytime use a smoky gray shadow over a blue eye and a clear blue color treatment of lashes is suggested for trial. But you see now how this eye makeup art is progressing. No longer is it just a dark, heavy smudge on lids and lashes.

Director Gets Case of Jitters on 'Reckless' Set

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Ted Healy's tonsils, May Robson's arrangements for Christmas dinner on Long Island, and "Man Mountain" Dean's whiskers have Victor Fleming, director of "Reckless" in a state of the jitters at Metro.

Healy was bothered with a sore throat last Saturday. He consulted a physician Sunday and allowed himself to be persuaded to be divorced from his tonsils. It wasn't a painful operation, but Healy still can't talk from the effects of it. As a consequence all his hilarious scenes with May Robson in the Jean Harlow-Bill Powell story have had to be postponed since Monday, much to the perturbation of Miss Robson, who was counting on completing her rôle in the story next week, in good time to get to the home of her son, Edward Gore, New York business man, for the start of the holidays.

"Man Mountain" Dean, 315 pound professional wrestler who has been turning the other human hippopotami upside down around Los Angeles for the last year, was signed for a freak featured rôle in the film, and the first thing Dean offered to do was shave off the luxuriant beard which makes him so picturesque in the ring. Fleming said he would shoot Dean and the barber too if a razor touched those whiskers. He has Dean wearing a top hat and spats in the picture.

Nancy, Jean Harlow's cook and admiring friend, fell and broke her arm last week and was removed from the hospital to her own home to recuperate. Nancy became so lonesome she wrote Jean a note asking to have Oscar over to spend the time with her. Oscar is Jean's 2¼ pound toy Pomeranian. After Oscar had been there a couple of days he fell sick of lonesomeness and change of diet, and Jean sent a veterinarian to bring him back home, so both Oscar and Nancy are under treatment in the servants' quarters in the Harlow ménage.

Don't be surprised if you read shortly the formal notice of the engagement of Homer Griffith, Chicago Cardinals football half back, to Florine Dickson, one of the younger actresses in the Fox studio stock company.

Club Presidents Will Visit Radio Music Rooms Today

Four hundred members of the conference of club presidents will be guests of the Association of Arts and Industries this afternoon at the exhibit of radio music rooms in the Drake hotel that the association is sponsoring. Dr. Benjamin Van Riper, former president of Rockford college and state director of the Civil Works Educational Service, and Dr. Fritz Gutheim of the University of Chicago will address the presidents on the radio as an educational feature in the home. Eugénie Leontovich, actress, and Princess Orloff, dramatic reader, will appear on the program also. Louis Untermeyer, Michael Strange, and Thomas Wood Stevens also will speak.

dance, but those who want to attend both the St. James and the Arden Shore benefits are planning to dine at the church affair and have supper at the Casino.

Gov. Horner and Mayor and Mrs. Kelly are among those who will entertain guests at the Arden Shore party, and so will the Laird Bells, who are having a party of 18 to compliment two debutantes, Miss Deborah Butler and Miss Fanny McPherson; and the Thomas A. Connors, who will have 30 at their table. There will be several large Dutch treat parties, including one of 24 that the Ewing Webbs and the Norman Pritchards have gotten together. There are a few tables left.

Others Give Parties For Miss Butler.

Among other parties that have been and will be given for the popular Miss Butler is a dinner her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Houghteling, gave at the Casino Tuesday night before the hocky game, for which they had four boxes full of guests, and a dinner and hocky party the Arthur Cables will give for her on Dec. 30. Miss Butler is an ardent hocky fan.

Mrs. John I. Shaw, chairman of the house committee, and members of the board will pour at the opening of the second of the Junior league's art exhibits this afternoon between 3 and 6 o'clock at 664 North Michigan avenue. The oils and water colors of Mrs. Frederick C. Bartlett Jr., Mrs. Huntley Gilbert, and Miss Emeline Bush will be shown.

Massenet's "Manon," in which Hope Hampton made her debut with the Chicago Grand Opera company last Monday, will be presented in tabloid form by Miss Edna Kellogg this morning at the sixth intimate opera morning in the ballroom of the Blackstone hotel. Miss Hampton will attend Miss Kellogg's performance. Among the opera enthusiasts who attend this series are Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde, Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell, Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, and Mrs. Ernest R. Graham.

Mrs. Meeker will preside at a meeting the Friend of Opera will have this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Drake ballroom. After a musical program tea will be served.

Ashcraft-Alexander Nuptials Dec. 22.

A wedding scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 22, is that of Miss Jane Ashcraft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Ashcraft, and William Henry Alexander of Hinsdale, son of Mrs. Cyrus Hall Alexander of Rockford. The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the Ashcraft home on Woodlawn avenue, and will be followed by a reception.

Just relatives and close friends of the families—about 300 guests in all—will be present. Miss Betty Ashcraft will be her sister's only attendant, and Loren Oakes of Washington, D. C., will serve Mr. Alexander as best man. After Feb. 1 Mr. Alexander and his bride will be at home at 1118 Hyde Park boulevard. They will go south on their wedding trip.

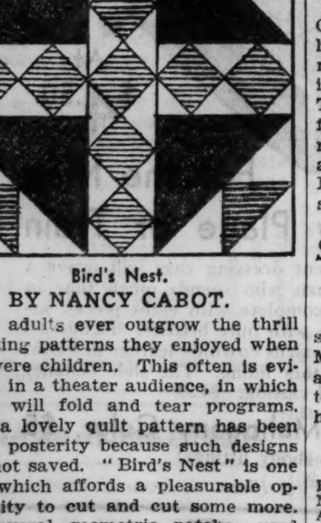
Added to the already crowded calendar of Christmas parties will be the prenuptial festivities for Miss Valerie Haight, daughter of the George Ives Haights, and Edward Allen Haight, who will be married at 8:30 o'clock in the evening of Jan. 1 at St. Luke's Pro-Cathedral in Evanston, with a reception following at the Haight home on Lake Shore boulevard, Evanston.

Among the parties planned for Miss Haight are a kitchen shower Mrs. Evan A. Evans of Greenwood boulevard is giving tomorrow afternoon.

A welcome visitor to Chicago is Mrs. Parmalee J. McFadden, who has been living in New York for the last year. She is with her daughter Marion and her husband, James P. Hume, who live at 21 East Elm street and who also will have with them for Christmas Miss Frances McFadden, a magazine editor in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Redmond Wright arrived yesterday and joined Mrs. Wright's father, Lawrence M. Viles, at the Ambassador for a holiday visit. Mr. Viles and their many friends have been expecting their arrival for more than a year, but ever since they came back early last summer from Paris, where they lived for several years, they have been in New York except for a flying trip Mrs. Wright made to Chicago early in the fall to help her father move to the hotel from his Astor street residence.

Quilt Pattern Is Based on Patches of Geometric Plan



Bird's Nest.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Few adults ever outgrow the thrill of cutting patterns they enjoyed when they were children. This often is evidenced in a theater audience, in which people will fold and tear programs. Many a lovely quilt pattern has been lost to posterity because such designs were not saved. "Bird's Nest" is one block which affords a pleasurable opportunity to cut and cut some more. The several geometric patches used in this design are cut in shades of yellow, orange, green, and white.

Patterns of this quilt design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

JUNIOR GIRL'S FORMAL DRESS.

This stunning little dress is just the type for juniors and young women. The new stiffened moire silk, in a soft café au lait shade, made the original dress. The quaint frill, picot edged, makes a flattering trimming, and the waist may be high, or one may have a deep, low cut decolletage at the back. Another delightful suggestion is to use a bright fuchsia slipper satin.

The pattern, No. 3454, comes in sizes 11, 13, 15, and 17 years.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

An opportunity to see W. Somerset Maugham's latest play is provided this week by the Goodman theater, where the Grade A students of the school of acting are having a fling at the British accent in "For Services Rendered." This is one of the most dismal dramas that have been written since Maurice Maeterlinck moped his way through fogs of mysticism and Henrik Ibsen revealed to the world the dreadful truth concerning small town life in Norway.

"For Services Rendered" is a bitter pill about post-war conditions in England. Fifteen years after the armistice, according to Mr. Maugham, human wrecks are still to be found in profusion, snarling like the club grouch after the house committee has had a spasm of redecoration. One of the characters is a tyrannical blind man; another an ex-navy officer on the verge of bankruptcy and arrest; still another is a drunken oaf disgracing his former rank as officer and gentleman. The girls are husbandless and yearning for men. The mother of the family alone is reconciled to life, but she cannot contribute a note of cheer, because Mr. Maugham diagnoses her case as cancer.

For a thumb-nail report to the faculty: Stagecraft, good; British accents, fair to medium; makeup, generally too extreme but well studied; excess of melodramatic vigor in the emotional passages. Honorable mentions for Duane McKinney, Tom Collins, and Miss Lighton Carey.

Dennis King's arrival in Chicago Christmas eve in "Petticoat Fever" has been conditioned upon the play's reception in Philadelphia, where it is having its first acting this week. The verdict was favorable, and therefore the Selwyn theater is being made ready for the première. The piece is a comedy of adventure which gives Mr. King a chance to use his gift for song.

ENGAGEMENT

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Manget of Dallas, Tex., of the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Cyrus R. Smith of Chicago. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Dec. 29. Mr. Smith, who is president of American Airlines, was in Dallas last week-end, when the formal announcement was made, and he will return there for Christmas. Among the parties that will be given for Miss Manget before the marriage is a supper dance that Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt will give on Christmas Eve.

Toscanini Says No; Philharmonic Drops Opera Merger Plan

New York, Dec. 12.—[Special.]—The proposal to merge the New York Philharmonic Symphony orchestra and the Metropolitan Opera company, which has been agitating musical circles here since the resignation of Giulio Gatti-Casazza as general director of the opera company, will not go through, it was announced today at the office of the New York Philharmonic Symphony society.

The definite discarding of the merger plan, it was learned, was decided upon by the Philharmonic management and directors, following the receipt of a cablegram from Bruno Zirato, assistant manager of the orchestra, who went to Milan, Italy, to consult Arturo Toscanini as to the artistic merits of the merger plan.

Mr. Zirato reported that Maestro Toscanini, who is general musical director of the Philharmonic, as well as its principal conductor, believed "that the merger will not help either organization artistically." The giving of concerts by the Philharmonic orchestra at the Metropolitan would lower the artistic standard of the orchestra because of acoustic conditions at the opera house, the maestro declared.

Another of the bogies which has been sent skidding in the last few years of food study is the old scare statement that fried foods are in themselves hard to digest. As far as we can draw conclusions from the work which has been done on the subject this is not a fact. Fat offers no difficulties to the digestive tract if it is good fat, properly handled, and if the stomach is not constantly overloaded with it.

A crisp, golden brown on the outside of foods adds often to the palatability and puts no extra strain upon our inside machinery. It is only when foods which absorb fat quickly are cooked slowly in oils which are not hot enough to speedily form the outside, protective layer, that troubles may follow. This and one other factor. Fats, when overheated and allowed to reach the smoking point, are really breaking down, decomposing. In so doing they are forming products which not only are hard to digest but which often lend a burned or disagreeably sharp flavor to the foods.

Vegetables, particularly these blustering December days, are applicants for the frying kettle. They form a happy change from the conventional creamed, buttered, and baked foods we too constantly serve up to bored families.

Vegetable deep-fat frying is in itself simple, but a few tricks with fat and kettle are important to know if we would have the best of success. Most important of all, choose a good fat. It should be not too costly, easily handled, bland in flavor and odor, or free from odor and flavor altogether. But most important of all, frying fat must have what is known as a high smoking point. In other words, it must be able to become sufficiently hot for proper frying without reaching the point of decomposition, smoking, and smelling. Coconut, peanut, and olive oils smoke at low temperatures and are poor deep-frying fats. So also is butter. Certain of the vegetable oils, and the vegetable and animal solid fats are much higher in smoking point.

An iron or a heavy aluminum kettle is the choice for frying, with a wire frying basket to help in transferring the food from the fat and keeping it intact during the frying.

Since it is so important that fat should never smoke, the use of a thermometer is the best insurance against trouble. One can buy affairs which register temperatures up to 500 to 600 degrees F., and which may be fastened to the kettle side to prevent breaking. If no thermometer is available, fall back upon the bread cube test. If a dried bread cube browns in 60 seconds the fat is ready for doughnuts, fritters, or batter dipped vegetables. If it browns in 25 to 30 seconds it is hot enough for French fried potatoes.

It's most important to watch the fat temperature while frying vegetables, since many of them are so moist that they reduce the heat of the fat before we realize it and thus fail to become crisp and firm. With such vegetables as potatoes and egg plant it is best to soak them in salted water for about two hours, then dry them thoroughly before frying.

Most vegetables are delectable when dipped in egg and crums and fried à la croquette. Another grand idea is a combination of mashed potatoes and chopped, hard cooked eggs and parsley, shaped into croquettes, egged, crummed, and fried. Mashed sweet potatoes molded into balls around marshmallows, then dipped and fried, are delightful surprises.

Occasionally vegetables such as onions in rings or thin egg plant slices may be dipped in fritter batter and fried to golden crispness.

Mme. Rethberg Reaches Peaks in "Lohengrin"

THE CAST.

King Henry I	Chase Baromeo
Elsa	Elisabeth Rethberg [debut]
Count of Telramund	Carl Schiffeler
Ortrud	Eleanor LaMance
Lohengrin	Mario Chamlee
King's Herald	Frederic Jencks
Conductor	Henry Weber

The program:

"Now let every tongue adore Thee!"	Bach
"Homing"	Del Riego
"Lift Thine Eyes!"	Logan
Lullaby	Brahms
"The Mascot of the Troop"	Victor Herbert

BY EDWARD MOORE.

"Lohengrin" had been presented earlier in the season by the Chicago Opera, but this performance had so many new and important features that it deserves a special mention of its own.

The operagoer must be hard to please who is not willing to admit that Mme. Rethberg's artistic equipment makes her just about the Elsa that Wagner would have liked to see in his own lifetime. Voice, looks, manner of singing, traditions of the Wagnerian drama, all are at her command and all were in full evidence last night. Not since Claire Dux sang the part out in Ravinia has there been approach, manner, and song to approach that of Mme. Rethberg in this performance's first act, and what was done in the first act was only a forerunner of what happened later. It was something to remember for a long time.

And the same operagoer must be still more exigent not to applaud Mr. Chamlee's "Lohengrin." Here was a characterization marked by youth, ardor, dignity, and a voice that sometimes caressed and sometimes illuminated the notes of the score. In past seasons one has become acquainted, not to say enthusiastic, over this artist's dealings with French and Italian opera, but this was a new phase for him. This is one of a large number of rôles in which there is a temptation to say that he has everything.

And Mr. Schiffeler, who was ill at the other performance, showed that he was just about ideal for Telramund in this one. And Mr. Jencks delivered himself not only correctly but stirringly of the difficult music of the herald. And Miss La Mance received a spontaneous and well deserved burst of applause after her scene in the second act. And Mr. Baromeo is the one person whom I would choose to sing the part of King Henry in all future performances of this work. Likewise Henry Weber continues to score as one of the brilliant, learned, and alert conductors of this generation.

It was Association of Commerce night, and as a sign thereof the organization's glee club sang a brief but stirring program under the direction of Arthur Dunham. It was a case of good amateurs ranging themselves alongside of good professionals, and this is not intended as a term of reproach, either. Sometimes one wonders the spirit, the love of music, not to mention the good tone and careful drilling of the amateurs, does not put them pretty well on equal terms with their professional brethren. At any rate, those who were too late for this part of the evening missed something.

GALA CLOSING NIGHT

If every one who said last night "I must get tickets for it" after hearing George Rossetter talk for two minutes during an entr'acte at the opera about the gala performance that will close the season on Saturday night of next week does so the ticket committee, headed by Mrs. Jacob Baur and Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, won't have much work to do to fill the great Civic Opera house for the operatic high jinks.

Not all of the program will be stunts, however, for only the last half will be lowbrow and the first half will be highbrow enough to please the most serious opera devotee. The first act of "Traviata" and the triumphal scene from "Aïda," with the ballet, will be among the serious things given and a quartet from "Martha," mounted on tricycles, and a German band in costume, led by Dr. Frederick Stock, will be among the stunts.

Mrs. Ernest R. Graham and her sister, Miss Anna Fitziu, are general chairmen of the committee in charge, and Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick is in charge of a cabaret opera supper that will follow the performance at the College Inn. Miss Barbara Eldridge is chairman of a junior committee that will assit in the sale of tickets and boxes.

Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis is chairman of the committee formed to interest the public in the gala closing.

One evening I had the opportunity to inspect original handwritings of many famous persons of history, literature, and art. They made me realize many things with a jolt!

It's quite a disturbing thought, isn't it? Just a line of writing and all the pretty stories that our great-great-grandchildren will have heard about us will be destroyed.

The handwriting of George Washington especially interested me. Here is the way he wrote his name:

GWashington

This is certainly not the George of "cherry tree" fame! From our school days most of us visualize an austere, reserved, aloof man who hardly lived on our mortal plane.

But he left a signature and hundreds of years later our hearts can warm to its revelations through graphology.

This is the handwriting of a true he-man, interested in sports, sociable, likable, and quite talkative, who thoroughly appreciates a good meal or a good time.

George Washington obviously had a wonderful sense of humor. Notice that wavy t-bar especially. It tells us that our first President thoroughly enjoyed a good joke. Combined with the vigor and the spontaneity shown, he probably had a hearty laugh.

Does all this coincide with your school book impressions? Not mine!

Notice the connecting stroke between his first initial and the last name. "Executive ability with some stubbornness," says that stroke. The base line says—"intuitive and inspired at times." The letter "o" says, "I am outspoken in my views, even though I know how to be so without antagonizing others." The whole writing shouts, "I know how to handle people and I do!"

Signatures of great men certainly remind us that after all they were human beings who laughed and loved and worked even as we do.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

MORE ABOUT THE TWO BID.

In the last few articles I have dwelt on those situations which are the least easy to handle, because no trump fit could be found. Therefore, the opening bidder had to play for game in his own suit, trusting that the trumps would not be massed in one hand against him, while the slam angle receded to the background, as "probe bidding" could not be introduced to locate the critical king. Responder might hold this king, but still be unable to carry on to slam. I showed you the worst first. Usually things go very differently—the two-bid is essentially characteristic of a versatile hand, so that in most cases a trump fit is found in good time to allow any necessary probe bids by which, after the trump suit has been raised and thereby settled, you can ascertain whether to bid for game only or, more frequently, for small or grand slam. The opening bidder must be prepared to let the partner play the hand in his suit whenever the proper fit is in responder's suit.

Sp.—A K Q x x Di.—A K
Ht.—K Q J Cl.—A K x

You bid two spades, and your magnificent partner bids three clubs. You know he has at least five headed by Q J. No losers in clubs. Bid four clubs to settle the trump suit. Now, if he bids four hearts, showing the ace or a void, bid seven clubs; otherwise, six clubs. Abandon any idea of playing in spades; there may be a spade loser if spades are trumps, but with clubs as trumps no spade can be lost. In a tournament, where the higher trick score must be considered, your partner should bid four spades over four clubs if he has x x x x or J x x, telling you that the hand will probably play as well in spades as in diamonds. In rubber play he need not do so. If your heart holding were A Q J, you would, after raising the clubs, make a probe bid in hearts on the next round, trying to locate the king for grand slam purposes. That is, if you must have a certainty. Most of us would bid it anyway, even if partner denied the king, expecting either to win the finesse or, preferably, that the spades would provide enough discards to take care of the losing hearts in the responder's hand.

Sometimes Your Should Let Your Partner Play the Hand at Three No Trumps

With

Sp.—A K Q J x Di.—K Q J
Ht.—K Q J Cl.—A x

if the bidding went two spades, three clubs, your best bid is three no trumps, as it may be easier to make nine tricks than ten. Your partner should pass unless he has a second bidable suit, or else has x x x in spades and so can take you to what will thereby become the safer, easier contract of four spades. Of course, if your partner's response had been two no trumps and not three clubs, you would have to play the hand in spades, as now the timing will be against you in no trumps. They are likely to lead clubs and lead them again when they get in with their red aces. The timing may also beat you in spades, but you will have a better selection of playing resources and a better chance of making some use of the dummy hand. In tournament play it would be advisable to play the hand in spades even if your partner bid clubs, because of the honors. You would not jump to four spades, but calmly bid three on the second round, availing yourself of your partner's duty not to pass any bid below the game level.

An Obvious Inference.

As you know, all our slam bidding is founded on the process of eliminating losers. When your partner makes a two bid there are very few losers to eliminate. When you are able to bid a suit as your response, and he raises your suit, now you know that at least one and usually two losers are eliminated, as he could not have justification for his raise unless he had one or more losers in your suit. To raise, he must have at least three trumps for you. One must be a loser, as you could generally not have bid without either the king or queen-jack. Even if you have bid on a six card suit lacking the queen or better, the fact that you have at least nine trumps in the two hands should eliminate one presumptive loser from the opener's holding.

NIGHT GAMES APPROVED BY NATIONAL LEAGUE

PERMITS EACH CLUB TO BOOK SEVEN CONTESTS

Cubs to Cut Rates for Children.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 12.—Night baseball, frowned upon by the majors during the seven years of its vogue in the high minors, will be played in the National league next summer. If any club plays more than seven games at home, however, the offending teams will be subject to $15,000 fines and confiscation of the gate receipts.

Permission to schedule night games was asked by the tail-end Cincinnati Reds. The Cubs, St. Louis Cardinals, Boston Braves, and the Reds sponsored the resolution. The Philadelphia Phillies favored the innovation with the reservation that they might change their minds. The New York and Brooklyn clubs opposed the proposition without reservations, and the Pittsburgh Pirates said "No" with the privilege of changing to an affirmative attitude.

None Obligated to Play.

It ultimately was decided that each team could book as many as seven games at home. No club is obligated to accept an invitation to play a night game on the road.

None of the magnates publicly announced plans to install lighting plants, which are said to cost from $25,000 upward.

President Phil K. Wrigley of the Cubs, who was a leading supporter of the Cincinnati Reds, stated immediately after the meeting that he will not install a lighting plant, but that the Cubs will support the experiment by accepting invitations from teams which do play night games.

Wedge for More Night Games.

The importance of the action was not found in connection with the number of night games in prospect for 1935, but rather in the fact that a long taboo proposition at last had entered a wedge which may see a spread to proportions now existing in the International and Pacific Coast leagues and the American association, as well as throughout the bushes, where night games are played at the discretion of the home club as to number and dates. Incidentally, the Los Angeles Wrigley field is one of the most persistent employers of artificial light for games. Both the Los Angeles and Hollywood clubs of the Pacific Coast leagues play night schedules there.

After President Ford Frick had given out the announcement on the breakdown of opposition to night baseball, he also circulated a statement made by Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves, who has been honing to put racing whippets in the Braves' field.

Gem of Ambiguity.

Reporters, especially those from Boston, who have been all worked up over the matter, considered Fuchs' statement a gem of ambiguity and were greatly distressed when the gentleman refused to enlarge upon the typed handout.

The statement follows:

"Nothing will be done by me which will embarrass baseball or the National league. Under the constitution of the National league, betting, legal or otherwise, is prohibited in its ball parks, where baseball is played. I have and always will abide by the constitution of the National league.

"This statement is simply a reiteration of the only statement for publication ever issued affecting this subject or authorized by me as published by the Associated Press."

See a Loophole.

Those who studied the statement thought there might be a joker in the line "under the constitution of the National league, betting, legal or otherwise, in its ball parks where baseball is played." Some think the "where baseball is played" is a loophole and that Judge Fuchs has been given an out to quit playing baseball at Braves field by leasing the American league Fenway park for Braves games.

Commissioner Landis issued a brief statement in which he said "Judge Fuchs had assured him that no activities involving gambling will be conducted by the Boston National league club or on any properties under its control."

Dog track or no dog track, the Boston parks long have been the seat of the most spirited betting activity in either league. On days when a few hundred fans are scattered throughout the grandstand, an entire section in the right field pavilion is packed with gamblers who bet as high as $50 that each batsman will or will not reach first base, $100 that he will or will not score, etc. Bets of $500 on a specific phase of an ordinary game frequently have been recorded.

Naturally the Boston constituency has been puzzled at so much excitement over a $2 bet at a dog track when they have been legalized by the commonwealth.

Wrigley Fights for Cut.

The Cubs will admit children to Wrigley field next season at half price, Owner Wrigley announced.

Wrigley revealed that he argued for most of yesterday as to the advisability of the half-price charge for children under 17, but could get no cooperation from other owners.

Wrigley declared that unless the other owners changed their minds at tomorrow's joint meeting the Cubs would go ahead on their own next

NORTH CENTRAL WHIPS MAROON QUINTET, 39-22

Chicago Trails at Half, 23-9.

The University of Chicago's basketball team was defeated by North Central college, 39 to 22, last night at Naperville. The North Central quintet scored first and never was headed, leading the Maroons, 23 to 9, at the half.

The Maroons' passing game was erratic, and against the North Central combination of Yuknis and Burns, forwards; Spiegler and Young, guards, and Thumley, center, the Chicagoans were held almost without score. North Central shifted its lineup frequently, using 10 players. Eldred and Flinn were the Maroons' most effective scorers, gathering more than half their team's total between them.

Len Yuknis led the North Central attack, getting six baskets and a free throw for 13 points. Capt. Young of North Central pressed Yuknis for honors with one basket and seven free throws for nine points. Lineup:

INDIANA, 31; HAMLINE, 29

Bloomington, Ind., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Acting Capt. Willard Kehrt's long field goal two seconds before the final gun gave Indiana a 31 to 29 victory over Hamline of St. Paul, Minn., here tonight.

A brilliant rally, led by Wally Zimmerman, 200 pound Hamline forward, cut down the 16 to 9 lead which Indiana held at the half and the contest turned into a nip and tuck battle in the last ten minutes. After Zimmerman had tied the score with two free throws, Ditz put the visitors ahead for the first time, 29 to 27, with a field goal.

Lester Stout, Hoosier forward, tied the score with an under the basket shot. Kehrt scored his only field goal of the second half to win the game a few seconds later. Zimmerman was high point man, with four field goals and six free throws. Stout led the Hoosiers with four baskets. Lineup:

PURDUE, 38; DE PAUW, 18

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Purdue's regulars started from scratch at the beginning of the second half here tonight after an assorted group of reserves had played DePauw to a 14 to 14 tie in the first 20 minutes of play and proceeded to romp off with a 38 to 18 victory. It was the second victory of the season for Purdue.

At one time in the first period the Boilermaker reserves held a 10 to 3 lead, but the visitors tied the score at the rest period. DePauw led only once, just after the start of the second half, when Hickman sank a long basket after Cottom had made good on a free throw. Once Purdue, led by Cottom, Kessler, and Shaver, hit its scoring stride it was all over. Kessler led the scoring with four field goals and one free throw. Lineup:

OHIO STATE, 32; MARIETTA, 21

Marietta, O., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Exhibiting a smooth, fast offense and backing up its play with reserve power, Ohio State's basketball team defeated Marietta college tonight, 32 to 21.

Ohio State was held fairly closely by a tight Marieta defense in the first half, but scored heavily in the second half while Marietta was held to only two long shots from the floor.

MINNESOTA'S GRIEVANCE.

Minnesota feels aggrieved by conference interpretation of the freshman rule which ends Big Ten eligibility of three members of its present national championship eleven. At most colleges of the country they would have another year of playing.

Big Ten colleges do not permit their freshmen to engage in outside competition—that is, in games against other colleges. Transfer students from institutions permitting such freshman competition, rather general outside the Big Ten, are penalized one year of their three year period of eligibility. That affects Stan Kostka, Bill Bevan, and George Svendsen.

Of course it would have been a generous gesture for the faculty committee which decides such matters to have made an exception in this case, but this faculty committee is somewhat of a stickler for strict rule interpretation and precedent and not given to generous gestures. In fact, Chicago lost in 1934 two veteran tackles which it needed more badly than the Gophers need these three players, and will lose another player next year, all on technical grounds similar in import to the freshman rule. Northwestern also lost two stars similarly.

Moreover, sympathy for the Gophers is tempered somewhat by current feeling that these players went to Oregon to be under Dr. C. W. Spears, former coach at Minnesota. When the latter returned to Wisconsin they found they could not return with him because of a hastily passed resolution that transfer students could not participate in football under a former coach. So they returned to Minnesota, their original high school habitat.

The Wake does not express opinion on the justice of the freshman rule. Personally we don't like it, but then we incline more toward utilitarian than wisdom rules, and are inclined to be more liberal than the professors. And at that, you know, the professors may be right.

So far as Minnesota, as Minnesota, being discriminated against, complaint is not justified.

Aunt Jane's Sentiments.

A box of candy nowadays
Don't mean much, seems as though,
But once 'twas really something
As a present from your beau.
A box of chocolates in those days
Was treated with respect;
Each morsel wrapped in golden foil
True glamor did reflect.

We made one last a long, long time,
And to this very day
The candy I eat out of sacks
Don't taste as good, some way.
It's nice, I s'pose, that one can get Them cheap on any street;
But I'm glad I lived Way Back When
Boxed candy was a treat!

Comfort, Harvard Star, to Quit School in Mid-Year

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Danny Comfort, center on the Harvard football team, announced today that because of financial reasons he was withdrawing from college after mid-year. Comfort also was a guard on the varsity basketball team.

ELIGIBILITY OF PACETTI, BADGER STAR, ATTACKED

Minneapolis Paper Brings Charges.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Mario Pacetti, star guard of the University of Wisconsin football team, was ineligible throughout the 1934 season, according to reports received by the Minneapolis Tribune and published today.

The Tribune stated it had learned that Pacetti had withdrawn from school during the winter and spring quarters of last year, but had returned in September, had taken and passed an examination, and was then ruled eligible to play football. The story went on to say the reason given for Pacetti's withdrawal was illness, but that the real reason was said to have been because he was not elected captain of the 1934 eleven.

Gophers Hint Investigation.

The Tribune then quoted the Western conference rule under which Pacetti is said to have been ineligible. It follows:

"No student having been a member of any college athletic team during any semester or quarter and not having continued in residence through that period shall be permitted to play in an intercollegiate contest thereafter until he shall have been in attendance six consecutive months."

The Tribune story was followed by opinions from University of Minnesota officials that the report of the Pacetti case may be the signal for a sweeping investigation of the eligibility lists of every member school of the Western conference. They pointed to the precedent set for such action in the reaffirmation of the Big Ten freshmen rule by the conference faculty committee in its annual meeting at Chicago last week.

Others Have Transfers.

That reaffirmation cost the Gophers the services of such stars of its 1934 championship team as Stan Kostka, Bill Bevan, George Svendsen, Art Clarkson, and Vern Oech, all of whom are barred from further conference competition. Gopher officials intimated other conference schools have a number of transfer students, who would be affected similarly by the freshmen rule, and that their records should also be examined.

BADGERS MAKE DENIAL

Madison, Wis., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—The story published today in a Minneapolis newspaper questioning the eligibility of Mario Pacetti, veteran guard on Wisconsin's football team, tonight drew from university officials a denial that there had been a violation of Big Ten rules. There had been no question of Pacetti's eligibility, officials said.

Pacetti, officials explained, left school last February, just before first semester examinations, but he took one examination before he left and was given incompletes in his other courses when he furnished a medical excuse.

He returned in the spring and during the early summer months he made up his work and passed the examinations. University records show that the veteran guard is an excellent student. He also maintained a high scholastic average at Kenosha High school.

Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, Wisconsin athletic director, said tonight the Big Ten rule was interpreted to apply to athletes who dropped out to prolong athletic careers, but did not apply in case where athletes dropped out of school on the advice of physicians.

University officials and Pacetti vehemently denied the allegation that the veteran dropped out because he was not elected captain a year ago.

"I never had any other intention but to return to school this fall and play football," Pacetti said tonight.

Southern Methodist Elects 3 Captains for Next Year

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—The 1935 Southern Methodist university football team will not lack for leadership. The Mustangs, one of the first in the country to name co-captains, today elected three captains for next season. They are Harry Shuford, full back; John Wetsel, guard, and Mac Stewart, end. The three were named by Coach Ray Morrison, who settled the matter after a close vote.

Bears, Cards Lead Pros in Gains, Defense

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Although the New York Giants won the 1934 National league professional football championship, they were far from the strongest offensive and defensive team in the league.

Offensively, according to final statistics released today, the Bears for the second consecutive season were the outstanding ground gainers. A year ago they established a pro record with 3,029 yards gained. This year, with Bronko Nagurski and Beattie Feathers leading their offensive, the Bears stepped up the pace with 3,750 yards for the season, an average of 288.4 yards per game.

Cardinals' Defense Best.

The Detroit Lions, the Green Bay Packers, and the Boston Redskins also surpassed the 1933 record. The Lions rolled up 3,510 yards, the Packers 3,372, and the Redskins 3,351.

The Chicago Cardinals made less yardage than any of the other eight teams in the league, but they had the best defensive record, holding their opponents to 1,578 yards in 11 games, an average of 143.7 yards per game. Detroit was the only other team to have a defensive record under the 2,000 mark, the Lions yielding 1,960 yards in 13 games, an average of 150.7 yards.

Passing honors went to the Giants, who completed 63 in 154 attempts for an average of .409 per cent. The Packers were only a fraction behind with 73 completed passes in 188 attempts.

No Tie Games.

Sixty league games were played during the season, and not a single one ended in a tie, giving additional support to the effectiveness of having the goal posts on the goal line and encouraging field goals. More than 20 per cent of the games were decided by a margin of 3 points.

Conference Rule Bans Robinson at Notre Dame

Notre Dame, Ind., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Johnny Robinson, Notre Dame's star center, learned today he had finished his football career because of the reaffirmation of the Big Ten freshmen rule.

Although Notre Dame is not a member of the Big Ten, it observes the conference's rules. Robinson played one season on Notre Dame's B team, which participated in an intercollegiate schedule in 1931. He played on the Irish varsity in 1933 and '34.

Loss of Robinson, a severe one to Notre Dame, leaves the center position wide open for next season.

The team returned quietly from Los Angeles today. There was no fanfare or cheering thousands at the station. Only 200 townsfolk greeted the squad. Classes were in session at school. University officials had decided too much time had already been taken from class work by celebrations for the team.

Mendiola Fights Draw with Valentin Angelmann

Baer Wants Hamas, Lasky in Same Ring

Cleveland, O., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Champion Max Baer is really in earnest, it now appears, in his proposal to meet Art Lasky and Steve Hamas, both on the same night, with his heavyweight title at stake.

It's strictly a matter of business with the champ, based on his belief that a double header for the world's biggest fistic crown probably would attract one of the largest fight crowds in history.

Sees Huge Gate.

Asserting it would be the first time the heavyweight championship has been risked twice on the same program, Baer estimates the gate receipts would approach a cool million dollars, with his own share of the total running between $300,000 and $500,000.

Max's proposal is to meet Lasky in the first of the two bouts, each scheduled for 10 rounds. The winner, then, either the old champion or a new one, would rest five minutes and take on Hamas.

Each of the three would be in condition for 20 rounds of boxing, and Max believes the winner of the first bout would be in perfectly good shape to enter the second.

In fact, Baer hints, there is little likelihood the first bout would go its full length, for both of the contenders would be trying for a knockout.

Would Draw Lots.

Max is willing to draw lots, he says, to decide whether Lasky should be scheduled for the opening bout and Hamas for the second, or vice versa. At the present moment the champion regards these two as the foremost of the heavyweight hopefuls.

Baer's view of the whole proceedings is that he probably could make more money for himself and the challengers and at the same time give the fight fans a better show by putting on a double performance instead of meeting Hamas and Lasky on two different cards.

Brisk betting was under way yesterday on the outcome of the heavyweight scrap between Joe Louis and Lee Ramage at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

The first big wagers went down. A few of them reached the four figure class. They revealed the tremendous popularity the slashing Detroit Negro has gained through his series of knockout victories.

The Louis backers were willing to bet and bet heavily at even money. They could not find it anywhere. So they were willing to bet 6 to 5 and there is a strong possibility that Louis will be 7 to 5 by the time they strip for action.

Ramage Can Box.

The wagering got under way soon after both the big fellows had engaged in their final workouts. Their drills kept a large crowd at Trafton's gymnasium engaged for a good part of the afternoon.

Ramage worked first and he gave a dazzling exhibition of speed and boxing skill. Still he didn't display a knockout punch. Of course, he isn't a Jim Corbett in any sense of the word, but he boxed a good deal like the skilful master of hard straight punches did when he was in his prime.

Ramage doesn't appear to be a fellow who will floor a foe with one punch. Still he hits hard and tosses the kind of blows that sooner or later, providing enough of them land, will cut a foe into ribbons.

The impression Louis gave was just the opposite. He has plenty of natural boxing skill, but he was hitting and hitting hard in his last long rehersal. His sparring partners were glad it was over when the final bell tapped.

"Say, Joe, I understand there's soon to be a Negro heavyweight champion," a fan shouted as Louis made his way toward the dressing room.

Joe Tells a Story.

Then Louis demonstrated that he can tell stories as well as fight.

"That reminds me of a story I've heard about Duke Slater, the colored football star at Iowa a few years ago," he told a group of friends.

"Slater had just played a great game for Iowa against Northwestern. When the game ended a fan yelled out at him, 'Say, Duke, I understand Iowa will have an all-colored team next year.'

"'Now, mister, don't let those stories scare you,' Slater replied."

Before he took his final drill Louis signed for a battle in Detroit with Patsy Pirroni on the night of Dec. 28. This will be another one of those step up the ladder affairs, provided he can slash his way to victory over Ramage in the Stadium ring.

Leonard Is Impressive.

The crowd at Trafton's also watched Kid Leonard, the Moline middleweight, engage in a lively drill. His foe on the same card Friday night will be Teddy Yarosz, the middleweight champion.

Leonard never appeared better than he did in this final drill but at the same time the champion was working out at the Catholic Youth Association gym and he too was making quite an impression on the ringsiders who were privileged to see his drill.

LAKE FOREST TRIUMPHS, 27-25, AT MILWAUKEE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 12. — Lake Forest, Ill., college defeated the Milwaukee School of Engineering basketball team tonight, 27 to 25. The visitors, who led the half, 15 to 8, were in front all the way.

Al Dalton, center for the engineers, topped the individual scorers with 10 points on four field goals and two free throws. Emery of Lake Forest had nine points. Each squad sank seven free throws. The teams will meet again Saturday night in Lake Forest. Lineup:

RACE OFFICIALS JOIN IN U. S. WAR ON DOPING

Promise to Stamp Out Peril to Turf Sport.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 12.—Racing commissioners from six states meeting here today revealed that a horse drugging syndicate, with ramifications from Canada to Florida, has been turning hundreds of gallant turf thoroughbreds into hopheads.

At the same time, information leaked out in New York City that prisoners among nearly a thousand drug peddlers rounded up in a nationwide drive against the drug evil last week have admitted to federal authorities their connections with gangs doping horses at more than a dozen of the bigger tracks.

Following the discoveries United States Narcotic Commissioner Harry A. Anslinger directed agents—who arrested several needlemen at tracks in the Chicago area last spring—to renew their vigilance at southern courses, particularly Tropical Park, which opens Friday at Miami.

Commissioners Promise Aid.

The racing commissioners promised full coöperation, adding that they would institute a campaign of their own to stamp out the activities of the drug ring on the turf.

"Florida will take the initiative in purging its racing of the drug menace," declared Walter F. Donovan, secretary of the Florida commission, "I feel the use of stimulants of any sort for horses should be eliminated for all time. We will adopt the saliva test on two winners a day at every track there.

"If any person shall administer a drug or stimulant internally or by hypodermic methods prior to a race, or shall use in any race any appliances, electrical or mechanical, other than whip or spur, this offender shall be ruled off the turf."

Agents on Way South.

Federal agents, who are already en route to the Fair Grounds at New Orleans and to Tropical Park in Miami, are reported to have obtained important information from those already under arrest against dopesters whom they hope to seize there.

Included in these gangs are several women. They are used as decoys by the actual drug handlers to form acquaintances with stable employés and establish contacts that will enable the needlemen to gain access to the stalls of the steeds they wish to drug.

While the saliva test is presumed to be positive proof that a horse has been tampered with, many competent turfman say they can tell at a glance whether a horse has been run "hot" or "cold." With two horses of equal merit, one stimulated and the other run cold, the hopped horse generally shows to advantage.

Kenosha Quintet Beats Irving Park 'Y,' 35-32

The Ke-Nash-A basketball team of Kenosha, Wis., defeated the Irving Park Y. M. C. A. heavyweights, 35 to 32, last night on the Irving Park Y floor. In a preliminary game, the Guy Bush girls beat the Irving Park Y girls, 32 to 27.

Irene's Bob Sets Mark at Fair Grounds

New Orleans, La., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. E. B. Shipp's Irene's Bob showed an amazing streak of speed in the 5½ furlong Lake Charles handicap, which featured the program at the Fair Grounds today, to triumph by five lengths and shatter an eight year old track record.

The 5 year old gelding broke on top, took a four length lead in the first half mile, and kept drawing out through the stretch run, although he was not under urging. Counselor Crane, racing for Riley and Meeker, finished second, half a length before Frank Seremba's Zekiel.

Irene's Bob Clips Record.

Irene's Bob covered the sprint distance in 1:05 flat, clipping two-fifths of a second off the track record set in 1926 by the 5 year old Tester. Tester carried 120 pounds, however, while Irene's Bob's inpost was only 107.

The easy victory of the Shipp racer was the more surprising since he was elevated from claiming company to meet handicap racers in the Lake Charles.

A surprise was staged in the secondary feature, the 5½ furlong juvenile race which was fourth on the card. F. P. Letellier's Exotude, paying $22.80 straight, scored by a length over W. L. McCue's Little Duke, with Benediction third. The 13 to 10 choice Hannah Anne also ran.

Exotude Wins in Drive.

Exotude raced in front after the first quarter and won in a drive, although tiring. Little Duke stayed with the pace all the way and held on well.

Exotude covered the distance in 1:07 2-5, two and two-fifths seconds slower than the time made by Irene's Bob, although each carried the same weight.

Plan to Fly Polo Ponies Here for Game

Snowdrifts blocking the roads from Culver, Ind., to Chicago may force the Culver Military academy polo team to transport its ponies here by plane for the cadets' game against the 106th Cavalry trio at the Chicago Riding club Saturday night.

Maj. B. F. Hoge, director of polo activities at the academy, fearing that any time lost on the road would endanger the health of the Culver mounts because of the prevalence of pneumonia, has arranged with a local air service to have a fleet of planes ready to fly to Culver in case the plan is carried out.

The game between the 106th and Culver will be a preliminary to the match between the 122d Field Artillery team and the Black Horse Troop. The Artillery trio holds the Metropolitan league and western low goal titles, and has been playing together for the last three years. Members of the team are Lieuts. Art Zimmerman, Cliff Harrison, and Carl Johnson. The only defeat suffered by the Black Horse Troop in five games this season was administered by the 122d trio. The Black Horse team is composed of Lieuts. Roy D. Keehn Jr., William F. Kirby, and Jack Armstrong.

URGE BAN ON RACES OF LESS THAN ONE MILE

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—The National Association of Racing Commissioners, completing a three day meeting here, today adopted a recommendation that races of less than a mile for 3 year olds and over be abolished. The move was made unanimously on the theory that it would improve the general type of racing thoroughbreds.

The commissioners also adopted a number of other recommendations, all of which will be presented before the annual meeting of the group next month in Florida. Among the items to be considered will be the barring of all minors and employés of race tracks from the betting sections, the elimination of public telephones, the application of all pertinent rules to harness racing as well as running events, and the use of pari-mutuels at all tracks.

TURNESA AND ESPINOSA TIE FOR MIAMI GOLF LEAD

Pair Deadlocked with 219 at 54 Holes.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Aided by the abatement of a cold wind that knocked the scores of earlier finishers into a cocked hat, Abe Espinosa of Chicago and Mike Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., came home today with near perfect cards to tie at 219 and lead the field at the 54 hole mark in the $12,500 Miami Biltmore open golf tournament.

A long chip shot on the 18th green that dropped into the cup enabled Turnesa to chalk up a pair of 36s for a 72, one over par, and tie Espinosa, who posted 36—37—73.

Lead White by Stroke.

Their scores bettered by one stroke the 220 collected by Orville White of St. Louis, who a short time before had blasted Olin Dutra, national open champion from California, out of the lead, where he had been perched since the start of the 72 hole tournament.

Dutra went out in 37 today, two over par, but fell victim of the stiff wind on the incoming nine and took a bad 41. His 144 led Espinosa at the 36 hole mark by two strokes.

White, who reached the halfway post three strokes behind the national open champion, picked up a 34, one under perfect figures, on the outgoing nine today, but also was hampered by the wind on the incoming route and took 39 for a 73.

Only Eight Break 75.

Turnesa, who posted a 36 hole score of 147, succeeded in picking up six strokes on Dutra today to advance to a tie with Espinosa in first place.

Only eight golfers from the reduced field of 137 succeeded in breaking 75 today.

Winding up his third 18 hole round shortly after Espinosa and Turnesa had finished, Clarence Clark of Bloomfield, N. J., a second division entry, posted a 37—39—76, which with his 36 hole score of 148 placed him next back of Dutra with a 224.

Following the four leaders was Maurie O'Connor of Belleville, N. J., who shot a 76 today for a three round aggregate of 225. Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, Va., and T. Philip Perkins of Willoughby, O., were next, tied at 226. The diminutive Cruickshank matched Turnesa's 72 on today's round to bring himself into contention.

Eleven Deadlocked at 227.

Following these, eleven other golfers, including Willie MacFarlane, former national open titleholder from Tuckahoe, N. Y., and the defending champion in the present tournament, were deadlocked at 227. Among the others at this figure were Tom Armour of Chicago, Horton Smith of Oak Park, Ill., and John Farrell of Short Hills, N. J.

The final 18 hole round will be played tomorrow.

ASA LONG WINS CHECKER TITLE IN 37TH GAME

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Asa Long of Toledo dethroned Newell W. Banks of Detroit as world checker champion today by scoring his seventh victory in the series that ended after 37 games. Banks was the victor in only three matches and 27 resulted in draws.

Long first won recognition as one of the country's best players in 1922 when he was a junior in high school at Toledo. That year he captured the first place in the fifth American tournament at Boston and in 1929 he repeated at Cedar Point, O.

Edward F. Hunt, winner of the eighth American tourney last August at Jamestown, N. Y., will probably be Long's first challenger, the winner to meet Robert Stewart of Scotland, next summer at London or Glasgow.

Until his defeat in the series which ended today Banks had been match champion of the United States since 1910.

Londos Throws Christy in Washington Mat Contest

Savoldi, McMillen Will Test Flying Tackles in Bout

Two former football stars matching flying tackles is likely to be the main course served by Doc Krone at the Coliseum Monday night when Joe Savoldi and Jim McMillen get together in the feature of a five bout card.

Both these athletes were famous for their tackling during their football careers and while McMillen has used it throughout his wrestling career, Savoldi abandoned it two years ago when he developed the drop kick. Now that the drop kick has been barred by the Illinois athletic commission, Savoldi may return to the flying tackle.

While most observers look for this plan of battle by both men, it is pointed out that Savoldi may cling to straight wrestling, a style in which he has become efficient in the last year. Prior to that he had depended upon his speed to beat his opponents with the drop kick.

A warning by the commission that any breach of the rules and the use of the drop kick will lead to permanent disqualification is likely to keep the Italian within the legal limits in this match. This may upset the defensive plans of McMillen.

C. Y. O. WINTER BOXING SERIES OPENS TONIGHT

Eddie Mileske, Jake Lampkins, Joe Lopez, and Harry Sparrow will meet in the feature bouts tonight at the C. Y. O. Center gym as the first of the weekly amateur cards scheduled for the winter season is held at 31 East Congress street. The opening match will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Mileske and Lampkins are considered two of the best welterweights in C. Y. O. boxing ranks. Mileske reached the finals of the 1934 tournament, losing to Frank McHugh in the 147 pound title bout at the Stadium last week.

Lopez, a 16 year old Mexican youngster who won the C. Y. O. flyweight crown at the Stadium, will face Harry Sparrow, who lost a hairline decision to Lopez in the title bout last week.

Other boys who will appear on tonight's card include Mitchell Janus, Jerry Lucas, Jimmy Featherstone, Tony Matise, and Vernon Denning.

The card:
130 pounds—Joe Stock vs. Tony Matise.
135 pounds—Wally Maka vs. Joe Hofer.
160 pounds—Syl Haydock vs. Jim Featherstone.
126 pounds—Vernon Denning vs. Larry Hoga.
135 pounds—Frank Matz vs. John Sieber.
147 pounds—Jerry Lucas vs. Mitchell Janus.
112 pounds—Harry Sparrow vs. Joe Lopez.
147 pounds—Jake Lampkins vs. Eddie Mileske.

COUCCI BRINGS IN 205TH WINNER ON LINE RIDER

San Mateo, Cal., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Silvio Coucci, New York's candidate for 1934 jocky honors, today rode his 205th winner of the year when he brought P. T. Chinn's Line Rider home winner of the mile feature race at Bay Meadows. The victory still left him trailing Maurice Peters, of Brantford, N. D., by seven victories.

With Peters' suspension of five days due to be lifted tomorrow, however, Coucci faces a difficult task before the end of the year. Today he sent the seven year old gelded son of High Time over the distance in 1:39 to beat San Romon by two lengths.

NATIONAL LEAGUE PLACES O. K. ON NIGHT BASEBALL

year. If the Cubs do this, it means absolutely no profit for them, since they must pay a flat rate to visiting teams on all admissions.

President J. Louis Comiskey of the White Sox had little comment to offer. He declared:

"We have been admitting youngsters to the bleachers for quite some time for a 25-cent admission. I don't think we'll extend this to the grandstand unless the league takes official action."

Will Use Same Ball.

President Frick announced several changes in baseball procedure not of general interest to the public and also made it known there will be no change in the lively ball adopted last year. He brought cheer to old time ball players when he said the league had decided to give life passes to all players who have served ten years in the majors, whether in the National or American leagues.

Major league managers sat about hotel lobbies moaning that they could not get the ears of their bosses anent prospective trades, said bosses being busy in the league meetings.

It was indicated, however, that the biggest trade of the meeting, which concludes with the joint conference tomorrow, will be concluded in the morning when Outfielder Lloyd Waner and Catcher Earl Grace will be transferred from the Pirates to the Phillies; Catcher Al Todd will go from the Phillies to the Pirates; Outfielder Hal Lee will go from Boston to the Pirates; Outfielder George Davis will go back to the Giants from the Phillies, and Pitcher Joe Bowman will transfer from the Giants to the Phillies. Cash will be splashed around here and there to make it a quadrangular transaction.

Sox Expect to Get Sewell.

Managers Charley Grimm of the Cubs and Bill Terry of the Giants hung around together during the afternoon. Grimm said he had made another effort to land either Carl Hubbell or Hal Schumacher but gave up the idea for good because Terry wanted Lon Warneke, Bill Lee and other Wrigley assets.

The White Sox representatives went to sleep convinced that after breakfast tomorrow they will be possessors of the deed to Catcher Luke Sewell of the Washington Senators.

Raise Waiver Price.

The National league raised the waiver price, lowered a couple of years ago, from $4,000 to $6,000, and reduced the time limit for exercising the waiver right from 5 to 3 days.

Reports for the year indicated that only the world champion St. Louis Cardinals showed a profit for 1934 in the National league.

Unofficial American league figures revealed during the day showed an increase of 832,000 over 1933 in the paid attendance of all eight clubs. The Yankees were the highest individual gainer with an increase of 250,000 paid. The best home clubs were the champion Detroit Tigers. The Yankees were second and the Red Sox third. On the road the Yankees outdrew all others, with Detroit second and Washington third.

Elmhurst Quintet Meets Wheaton Rivals Tonight

Elmhurst college will play its first Little Nineteen conference game of the basketball season tonight against its traditional rival, Wheaton college. Both the "B" and varsity teams will meet on the Elmhurst court.

Ken Strong Asks Baseball Trial with Brooklyn

New York, Dec. 12. — (AP) — Ken Strong, the professional football star, who showed promise as an outfielder until he injured a wrist playing football two years ago, thinks he can do a comeback and has asked permission to accompany the Brooklyn Dodgers on their southern training trip next spring.

Strong, who starred at baseball during his college days at New York university, was the property of the Detroit Tigers until the injury forced his retirement from baseball. Lately the wrist has been responding to treatment and Strong is willing to pay his own expenses south to prove that he can throw a baseball as well as ever.

Three generations of Giant third basemen are in the thick of the fanning bees which always accompany the major league powpows. Arthur Devlin, whose looks belie his years, was seen with Buck Herzog, who succeeded him, and the bald headed Heinie Groh, of bottle bat fame, who followed Herzog.

Capt. N. Bill Neall of the Louisville Colonels, who hasn't missed a big league meeting in years, is here. He is begging for a pair of infielders.

The dope is that the Boston Red Sox, who have added to their minor league holdings by acquiring the Charlotte club of the Piedmont league, will send Herb Pennock, former star southpaw pitcher, to Charlotte as president of the club. Pennock is on the Red Sox roster as a coach.

So far as buying and selling is concerned this has been the dullest major league session in years and even the managers are devising ways and means of livening up proceedings. Bill McKechnie, pilot of the Braves, favors locking all the managers in one room, having them name the men they wish to sell and then force them to sell such talent to the highest bidder.

Two of the old timers who came in for a lot of handshaking were square jawed Johnny Evers, former star second baseman of the Chicago Cubs, and Hans Lobert, the old Cincinnati third baseman who later coached baseball at West Point.

Grayson May Face Alabama in Rose Bowl

Stanford University, Cal., Dec. 12.—(AP) — Stanford university's football team, after extended time out to study for coming examinations, reopened practice today in preparation for the Rose bowl game with Alabama New Year's day.

The entire squad reported for work, including the former cripples, Buck Van Dellen and Bob Maentz. The injured list remained constant at five, however, as Stan Anderson and Claude Callaway occupied hospital beds. Anderson has pneumonia, and probably will not get into the game, Dr. Fritz Roth, team physician, said today.

Grayson May Play.

Bobby Grayson, full back, who has carried a cast over his ribs since the game with California Nov. 24, will be relieved of the plasters Monday, Dr. Roth said. If a light workout is not painful he may continue regular practice with the team.

"If Grayson gets into the Rose bowl game at all he probably will be in as good shape as at any time this season," the physician added.

Monk Moscrip, the other hospital boarder, is suffering from sinus infection in addition to an injured knee.

Topping's Leg Improves.

Callaway has a light touch of bronchitis. Keith Topping, Moscrip's running mate, whose ankle bruise is gradually improving, will work out next week.

The squad spent today running plays and beginning plans for a diversified attack on Alabama. Coach Claude E. [Tiny] Thornhill indicated the team will work on a number of frills to make a running attack function better against the crimson tide.

ALABAMA SPEEDS UP.

University, Ala., Dec. 12.—(AP)— Speeding up as a warmer sun made out-of-doors more comfortable, Alabama's football squad participated in an intensive workout today and probably will scrimmage tomorrow.

The squad was given another drill on fundamentals, went through a signal practice and took another squint at the plays Stanford's Cardinals may use against them in Rose Bowl on New Year's day.

Coach Red Drew has been busy diagramming Stanford formations for the coaching staf, Frank Thomas, head coach, reported tonight. There have been no training casualties.

30,000 SEATS SOLD.

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 12.—(AP)—With the game between Stanford and Alabama still three weeks away, approximately 30,000 of the 85,000 available seats for the Rose Bowl contest have been sold, Al Masters, Stanford graduate manager, announced today.

"At the present trend of the mail order business," said Masters, "the game promises to be a sellout."

KANSAS RAISES GOALS FOR AGGIE GAME TOMORROW

Lawrence, Kas., Dec. 12.—(AP)— Helping the "forgotten man" of basketball—the little fellow—is the avowed intention of Dr. F. C. [Phog] Allen of the University of Kansas, in his proposal to elevate the baskets to 12 feet above the court from their present 10 foot level.

Experimental games with the goals two feet above regulation height and several other innovations in effect will be played between Kansas and Kansas State college here Friday night and in Manhattan, Kas., next Tuesday.

"We hope to show that the higher baskets will equalize the shooting capabilities of the long and short men," Allen explained today. "With the higher baskets all will be required to shoot, and the 6 foot 7 centers won't be able to leap up and 'dunk' the ball through the hoop.

"There are several centers in the Big Six conference who measure around 6 feet 6 and over. I have a 6 foot 7 boy myself who can drop the ball through the basket."

Allen also says rebounds from the higher goals will be longer and thus relieve much of the congestion under the baskets.

Cambridge Soccer Team Defeats Oxford, 1 to 0

Mostly About Dogs

By Bob Becker

The Christmas Puppy.

THIS is the time of the year when thousands of puppies get a chance to learn about Santa Claus. Between now and Dec. 24, all kinds and descriptions of canine babies between the ages of 8 weeks and 4 months are going to be picked from kennels and stuffed into the stockings that Santa Claus will find hanging in thousands of homes on Christmas eve.

It is only natural, of course, that a dog fancier or a dog lover would advise giving a puppy to a child for a Christmas present. But there are many sound reasons why the puppy and child combination is a good one, especially for the child.

There aren't many inexpensive gifts for children that return dividends year after year. A dog does pay dividends and big ones, too. In fact the Christmas puppy is a gift that lives and pays dividends in companionship, loyalty, and protection for the child and the whole family.

There is hardly a breed to be chosen that will not naturally make a great pal for a child and immediately take over the responsibility of looking after its playmate and everybody in the house. The dog considers it not an obligation but a privilege to do this and every day you can read about some home dog that rises to an emergency to protect or save some member of the family.

Therefore, we always look on the acquisition of a puppy by a family as a move that actually adds a new member to the family circle. And the pup, barring accidents, is going to be a member of that family, a companion for everybody, a guard for the family car and a protector of lives and property for 10 or 12 years.

As a rule it is much better to get a puppy and have it grow up with a child than to acquire a mature dog, especially if the children are quite young. In the first place it is good training for the child to learn how to treat pets, how to feed and groom them, and how not to manhandle them. It is this phase of the child-puppy relationship that gives the youngster a sense of responsibility.

Another point about having the child grow up with a good puppy is this: If you bring in a mature, full grown dog this dog [if fairly good size] might play too roughly with a small child. The dog wouldn't intentionally hurt the child for anything, but it might gallop around [like our our 77 pound Labrador!] and not temper its romping with a proper consideration for the child's size and weight.

In trying to decide on the breed of your Christmas puppy, it is a good idea to consider the room you have for a dog in the apartment, small home, or house. Generally speaking, a small breed of dogs gets along much better in a small home. Large breeds need plenty of space and an opportunity for considerable exercise.

For example, a snappy little Boston terrier [a short hair dog] naturally would fit into a small apartment much better than a Great Dane. That doesn't mean that it is impossible to keep a Great Dane in an apartment. It can be done. In fact, we know of a handsome Great Dane getting along very well in an apartment on Lake Shore drive.

Just the same the safest general rule to follow in deciding on a breed is that the small ones are happier and healthier than large dogs when forced to live in relatively cramped quarters.

In buying the Christmas puppy it pays to do business with reliable dog breeders who have good stock. And if the pup is 10 weeks old, instead of six or seven, so much the better.

Maroons Pick '35 Football Pilot Tonight

Four hundred Maroon supporters, extending the capacity of the hall, will gather tonight at the University club at 6 p. m. to put finishing flourishes on the 1934 University of Chicago football season. The occasion is the annual banquet for the team given by local Alumni club.

Chief among the flourishes will be the election of a captain for 1935, award of major and old English letters, 1938 numerals, four special trophies given annually by the Order of the C., one for the most valuable player, one for the best blocker, one for the best tackler, and one for the most valuable player who received the least recognition. Coach Shaughnessy will present the varsity monograms. Freshman Coach Nelson Norgren will hand out the numerals and Judge Walter Steffen, head of the Order of the C. will make the trophy presentations.

Dr. A. R. E. Wyant, first Maroon football captain, and member of the Maroon teams of 1892-93-94-95, will be one of the speakers. Dr. Wyant holds a record which probably is unique in football annals. He played eight seasons of college football, four at Bucknell and four at Chicago, and played 88 games without being once relieved.

An honored guest is expected to be Frank G. Hoyne of Highland Park, now 80 years old, who was catcher on the baseball teams of the old University of Chicago in 1871 and 1872.

Other speakers will be Wilfrid Smith, sports writer of THE TRIBUNE, and Harry Swanson, who will present the report of the indignation committee of the La Salle Street Coaches' association.

RUTH WILLING TO ACCEPT DECISION OF LEAGUE HEADS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 12.—No matter what disposition of his case is made at the current major league baseball meeting in New York, Babe Ruth will be satisfied. The home run king, who is completing a barnstorming tour of the orient with other American league stars, said as much today.

"Baseball has been good to me," Ruth said. "Whatever its bosses do about me is O. K. I'm ready to quit if there is no place for me, but I want it made plain that I don't want to quit."

Ruth had already stated that he will not sign a player's contract, but would be pleased with one as a playing manager, preferably in the American league. He added that he is through as far as minor league clubs are concerned, whether as a player or manager.

Coulon Plans Double Windup for Midway Ring

Wildcats Seek Speed for Pitt Game Tomorrow

Efforts to find a faster starting lineup occupied the attention of Northwestern's basketball team yesterday as it prepared to step out into faster company tomorrow night against Pittsburgh at Patten gymnasium.

Coach Dutch Lonborg is still dissatisfied with the showing of his squad despite its two victories in as many starts this season.

In order to attain a faster combination Lonborg contemplates another lineup switch which will send Guy Mercer, accurate shooting sophomore, from guard to forward. Mercer shared the scoring honors with Lyle Fisher, veteran forward, against Wabash. His speed and clever ball handling is expected to be of greater value in the front court. Al Kawal will step into regular assignment at guard where his experience will serve to counterbalance a squad already top heavy with sophomores.

Opening games have left the center position still unsettled with two sophomores, Jess McAnally and Leo Grossberg, the principal candidates for the job. Both are rangy but do not possess exceptional speed. McAnally, the tallest of the pair, is expected to start against Pete Noon of Pitt, who is 6 feet 5 inches tall.

PITT NEXT FOR IOWA

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 12.—[Special.] —The University of Iowa basketball team will encounter its first big time opposition Saturday, when Pittsburgh comes to the fieldhouse.

Coach Rollie Williams' squad showed marked improvement in defeating Carleton Monday night, after the starting lineup had been revised. Dick Moran, Rock Island, Ill., sophomore, who started for the first time at a forward position, added scoring punch to the quintet.

DE PAUL SQUAD RESUMES DRILL FOR KALAMAZOO

De Paul university's basketball squad resumed intensive practice yesterday in preparation for its second game of the season Saturday night. The team, seeking its 20th straight victory, will meet Kalamazoo college at the De Paul gym.

Coach Jim Kelly probably will use the same lineup that defeated the University of Illinois Monday night.

This lineup included four sophomores, Ed Campion who alternated at forward and guard; Willie Phillips, forward; Nick Yost, center, and Bill Wend, guard.

Abolish Order Closing Gyms at 5 o'Clock

Howard P. Savage, business manager, and John Howatt, chief engineer of the board of education, yesterday rescinded the order which necessitated the turning out of lights in school gymnasiums at 5 o'clock. The action now permits Chicago Public High School league basketball teams to complete their games. Three contests in the last two days were abruptly ended because of the 5 o'clock closing rule.

Savage advised athletic officials of the league to notify engineers when games are scheduled so the lights in the buildings will be kept on. Two games were called off last Tuesday and the Englewood-Lake View heavyweight contest yesterday was ended early in the third period.

Lane Tech, winner of the University of Chicago Christmas week tournament last year, continued to set the pace in league practice games by defeating the Tuley heavyweights, 26 to 14, at the Lane gymnasium. Annel and Benzinger led the Lane Tech attack, the former scoring four baskets and Benzinger sinking two field goals and two free throws: Lineup:

St. Mel's basketball team will be one of the favorites in the first annual tournament sponsored by St. George High school of Evanston Dec. 19 to 23. Four mebers of last year's squad have returned this season. They are Clem Naughton, Red Palm, Paul Pare, and Eddie Neu.

Pare and Neu played on St. Mel's lightweight championship team last season. Coach Paddy Driscoll said he would use Naughton at center, Palm and Pare, forwards, and Neu in one of the guard positions. Nine other Chicago teams and quintets from downstate, Wisconsin, and Indiana will participate.

Mount Carmel will hold its annual football dinner in the grand ballroom of the Auditorium hotel tonight. The team will elect a captain for next year.

Proviso will seek its second straight Suburban league heavyweight victory against New Trier tomorrow night at Maywood. Proviso opened its league season by defeating Morton, 25 to 23, last Friday night.

WINDSORS WIN 2 GAMES; GET TOTAL OF 3,154

The La Salle-Windsors took the honors last night in the Classic Bowling league when they shot 3,154 at Petersen's alleys. This series included games of 1,108 and 1,106, which were good for two victories over the fourth place Vrba Motors. Scores:

HERE'S NEW GRID PRIZE: 100 YEAR OLD SUGAR BOWL

New Orleans, La., Dec. 12.—(AP)— A rather elaborate "sugar bowl" will go to the winner of the inaugural sugar bowl battle between Tulane and Temple here New Year's day.

In the nature of the Michigan-Minnesota little brown jug, but on a much grander scale, a 100 year old silver trophy has been set aside as a perpetual reward for winning the sugar bowl game. It was made in London in 1830.

The trophy is to be retained by the winning team and then put into competition again. A reproduction will be given each winner as a permanent possession.

WARNER DOUBTS WIN.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 12.—(AP)— Temple university's football team, drilling for their battle with Tulane at New Orleans, heard from Coach Pop Warner today that he "doubts" they can win.

Warner's "doubts" were expressed as the undefeated Owl squad attended the annual luncheon in their honor, given by the local Lions' club. Later they returned to Temple stadium for a drill in fundamentals.

15 HOCKY GAMES IN 31 DAYS TASK FOR BLACKHAWKS

Start Strenuous Program on Sunday.

Apparently satisfied with the showing made by his new front lines in the last two games won by the Blackhawks, Manager Clem Loughlin ordered Johnny Gottselig, Howie Morenz, Marty Burke, and Art Coulter off the ice at yesterday's practice and sent the rest of the team, with the exception of Doc Romnes, who was excused because of a minor knee injury, through limbering exercises.

The Hawk manager has ordered all players out for practice today. No ice will be available at the Stadium tomorrow or Saturday, and today's workout will be a final tuning up for the most strenuous schedule ever arranged for a National Hocky league team.

Beginning with Sunday's game against the Montreal Maroons at the Stadium the Hawks are booked to play 15 games in 31 days. Due to having the Toronto Maple Leafs game scheduled for Feb. 26 moved up to Jan. 15, the Hawks will be forced to meet the league leading Leafs and Montreal Maroons three times, the Canadiens, Detroit, and Boston twice, and St. Louis, New York Rangers, and New York Americans once each in 31 days.

The league scoring list shows that Tommy Cook's two points, made Tuesday in the 4 to 0 victory over Detroit, have sent him into a tie with Johnny Sorrell, Red Wings' left wing, for the United States section leadership. Each has made [illegible] points. Cook and Gottselig are tied with Ebbie Goodfellow, another Detroiter, for goal scoring honors. Each has made five goals.

BOOSTERS PLAY FLANDERS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 12.—The steady rise in high grade bonds continued today, while issues not so well secured were noticeably weak in a market where dealings were again well below normal. Volume totaled $11,664,000 par value, against $13,227,000 yesterday.

The fact that the recently subscribed for treasury bonds and notes were issued today had no effect on the market for outstanding issues. Trading the guaranteed obligations. The federal list as a whole closed 6-32d higher to 2-32d lower.

Gains Are Fractional.

Gains in high grade railroad, utility, and industrial bonds were limited to fractions, but in some cases these were enough to improve on the old high records for the year.

Exceptions to the declining trend in bonds of lower grade included Bush Terminal consolidated 5s and the building 5s, both of which have been actively sought in the last week; American Chain 6s and Paramount Publix 5½s. Pronounced weakness developed in some of the favorites, including American and Foreign Power 5s, "Katy" 5s of 1962 and the adjustment 5s, New Orleans, Texas and Mexico 5s, and Pittsburgh and West Virginia 4½s.

Italian bonds recovered further, led by the government 7s and Rome 6½s. German loans as a group failed to follow the foreign group into higher ground. Many German corporation and municipal loans lost a point or more, while the government issues were down fractionally.

Walgreen Stockholders Pick Two New Directors

J. W. Dart and C. R. Walgreen Jr. were elected directors of Walgreen company at the annual stockholders' meeting yesterday. They succeed E. E. Rueckert and Walter Schwanke. All other directors were reëlected. Mr. Rueckert was elected treasurer at the directors' meeting, and William Johnston was named assistant secretary.

Food Index Up Another Cent for Week to $2.46

Dun & Bradstreet's weekly food index gained another 1 cent to $2.46 during the week ended Dec. 11, compared with $2.45 in the preceding week and $1.93 on the same date last year.

West Penn Electric.

Answer: West Penn Electric company is a holding company controled by American Water Works and Electric company, Inc. Subsidiaries furnish electricity, gas, and interurban transportation to a population of 2,200,000 in 1,500 communities in Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia. About 87 per cent of gross comes from sale of electricity.

Operating revenues for the first nine months of 1934 totaled $24,149,000 and net income was $3,331,000, which was 5.24 times class A dividend requirements. For the corresponding 1933 period gross was $21,571,000 and net income was $3,329,000.

	Gross revenues.	Net inc.	Inc. per "A" shr.
1933	$29,269,000	$4,512,000	$37.87
1932	29,282,000	4,385,000	35.72
1931	34,517,000	6,412,000	69.93

Current assets on Dec. 31, 1933, totaled $8,651,000 and current liabilities totaled $6,684,000.

Securities preceding stock equity amounted to $143,508,000. Total assets were $251,912,000. There are outstanding $34,115,300 of preferred stock, followed by 59,258 shares of no par class A. The A stock is entitled to second preferred, cumulative dividends at the rate of $7 a year, subject to the preferred, and is redeemable at $115 a share.

The A stock is medium grade.

Life Insurance Companies.

Investors' Guide: Would like some information regarding the large life insurance companies. Is it true that certain large life insurance companies are not allowed to do business in certain states of the Union, such as Texas or Montana? If this is true which states bar life insurance companies within their borders and why should this be the case?—F. F.

Answer: No state bars life insurance companies from its borders. They do require life insurance companies, however, to take out a license and subject themselves to supervision by state authorities, pay fees, pay taxes, etc.

Where the amount of business available in a state is insufficient to warant setting up an agency, paying taxes, making reports, etc., or where the laws of a state are considered unreasonable by an insurance company it will not ask for a license to operate in that state and the company will not be permitted to operate within that state.

VALUE OF EDISON PROPERTIES SET AT $358,181,934

He testified that on July 1, 1934, physical properties of the Edison company had a reproduction value of $358,181,934 without allowances for working capital, and materials and supplies, or for going value.

Tuesday a witness for the utility fixed the historical or original cost at $334,000,000. This figure did not make allowances for depreciation. The hearing will continue today.

MUNICIPAL BOND NOTES

Gertler & Co. yesterday offered $997,000 Norfolk, Va., general improvement serial 4½ per cent bonds, due Dec. 15, 1935 to 1954, at prices to yield from 2 to 4.30 per cent. It was reported the issue already is more than two-thirds sold.

An issue of Hamilton county, O., $259,000 poor relief bonds was purchased by Halsey, Stuart & Co. for 100.09 as 1¾s. Maturing from 1935 to 1938, the bonds were offered at prices to yield from .25 to 1.625 per cent.

Brown, Harriman & Co., Inc., purchased $1,000,000 Rochester, N. Y., water refunding bonds at 100.819 as 2½s. The bonds, which mature from 1935 to 1942, were reoffered at prices to yield from .71 per cent to 2.50 per cent.

An issue of $642,000 Onondaga county, N. Y., 2.40 per cent refunding and relief bonds was purchased by Halsey, Stuart & Co.; Bancamerica-Blair corporation; Graham, Parsons & Co., and Darby & Co. at 100.325. The bonds were offered at prices to yield from .70 per cent to 2.40 per cent. They mature from 1935 to 1944.

Offering is being made today by a syndicate headed by Blyth & Co., and including Bancamerica company, Dean Witter & Co., and Weeden & Co., of a new issue of $3,000,000 series B 4¾ per cent bonds of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway district, at San Francisco, at prices to yield from 4.25 to 4.60 per cent, accrued interest to be added. The bonds mature from 1942 to 1971. The bonds are part of an original issue of $35,000,000 authorized in 1930 to provide funds to construct and operate the bridge across the Golden Gate. The highway district includes the city and county of San Francisco, Maran, Sonoma, and Del Norte counties and portions of two others.

Formal offering will be made today of an issue of $6,309,000 Boston Metropolitan district, Mass., 3 per cent bonds, dated Jan. 1, 1935, and due from 1936 to 1960. The 1936 to 1959 maturities will be priced to yield .75 to 3.15 per cent, and the 1960 maturity at 97, to yield more than 3.17 per cent.

BURLINGTON CUTS DIVIDEND IN HALF; VOTES $1 A SHARE

Many Other Firms Order Extra Payments.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad again reduced its dividend basis yesterday when directors declared a payment of $1 a share. Chief sufferers from the action were the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads, which own jointly $166,035,000 of the outstanding $170,839,100 stock. Northern Securities holds $2,306,300 and the Hill family $621,000. Six months ago the Burlington declared $2 a share, while a year ago $3 was disbursed.

Cream of Wheat corporation voted an extra dividend of 25 cents and the regular quarterly dividends of 50 cents. Providence-Washington Insurance company ordered a special dividend of 10 cents and the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents. National Bank of Detroit declared an initial dividend of $1 on common stock covering the year ending Jan. 31 next.

Bank Votes Extra.

The Merchants' bank of New York authorized an extra dividend of 50 cents and the regular quarterly payment of the same amount on the common. The Bon Ami company declared an extra dividend of $1 on the class A common stock and 50 cents extra on the class B shares. Vanadium Alloys Steel company announced a dividend of 25 cents a share on the capital stock. The last payment was 50 cents on Aug. 10.

Pond Creek Pocahontas company voted an initial quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share, placing the stock on a $2 annual basis. Pie Bakeries, Inc., declared 40 cents for the year on the common stock, the first payment ordered since Jan. 2, 1932.

New York and Honduras Rosario Mining company voted a special dividend of $1. On Oct. 27 the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents and a usual extra of 50 cents were paid.

1934 Payment Higher.

Standard Fire Insurance company, wholly owned by the Aetna Life Insurance company, declared a payment of $5, compared with $3 voted a year ago. Harbauer company approved an extra of 25 cents in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 25 cents on common stock.

Carolina Power and Light company declared a dividend of $1.75 on the $7 cumulative preferred and $1.50 on the $6 cumulative preferred stock. In the seven preceding quarters one-half of the regular rate was paid. Evans Products corporation declared a dividend of 50 cents on the capital stock, the first dividend paid by the company since April 1, 1930, when 62½ cents was distributed.

LIGGETT LEASES BANK QUARTERS FOR NEW STORE

BY AL CHASE.

Former banking quarters of the Jackson Park National bank, at the northwest corner of 71st street and Jeffery avenue, will be used for a drug store. The Liggett Illinois Drug company yesterday leased 50x50 of the space once used by the bank, now in the hands of a receiver, and will spend a reported $25,000 in making the premises into a modern, air conditioned store. The lessee hopes to have it ready for business by Jan. 1.

Based on a minimum guarantee and percentage basis, the lease for ten years was negotiated by Walter R. Drennan, president of the South Shore Investment company, only broker in the transaction. Charles K. Schwartz, attorney, represented the lessee. Robert E. Straus is lessor. He holds title to the property for the bondholders.

Alterations provide for an almost solid glass window front on both 71st and Jeffery. The north end of the building, 50x60, is being fitted up with the former bank's furniture and fittings and will be held for a prospective bank tenant, Mr. Drennan said. An entrance has been made on Jeffery.

ITALY ON GOLD STANDARD, SAYS IL DUCE'S PAPER

MILAN, Italy, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Italy's lira is on the gold standard to stay and persons who pass rumors to the contrary will be punished severely, Premier Mussolini's newspaper, Popolo D'Italia, assured the nation today. A rumored further six per cent cut in government salaries, it said, is untrue because "at the present time costs of living are going up."

A rumored tax on coupons for consolidated bonds and other emissions is "grotesque, because the bond conversion last February brought a 30 per cent reduction in the income of bondholders."

The lira is on the gold standard and will remain so, said Il Duce's paper. "The drastic measure taken at the last council of ministers is more eloquent than any discord could be on government policies"—this was a measure making the government overseer and controler of every cent of Italian money invested abroad.

REPUBLIC STEEL MERGER MEETING DELAYED TO FEB. 5

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—T. M. Girdler, chairman of the Republic Steel corporation, announced today that the special stockholders' meeting scheduled for Dec. 17 to vote on the proposed merger with the Corrigon-McKinney Steel company had been postponed until Feb. 5.

The postponement was necessary, he said, because the registration statement covering securities to be issued under the merger plan could not be filed prior to Nov. 28 and 20 days must elapse before the statement becomes effective.

Girdler said that proxies received to date in support of the plan amounted to 55 per cent of the total outstanding preferred stock and 66 per cent of the common. The plan cannot be completed until affirmative action of at least 66 2-3 per cent of each class of stock has been assured.

TREASURY ANNOUNCES ALLOTMENTS ON CASH BOND AND NOTE OFFER

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—The treasury tonight announced the allotment of $967,863,000 of the cash subscriptions turned in for the recent offering of eighteen year 3⅛ per cent bonds and eighteen month 1⅛ per cent notes, and also stated that holders of $975,607,500 of the 2¼ per cent certificates of indebtedness maturing on Dec. 15 had exhanged them for the eighteen month notes or for an additional offering of 4½ year 2⅛ per cent notes, thus leaving only $16,889,000 of the maturities to be paid in cash.

The final recapitualtion showed that the treasury had made percentage allotments on $2,330,409,500 in cash subscriptions for the bonds and $3,036,059,000 for the 1⅛ per cent notes, or a total of $5,370,539,400 subscriptions.

Cash subscriptions, particularly from financial centers would have run much higher, but for the fact that the treasury turned them back for revision when it became evident that many of the banks and other financial institutions were padding their bids heavily in the hope of obtaining a large share of the total allotments.

Federal reserve dist.	Subscriptions.	Allotments.

U. S. SILVER PLAN NO AID TO CHINA, SAYS KEMMERER

New York, Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Dr. Edwin W. Kemmerer, professor of international finance at Princeton, tonight questioned statements that China would benefit from the present silver purchase policy of the United States.

"It is hard to believe that the proponents of silver in the United States," said Dr. Kemmerer, "who have shown such great solicitude for the poor people of China and wept so many crocodile tears in their behalf should want to adopt a policy that, by raising the value of silver in China and depressing commodity prices, would increase the debt burdens of the Chinese people and, in short, impose upon the Chinese people all the hardships of deflation from which the silver group propose to relieve the American people by the remonetization of silver.

"Exactly how those heavy silver purchases by the United States are to help China is not evident," he said. "Since nearly every year she has a heavy net importation of silver, as a merchandising proposition she would not find it to her advantage to have the value of silver go up and to be compelled to give more and more of her goods in exchange for silver. As a currency matter, she would not gain from a large advance in the value of silver."

COMMERCE BANK WILL MAKE HALF MILLION PAYMENT

Restitution of 10 per cent of deposits in the Chicago Bank of Commerce was ordered yesterday by Circuit Court Judge George Rush. This will return $501,000 to all depositors, the first payment since the bank closed on June 25, 1932.

The unusual delay in making the disbursement, according to the state auditor's office, was occasioned by the large amount of preferred claims filed. To have waited until all preferred claims had been passed on by the court would have involved more delay. Legal action was instituted in an effort to permit the receiver to retain only the amount of funds on hand at the date of closing, disbursing funds received later among all creditors. Yesterday's court order marked the successful completion of such action.

The funds for the distribution came entirely from liquidation of assets; there was no help from the RFC. By Sept. 30, 1934, William L. O'Connell, receiver for the bank, had paid off $58,433 of preferred claims and $673,152 of secured claims. Cash on hand on Sept. 30, totaled $578,063. Balance due depositors was $4,588,801 and claims to creditors other than depositors amounted to $354,000. The court authorized the receiver to pay off all claims of $2 or less in full.

PLAN FOR BANK CO-OPERATION IN EXPORT TRADE

New York, Dec. 12.—[Special.]—A plan for promoting coöperation between commercial banks and the Export-Import bank was announced today by the American Bankers' association.

The plan calls for proper publicity and a method of procedure that will actively promote the coöperation of commercial banks, and an executive committee that would be at the disposal of the officers of the Export-Import bank to advise upon all foreign transactions.

Joseph C. Rovensky, vice president of the Chase National bank, was named chairman of the executive committee.

Closed Kaufman Bank Makes 5% Repayment

Depositors of the Kaufman State bank have received a 5 per cent liquidating repayment, totaling $16,175, according to Edward J. Barrett, state auditor. This, the fourth disbursement, brings total payments to 37½ per cent. The payment is from funds acquired out of the ordinary course of liquidation.

Kennedy Slated to Head La Salle Street Cashiers

James A. Kennedy of Winthrop, Mitchell & Co. was nominated yesterday for president of the La Salle Street Cashiers. The election will be held at the annual meeting Jan. 15. Others nominated were: Vice president, H. G. Wickstrom; treasurer, Frank Morris; secretary, Charles F. Duvall, and members of executive committee, Edwin Kilcullen and Harry A. Tremaine.

GOLD MONEYS RISE; CANADIAN DOLLAR BREAKS

Latter Lowest Since July; More Metal Arrives.

New York, Dec. 12.—[Special.]—A rise in the gold bloc currencies, carrying the franc to the best price since Oct. 31, at 6.59½ cents, and a fall of 15-16 cent in the Canadian dollar to the lowest price since July 3, at 1.08⅞ were the principal developments in the foreign exchange market today.

Despite the gains in the gold currencies a further $5,000,000 gold was reported to have been purchased abroad for shipment here, bringing to $184,000,000 the total engagements since Nov. 1. Of this amount, about $147,000,000 has been received and about $37,000,000 is en route here or awaiting shipping facilities. Gold imports of $11,347,700 were received today by the Federal Reserve bank, of this amount $5,607,000 came from England, $4,065,700 from France and $1,675,000 from Canada.

Selling Hits Canadian Dollar.

The fall of the Canadian dollar was ascribed partly to selling by Americans who have recently purchased securities in Canada and partly to the circulation of adverse rumors. These rumors included a report that Premier Bennett had resigned, which was denied, and a rumor that the newly established Bank of Canada, scheduled to begin operations at the start of the year, would issue notes against silver.

The Canadian dollar has sold at a substantial premium in terms of the United States dollar for many months. This premium ranged around 3 per cent for a time and recently has been about 2 to 2½ per cent. The premium was due, in the opinion of exchange experts, to a constant flow of funds from this country to Canada for investment in Canadian securities, particularly mining shares, which had been induced, in part, by uncertainties over the currency here.

When the flow of funds to Canada for investment was arrested and profit-taking in Canadian securities began the exchange fell swiftly. Its extreme decline today amounted to a full cent, which was the widest movement in months.

Belga Weak Exception.

All of the gold bloc except the Belga shared in today's forward movement. Francs closed up 1¼ point net at 6.59½ cents, the guilder was up 1 point to 67.63 cents, Swiss francs gained 1 point to 32.39 cents and Italian lire advanced ¼ point to 8.54 cents. The Belga fell 1 point further, however, to 23.35 cents. At these prices the French franc was above gold import point, but the others were below the price at which gold can profitably be shipped here.

Sterling dropped ⅝ cent to $4.94⅞ and the Scandinavian exchanges followed with declines of 3 to 4 points. Japanese yen were down 3 points to 28.92 cents and marks were down 1 point to 40.17 cents.

At the closing quotation of the French franc the dollar was worth 59.40 cents, based on the old par of the franc, compared with 59.43 cents yesterday. Calculated on the new par of the franc the value of the dollar was $1.0058 against $1.0063 yesterday.

Bullion brokers in London raised the price of gold ½ penny to 140 shillings 5 pence, equivalent to $34.76 a fine ounce, based on the opening of sterling at $4.95 1-16. Bars valued at $1,014,031 were purchased.

CHARGE BANK SUFFERED LOSS, REPORTED PROFIT

Moorhead, Minn., Dec. 12.—(AP)—W. E. G. Watson, special assistant attorney general, today charged in the case of J. Cameron Thomson, president of Northwest Bancorporation, that the concern "actually lost $4,461,000 as a result of its operations, but issued a statement of operation in 1931 claiming earnings of $5,761,000." Watson outlined charges of the prosecution against Thomson on a second degree larceny charge. Thomson is the first of 19 defendants, present or former officials of Bancorporation, to face charges of larceny and swindling.

Watson told the jury he would prove that the stock was issued at a par of $50 and then the defendants and directors of Bancorporation formed a subsidiary company which operated a pool to boost the price to $100; that at the end of 1929 the corporation issued a statement of earnings of $4.49 on each share and paid a dividend of $1.80 per share whereas the state would produce evidence that the corporation had earned no dividends during 1929.

"We will show by Bancorporation's own records," Watson asserted, "that at the time and at the very meeting where they proposed to sell $75,000,000 of this stock, the defendants put in a total of $1,000 and voted at that meeting to pay a dividend of $1.80 on each of these shares with a par value of $50 and aggregating $75,000,000."

DELAY HEARING ON CONSUMERS CO. REORGANIZATION

Hearing yesterday on the Consumers' company reorganization under section 77B of the amended bankruptcy act was continued to Dec. 18 by Judge James H. Wilkerson in the United States District court. Judge Wilkerson said he has been at a loss to know just what to do with the company, but asserted it was obvious a reorganization must be put into effect which will not interfere with the conduct of the company's business.

The court suggested a disinterested committee be named to devise a plan which the various conflicting interests would approve. He said that thus far none of the conflicting groups will make any concession to their positions.

Judge Wilkerson said that if a trustee is appointed he will not consent to the naming of a "stuffed shirt." Hirsch E. Soble, attorney for a bondholders' committee, said his group favors appointment of a trustee only as a last resort.

U. S. DEPRESSION WILL END IN SIX MONTHS: DAWES

Durable Goods Boom Is Predicted.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The depression will end in about six months, Gen. Charles G. Dawes, chairman of the board of the City National Bank and Trust company and former Republican Vice President of the United States, predicted yesterday at a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

To an audience of business and financial men who packed the Grand ballroom of the Palmer house Gen. Dawes made the flat statement that good times will return next May or June and that the immediate cause will be a boom in durable goods.

He deprecated professional economists who point to so-called insuperable obstacles to recovery and presented a series of charts showing that the depressions of 1873 and 1893 both ended five years and eight months after the initial stock market crashes which sent business into a tailspin.

Says History Repeats.

The gist of the general's argument was that history repeats itself and that history shows that the general public postpones buying, spending, and investing only about five years and then goes back to work.

Tremendous deficits of goods and plant facilities are accumulated during these periods of inactivity while fear dominates the populace, he said, and then the pent up demand for these things stimulates a tremendous revival in the heavy industries.

The audience, which included many of Chicago's leading business men and financiers, listened in rapt attention to these tidings of happy days despite the fact that many in the rear of the hall were unable to hear them all because the speaker frequently moved from a microphone at the table to another near the huge charts on the back wall which he had prepared to illustrate his points.

"This is a devil of a way to make a speech," he commented.

Attacks Ayres' View.

Departing from his prepared remarks to attack a rather pessimistic prediction by Col. Leonard Ayres, Cleveland Trust company economist, Gen. Dawes said:

"The difference between Col. Ayres and myself is a marked one. He evidently looks upon the intervention of a changed governmental policy into the situation as being definitly determinative of the question as to whether this coming year of 1935 will mark an advance in prosperity over 1934.

"While I recognize the overwhelming long time importance of a balanced budget and wise governmental policy, I point out that the normal course of recovery involving mass action is not determined by human reasoning, but by human nature, and that the rate of recovery is following the same course in this present depression and for the same simple causes that it did in the two great former major depressions in the country, those of 1873 and 1893. And embarking on the dangerous seas of definite prophesy I say that these same simple causes will bring about a great sustained uplift in heavy goods and mark the beginning of the year full of prosperity in next May and June."

Result of Long Study.

The speaker said that his conclusions were the result of months of study and the fruit of innumerable conferences with leaders in the steel business and other heavy industries. This study, he said, was undertaken in the hope of giving business men something tangible in the way of advice.

The charts he presented showed the trend in pig iron and steel prices and the current volume of pig iron production during three separate ten year periods marked by depressions.

They were intended to show that prices in each of the previous depressions slid downward for five years and eight months and then turned sharply upward for more than a year, later stabilizing at higher levels.

Pig iron and steel prices have not declined since 1929 as they did in the two previous depressions, Dawes explained, because of certain elements of rigidity in wages and operating costs. Production, however, has declined vastly more than in the previous depressions, due principally to the very fact that prices were not allowed to decline.

Demand Accumulates.

The tremendous drop in production, he said, had resulted in a great accumulation of demand for new construction and obsolescence, a demand which he predicts will begin to be felt in large volume next summer.

Steel companies, he prophesied, will make big profits when this demand occurs. Later, he said, prices and output will become more or less stabilized at considerably higher levels.

"You gentlemen still say that confidence is lacking," he declared. "What you are thinking about is the 'confidence' of the few who think about economic problems—or think they think. So far as the confidence of the great masses is concerned, it returned when the banks were reopened after the bank moratorium.

"Recovery is inevitable. Nothing can stop the progress toward it, just as nothing could stop the progress toward the chasm in 1929. The various steps taken by the government to aid business and employment will neither greatly retard nor greatly accelerate the return of good times."

Attempting to "prime the pump" through large government expenditures, he said, does nothing but force an increase in business activity as long as the priming fluid lasts.

Expect Viner Credit Report Release Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—Publication of the treasury department's survey of credit conditions in the Chicago federal reserve district is expected here tomorrow.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau probably will make public at least a summary of the report at his press conference. The survey was conducted in the Chicago district, but it was intended to solve the puzzle of credit stagnation for the entire country.

Results of the report are said here to be inconclusive. Federal and state bank examiners, banks, borrowers, and the Reconstruction Finance corporation are reported to come in for approximately equal criticism in the credit tangle.

Definite Suggestions Made.

Definite recommendations for the improvement of the credit conditions are said to be included in the report, but as far as could be learned here these recommendations are very mild. They do not, it is said, include centralized banking control, unified bank examinations, or uniform bank calls.

The report, completed almost a week ago, was launched under the auspices of Prof. Jacob Viner, economic adviser to Secretary Morgenthau, but the work was largely taken over by Charles O. Hardy, banking expert of the Brookings institute, who was loaned to the treasury for the task.

Hardy's report is a bulky document and Morgenthau ordered a summary prepared. This summary is the document which Secretary Morgenthau is expected to make public tomorrow. Whether the full report is ever to be published is not yet clear.

Bank Examiners Criticized.

Bank examiners, those attached to both the federal and state banking authorities, are said to be rapped in the report. While the government was exhorting bankers to join the recovery parade and expand credit, the bank examiners were drastically writing down any but A-1 loans which the bank attempted to make or hold, the report disclosed.

The volume of paper work which the multiplicity of federal and state examining authorities has imposed on banks also is criticized in the report, according to advance indications here.

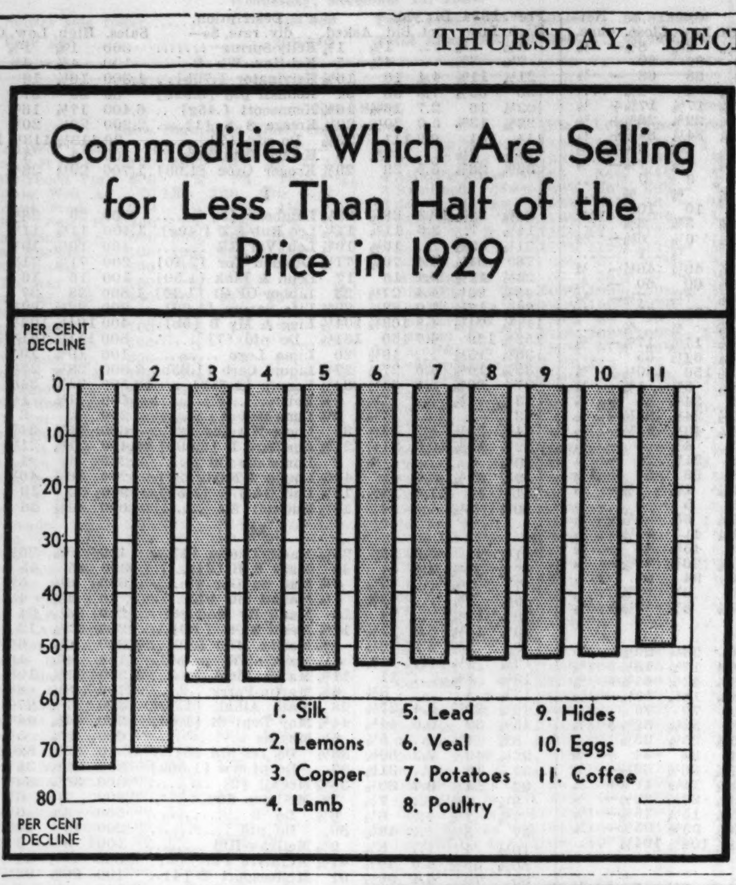
To obviate dual and conflicting examinations, some experts here have been advocating unification of federal bank examining powers and standardization of examination and call reports. The report, it is understood, does not fall in with these suggestions completely.

Banks are understood to be criticized to some extent in the report for refusing some loan applications, but the report is said also to show that in many instances the Reconstruction Finance corporation, in its direct loan program, has been more strict in its credit requirements than the banks themselves.

MORE CARRIERS REPORT GAINS IN FREIGHT TRAFIC

More carriers reported yesterday that freight trafic last week showed considerable improvement over a year ago, especially on several eastern roads. The New York Central handled 86,730 cars of freight against 76,022 in the preceding week and 84,016 in the corresponding week of last year.

The Chesapeake and Ohio moved 23,821 cars against 22,308 and 22,605, while the Baltimore and Ohio reported 37,901 cars against 31,656 and 36,731. Other railroads reporting yesterday included: Burlington, 20,405 against 18,153 and 19,533; Frisco, 11,642 against 10,223 and 12,145, and the Pere Marquette, 8,404 against 7,895 and 7,792.



Commodities Which Are Selling for Less Than Half of the Price in 1929

Report Hertz to Join Board of Studebaker

The name of John Hertz, Chicago and New York capitalist who has interests in many fields, has been turned up by La Salle street rumor as likely to be included in the list of new directors of the Studebaker corporation when that concern emerges from its present reorganization proceedings.

Hertz is now a partner of the New York banking firm of Lehman Brothers, which is to head a syndicate of bankers which will furnish funds for the new corporation.

Plan 5½ Million Issue.

The banking firm along with Field, Glore & Co. and Hayden, Stone & Co. is going to underwrite an issue of $5,500,000 of debentures in the new company which will take over properties of the old corporation. The properties are still under the jurisdiction of the federal court and are being operated by trustees. How long the trusteeship will be continued is not known, but it is believed the new concern may get under way in another 60 days.

Whether Hertz will have any other position with the new company other than a membership on the board cannot be ascertained. Mr. Hertz is in New York at present, and when queried on the matter declined to make any comment.

In Receivership Since 1931.

The 82 year old automobile concern, a pioneer in the field, has been in receivership since March, 1931. Its present indebtedness and preferred stock total more than $28,000,000. Under the reorganization plan it is proposed to eliminate the present debt and senior stocks and substitute an issue of debentures totaling $6,867,678.

Preferred stockholders and creditors would be given new common stock in varying ratios. The new debentures to be issued will be convertible into new common stock in the ratio of 8 shares for each $100 in principal amount.

Harris Trust Declares Regular $1.50 Dividend

Directors of Harris Trust and Savings bank yesterday declared the regular dividend of $1.50 a share, payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 18.

JAPANESE BUYING OF METAL BOOMING SCRAP EXPORT TRADE

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 12.—(AP)—The once languishing scrap metal business has surged to new life in this area under the impetus of heavy exports to the far east. A steady stream of scrap steel, iron, tinplate, and other metals—important in industry and particularly valuable in the manufacture of munitions—is pouring through the port to the foundries of the far east, chiefly Japan and China.

A study of ship manifest records today showed that November ocean shipments of scrap through Baltimore totaled 10,408 tons and September, 15,131. Of the cargoes last month all except 368 tons were consigned to Japan and China. In addition to the scrap, 2,687 tons of steel ingots and other metal supplies left the port for Japan.

Commercial men say the scrap metal buying has been brisk for months. As a result plants at Locust Point and Curtis Bay, shut down a few years ago, are running at full tilt.

Japan is said to have bought obsolete ships, taken them to the far east under their own power and scrapped them for the metal supplies.

EXCHANGE BRAIN TRUST AT LAST GETS HEARING

New York, Dec. 12.—[Special.]—The much rumored conference between the advisory committee, or "brain trust," of the New York stock exchange, Richard Whitney, exchange president, and several other governors, was held tonight at a dinner given by Whitney at the Links club. The meeting was held to clarify the position and duties of the advisers and was a closed session.

A request was made to Whitney and members of the advisory committee for a statement as to the reported rift between certain members of the committee and stock exchange officials, and as to the purpose of the conference. Whitney said that he had "nothing to say." However, it was reported that a statement would probably be issued tomorrow. The conference, it is known, was the result of a request from a member of the "brain trust" that more definite activities be given to the advisers.

JONES OFFERS RFC CASH FOR MORTGAGE AID

But Bankers Must Put Up 25 Millions.

New York, Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, in a speech before the Bond club today, assailed the lack of interest and coöperation shown by banking communities in efforts of the RFC to establish and rebuild mortgage institutions. He suggested New York bankers form a new, sound company, with a minimum capital of 50 million dollars, to help unfreeze the mortgage situation.

"If you will organize such a company," he said, "invest 25 million dollars in its capital, and give it sound management the RFC will buy 25 million dollars of capital notes, and, if necessary, we might go further. As long as the RFC has money to lend we will coöperate with such a company in making loans.

Flays Lack of Coöperation.

"The RFC has been trying to interest bankers and business men throughout the country in establishing or rebuilding mortgage institutions. I am ashamed to admit the lack of interest and coöperation shown."

He said his corporation had attempted to improve the real estate situation by offering to purchase preferred stock and capital notes in trust companies that would specialize in real estate mortgages.

"No one seems to be willing to go into the business—as a business," he remarked.

Repeatedly Chairman Jones urged the bankers to coöperate more fully with the Democratic administration in its attempt to restore prosperity. He praised business men for the measure of coöperation that has been extended and declared that business has already improved.

Hints Securities Act Too Severe.

Of special interest to members of the club was his acknowledgment that the securities act "may be" too severe "in some respects," but he added "there should be a real effort to operate under the act as it stands" before seeking changes.

If congress extends RFC lending authority, he said, it will continue to help railroads as much as possible, but he declared "the debt of the roads that are not earning their charges is too big for the government to shoulder."

"If private interests continue and expand their coöperative attitudte," he said, "and all pitch in with confidence the fight will soon be won."

Week's Production of Power Largest in Last Four Years

Production of electricity in the United States last week rose to the highest level in 208 weeks, gaining 3½ per cent over the preceding week and 7.7 per cent over a year ago. In the Chicago area output was the highest since the week ended Jan. 24, 1931, almost four years, rising 8.4 per cent above the preceding week and 7½ per cent above a year ago.

The sharp improvement was attributed to the cold weather, which resulted in an increased railway load. The trend in light and power output for the Chicago area during the last eight weeks has been regarded as the best for several years.

National Production.

National output during the week amounted to 1,743,427,000 kilowatt hours compared with 1,683,590,000 in the preceding week and 1,619,157,000 in the corresponding week of 1933, the Edison Electric institute announced yesterday. In the preceding week there was an increase of 8.4 per cent over a year ago.

In the Chicago area the total was 109,583,000 kilowatt hours, against 101,028,000 in the preceding week and 101,962,000 in the corresponding week of last year, according to the Commonwealth Edison company. Following are the output in kilowatt hours and percentage comparisons with last year for the Chicago district [last three ciphers omitted]:

Wk. ended	1934.	1933.	Pct. Increase.
Dec. 1	101,028	93,672	7.9
Nov. 24	105,845	100,703	5.1
Nov. 17	102,997	102,928	0.1

All districts reported improvement over a year ago. The southern states showed a notable gain on an increase of 17.9 per cent over a year ago, with the percentage comparison better than in the preceding week when the gain over last year amounted to 15.6 per cent.

Western District Gains.

The Rocky mountain district showed an increase of 13.2 per cent, compared with 12.8 per cent in the preceding week. Another favorable percentage comparison with the preceding week was shown by the Pacific coast region, when the output was 3.2 per cent higher than a year ago against 1.5 per cent in the preceding week.

Other sections reporting gains over a year ago, with comparisons of increases during the preceding week, are: New England, 3.5 per cent, against 7 per cent; middle Atlantic, 5.2, against 7.3; central industrial 7, against 8.2, and west central 6.2, against 9.7.

FAIRBANKS MORSE TO SPEND $100,000 ON MODERNIZING

Beloit, Wis., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Fairbanks, Morse & Co. today announced a modernization and rehabilitation program to cost more than $100,000 which will be started at its Beloit plant immediately. Contracts will go to Beloit contractors and Beloit building workmen will be employed. Steady employment throughout the winter is anticipated for building tradesmen working on the project. Col. Robert H. Morse said that the work is being done in coöperation with Beloit's national housing administration campaign.

"Rehabilitation and modernization of several of the company's buildings will provide space and facilities for special work on the industry's Diesel engine product," Morse said. "Some of the space will be devoted to the new type opposed piston Diesels recently developed, which are to be built for the United States government."

National Tea to Sell Notes to 18 Private Purchasers

National Tea company has arranged to sell at par to a group of eighteen private purchasers an isue of $3,000,000 5 per cent notes due Jan. 10, 1938. Proceeds will be used to retire part of the company's 5 per cent notes due May 1, 1935, of which $3,375,000 are outstanding. These notes have been called for redemption at par on Jan. 10, 1935. The excess will be redeemed out of the company's cash balance.

GENERAL MOTORS' FOREIGN SALES RISE 81.4 PER CENT

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Sales of General Motors corporation in the overseas markets during the first 11 months totaled 204,135 units, an increase of 81.4 per cent over last year, it was announced today. This volume includes sales of cars and trucks of the company manufactured in American, English, and German factories.

While sales of cars made in both England and Germany showed a substantial increase, the announcement said, the largest percentage of the gain was accounted for by American manufactured cars of the company.

"Further recovery of the overseas automotive market to the levels more nearly approaching those of 1928 and 1929," the company stated, "while uncertain of early accomplishment, looks more promising under the trade agreements act for the expansion of foreign trade generally."

Standard Oil Will Appeal Patent Infringement Suit

Standard Oil Company of Indiana reported yesterday that the company will appeal its suit against the Globe Oil and Refining company, charging infringement of two patents. Federal Judge John P. Barnes ruled Tuesday that the Globe company had not infringed and that the patents were invalid because they represented a "mere aggregation of old elements without any new results."

STEEL OUTPUT RISE GREATEST IN SIX MONTHS

Production Gains 3.5 Points to 33%.

Steel output last week showed the greatest gain since the second week in July with an increase of 3½ points to 33 per cent of capacity, Iron Age reported yesterday.

It was also the eighth consecutive week in which production and scrap prices have improved. The journal says that scrap prices have advanced on a wide front, with increases of $1 a ton in heavy melting scrap at Pittsburgh and 25 cents a ton at Chicago, raising the magazine's scrap index from $10.92 to $11.33 a ton, or $1.63 above the low for the year, which was reached in September and October.

In the corresponding week last year there was a rise of 3 points to 30½ per cent of production capacity. The gain shown last week is attributed to the building up of ingot and semifinished material stocks preparatory to holiday suspensions, and to an unmistakable gain in consumers' needs.

"The growth of books is all the more impressive because of continued delay in the launching of automobile production programs and the reluctance of steel buyers in general, in the absence of price incentives, to add to their stocks prior to inventory taking," says the review. "Should a decline in steel output eventuate during the holiday week, as is now expected, the rebound in the new year will undoubtedly be large and it will be proportionately sharper the longer motor car production is held in check."

Tin Mill Output Steady.

Tin mill production, the review adds, continues to hold at 45 per cent for capacity. It is said farm equipment makers continue to take steel at a good rate.

Structural steel awards totaled 5,800 tons, compared with 3,850 tons a week ago. New projects amount to 8,100 tons. Plate lettings totaled 1,145 tons, while new plate projects call for 4,600 tons. The Santa Fe railroad has issued inquiries for 27,000 tons of rails, the review says, while the Lehigh Valley may order 25,000 tons.

Operations during the week rose 2 points to 21 per cent at Pittsburgh, 1½ to 35½ at Chicago, 1 to 25 in the Philadelphia district, 3 to 37 in the valleys, 9 to 50 at Cleveland, 15 to 70 in the Wheeling district, 9 to 57 at Detroit, and 12 to 33 in the south. In Buffalo the rate was 5 points lower at 19 per cent.

STOCK MARKET IDLES IN NARROW RANGE OF PRICES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 12.—Interest in today's dealings on the share exchange was rather lax and price movements consequently listless. Most of the leaders idled within a fraction of their bases and the close found changes well mixed.

American Can, General Motors, Westinghouse, Consolidated Gas, Standard Gas of New Jersey, and Radio Corporation finished a shade higher. Case, American Smelting, Johns-Manville, Chrysler, General Electric, du Pont, and Montgomery Ward were fractionally lower. U. S. Steel was unchanged from its previous closing figure.

Group movements were lacking for the most part and individual performers few and far between. Preferred issues furnished most of the few really worth while changes.

Trade Figures Help Little.

Traders scrutinized the mid-week statistics of steel and electric power output without being able to find any appreciable incentive either to buy or to sell. The power figures were more cheerful, but not enough so in the popular judgment to offset the new attacks on the utility companies by the federal trade commission. The steel output figure was also more bullish, but it brought no great help to the steel share group. U. S. Steel slipped under 37 for a time and its closing price was some 3 points below its recent high.

The oils got little help from news of the settlement of the New Jersey gasoline price war. Standard of Kansas moved up a point, but such improvement as showed up elsewhere was fractional.

Philip Morris Higher.

In the tobacco group Philip Morris made a bid for spotlight honors by rising nearly two points to within striking distance of its best level of the year. Still another individual strong spot was Celanese, which advanced more than a point on reports of a smart business pickup. Du Pont wasn't particularly happy over the munitions inquiry.

Trading in the motors group was light, with price trends mixed. Mining issues showed a disposition to go ahead for a time in the earlier dealings, but gave up when the general list began to sag. Unimportant changes were the rule in the foods, aviations, and merchandising sectors. Rails were lower.

SUGAR.

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Raw sugar was quiet today while no sales were reported, the undertone was steady with refiners showing interest at last paid prices of 2.63c per lb. for Cubas for January use. There were no offerings below 2.65c. It developed that in addition to the sales yesterday for January melt at 2.63c 6,300 bags of Cubas were sold from Norfolk to a local refiner for December melt at 2.97½c. The December position was relatively easy but other futures were steadier on increased covering and active buying by trade and Cuban interests. The market closed 4 points lower on the spot month and 1 to 2 net higher on Latin deliveries. Sales 23,450 tons. Reports from Washington that the government may take action to prevent any undue decline when excess 1934 quota sugars now in warehouses here seek a market may have been responsible for some buying.

GRAINS DECLINE ON EASINESS IN FOREIGN MARTS

Wheat and Corn Prices Lose More than Cent.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Grains sold lower again on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday, marking the sixth consecutive day on which values have shown a downward trend. Wheat lost up to 1⅛ cents a bushel, and the decline in corn reached 1¾ cents.

Uniform weakness in foreign markets and the almost complete absence at present of buying demand by importing countries of the world has provided the basis for the loss in prices. Another factor has been the abatement in the aggressive demand for corn, which had sent prices in the country above the level of the Chicago market and furnished the inspiration for the sharp advance in futures.

Cash Corn and Wheat Lower.

Corn as well as wheat was lower in the cash grain market here yesterday, although from the southwest it was reported that corn is still bringing around $1 a bushel in that territory.

Closing prices on the May grain futures yesterday were:

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	$1.00⅞	$1.02	$1.04
Corn	.88⅛	.89⅞	.92⅜
Oats	.52⅝	.53¼	.55⅛
Rye	.77⅝	.78⅝	.80⅛

The decline during the last week in wheat has amounted to slightly more than 3 cents a bushel, while corn has lost 4¼ cents as measured by the quotations on the principal future. During the same period conspicuous weakness has been shown in Buenos Aires prices of wheat and corn and in Liverpool wheat. Both these markets registered further declines yesterday. In Liverpool wheat lost approximately a cent a bushel.

Europe Halts Buying.

European buyers appear to have shut down on all purchases for the time being, and a real revival in demand is not anticipated until after the holiday period.

In view of the foreign market situation sentiment among professional speculators has turned bearish, and some brokers express the opinion that a sizable short interest is being built up in the market.

Over the period of the last few months the market has been extremely sensitive to the trend in foreign prices. The advance in prices, of course, was based on domestic conditions.

ATTEMPT TO HIKE FRENCH WHEAT PRICE PEG HALTED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 12.—Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin today dealt a smashing blow to the newest socialist project to put the French government into the farm marketing business on a scale hitherto unknown here. He proposed to relieve the acute distress of the French peasant by government purchase of excess wheat stocks.

Radical members of the chamber of deputies agriculture committee insisted on tagging a rider on measure fixing the price at 97 francs per quintal, or $1.77 a bushel. The socialists demanded the constitution of a central commission to control all wheat operations, fixing the purchase price at 110 francs or $2.02 a bushel.

Despite the obvious popularity of the proposal to French peasants, Flandin won cheers from the deputies for his spirited declaration that he would go no further in the artificial manipulation of prices. The chamber upheld him, voting to purchase the wheat excess July 1, 1935, at the average market price for the first six months of that year.

Bulgaria to Negotiate Pact on International Debts

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Peter Todoroff, Bulgarian minister of finance, left for London today to negotiate a provisional agreement for payment of the country's international debts. The United States has a share of approximately $13,000,000 in Bulgaria's external obligations.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Cotton goods were firm today. Narrow sheetings and twills sold more freely. Rayon yarns markets were very firm and an advance in prices, effective on Jan. 1, is widely predicted in the markets. Rayon fabrics continue to sell well. Silk goods were in fair demand with prices steady on the better grades. Sales of wool goods continue in fair volume for quick cutting up into men's wear. More business is developing on spring worsteds for dress and coat wear. Burlaps were steady and in moderate demand.

Wheat Price Tinkering Cause of Surplus, Says Sanford Evans

Artificial inflation of wheat prices by governmental action in nearly every country of the world for the purpose of helping producers has brought about curtailed consumption, W. Sanford Evans, prominent Canadian grain man and statistician, told members of the Grain Analysts club last night at the Chicago Board of Trade.

There is hardly a country in which substantial inflation of wheat prices has not been engineered by government, Evans declared. The efforts to make the consumer pay the cost of government action designed to help producers has had its inevitable result of restricting consumption, he said.

Excess Mounts 6 Years.

An excess supply of wheat has been accumulating for the last six years, with the result that on Aug. 1, 1934, the world surplus, exclusive of China and Russia, was 444 million bushels greater than on Aug. 1, 1928. Consumption during the period amounted to 21 billion, 683 million bushels, including Russian wheat consumed outside that country and foreign wheat sent to China. The surplus accumulating during the period was only 2.05 per cent of the total supply produced.

"Had per capita disappearance not declined," Evans said, "the world would have used in the period 710 million bushels more than it did. Then there would have been no excess of supplies and the world would have been seriously short of necessary working stocks.

"Even if normal consumption had not been maintained, it would have required, for example, only the eating of one extra slice of bread out of every 50 and the throwing of an occasional extra handful of wheat to the chickens to have balanced demand and supply."

Solution of the world surplus problem rests in the allowing of a normal expansion in demand rather than unsound and almost impracticable policy of production and export quotas, Evans asserted.

"The price to the consumer has been made relatively high by tarifs, processing taxes, controls and restrictions of various kinds," he said. "Prices of the great markets of the world are not the prices at which a great part of the consumers of the world are offered wheat. This fact cannot be too clearly recognized.

Wheat in Luxury Class.

"Wheat has been put in the luxury class with the inevitable effect on consumption. Price is so heavily loaded against the wheat consumer that the normal reactions to changes in supply prospects or primary market fluctuations do not occur."

Wheat remains the best single human foodstuff, Evans said. It is the greatest and most widely distributed of all food crops and lends itself easily to bulk handling and cheap distribution. It can also be simply and safely stored.

Evans is well known both in this country and Canada as an authority on world grain matters. He was a member of the Josiah Stamp commission which made an exhaustive study of grain futures trading in Canada. He lives in Winnipeg.

United States District Court—Southern District of New York

In the Matter of Paramount Publix Corporation,

Debtor,

In Consolidated Proceedings for Reorganization of a Corporation,

No. 56,763.

To the Creditors and Stockholders of the above-named Debtor, the Creditors of Paramount Broadway Corporation and all other Interested Persons:

Paramount Publix Corporation having filed in the above entitled proceedings its petition verified December 3, 1934, stating that it desires to propose, pursuant to Section 77B of the Federal Bankruptcy Act, the "Plan of Reorganization of Paramount Publix Corporation, Including (as a part thereof) a Plan of Reorganization of Paramount Broadway Corporation, dated November 28, 1934," (hereinafter called the Plan), a copy of which is annexed to said petition,

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Court has made an order, dated December 3, 1934, requiring all creditors and stockholders of the Debtor, and the Trustees of the estate of the Debtor, and said Paramount Broadway Corporation and all creditors and stockholders thereof, to show cause at a hearing to be held in Room 235 of the United States Court Rooms and Post Office Building, corner of Broadway and Park Row, Borough of Manhattan, New York, N. Y., on December 27, 1934, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., or as soon thereafter as the matter can be heard, and at which said Plan may be proposed pursuant to Section 77B, why the Court should not (a) make such order as the Court deems proper dividing the creditors of the Debtor into classes according to the nature of their respective claims and interests for the purposes of said Plan and its acceptance; (b) find that said Plan is fair and equitable and does not discriminate unfairly in favor of any class of creditors or the stockholders, is feasible and complies with the relevant provisions of said Section 77B; (c) confirm said Plan upon the filing in the above proceedings of acceptances by or on behalf of the creditors and stockholders required by said Section 77B; and (d) grant such further relief as may be equitable.

Said hearing may be adjourned from time to time without further notice otherwise than by announcement at the hearing or any adjournment thereof.

Printed copies of said Plan are available to any creditor, stockholder or other interested person upon application to the Debtor at its office, Room 805, Paramount Building, Times Square, New York City.

Published by order of said Court.

Surplus Butter and Eggs Show Decrease.

Heavy accumulations of meat in storage and a drop in surplus butter and egg stocks were disclosed yesterday by the bureau of agricultural economics. At the same time it was revealed cattle slaughtering this year has set an all time high record.

Pork in process and frozen totaled 569,664,000 pounds Dec. 1, an increase of 70 millions pounds from Nov. 1 and a gain of 40,000,000 pounds over the same date last year. The total was higher than the five year average by 123,000,000 pounds.

The largest increase was in frozen pork, which amounted to 158,034,000 pounds, or nearly twice the 81,985,000 pounds in storage a year ago. Lard stocks fell to 103,958,000 pounds, against 185,519,000 Nov. 1 and 116,077,000 Dec. 1, 1933.

Beef Stocks High.

Excluding federal emergency relief supplies, storage stocks of beef aggregated 127,647,000 pounds, exceeding the Dec. 1, 1933, total by 57,600,000 pounds. Present holdings are more than twice the average for the five year period from 1929 to 1933.

Lamb and mutton also showed a marked increase in frozen holdings. The total of 4,686,000 pounds Dec. 1 was 50 per cent above the preceding month and 1,400,000 pounds over a year ago.

Butter holdings amounted to 81,023,000 pounds, a drop of 57,143,000 under a year ago and 2,432,000 below the five year average.

American cheese stocks totaled 95,780,000 pounds, an increase of 10,634,000 pounds over Dec. 1, 1933, and 22,000,000 pounds above the five year average.

Record Cattle Slaughter.

All previous high records for cattle and calf slaughtering have been broken this year. During the first eleven months of 1934 packing houses killed more cattle and calves than in any full year on record.

Cattle slaughtered by packers under federal inspection during the eleven months totaled 12,075,100, compared with 7,934,506 a year ago. The previous yearly record was 11,829,000 in 1918. Only four other yearly totals on record have totals above 10 millions.

The calf slaughter already is well ahead of the biggest 12 months' total on record. Packers killed 6,893,684 calves the first eleven months of 1934, compared with 4,507,777 a year ago. The biggest full year on record was made in 1925 when 5,352,000 were slaughtered.

FARM BUREAUS DEMAND "FULL PRICED" GOLD

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 12.—(AP)—The American Farm Bureau federation, in convention here, adopted resolutions today urging that "gold certificates be issued against the profit accruing to the government in the revaluation of gold." The resolutions requested President Roosevelt "to make full use of the powers granted him to raise the price of gold to the limits prescribed by congress."

This action, the recommendations set out, would raise commodity prices "in line with the debt level and fixed costs," would increase employment and decrease "the huge expenditures for relief," would restore equities in farms, homes, and investments and would make possible expanded construction of homes and other buildings.

"On the completion of the reflation program," the federation said, "we demand that the necessity legislation be enacted to establish the dollar on a commodity basis, and maintain it as a stable measure of value."

AMERICA TO SEEK TRADE PACT WITH NETHERLANDS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—An intention to negotiate a reciprocal trade agreement with the Netherlands and its possessions, third largest colonial empire in the world in population, was announced today by the state department. This is the thirteenth country on the list for negotiation, excluding Cuba, with which an agreement has already been concluded. The list includes Belgium, Sweden, Spain, Switzerland, Brazil, Haiti, Colombia, and five Central American republics.

In 1929 our exports to the Netherlands empire were valued at $190,009,133, against $66,305,300 in 1933. Imports fell from $231,913,484 in 1929 to $71,788,561 in 1933.

GERMANY PLANS FURTHER SPLITUP OF SHIP LINES

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

HAMBURG, Dec. 12.—Progressive break up of the Hapag-Lloyd [Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd Lines] from five into more than a dozen lines and operating units represents Germany's effort to master the shipping crisis and meet a changed world situation, John T. Essberger, "leader" of German shipping, said today.

Smaller units, greater specialization, higher efficiency, together with expansion of Germany's tramp and tanker tonnage must now win, he said, where concentration on liner service and big concerns failed.

COTTONSEED OIL.

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—After advancing 8 to 10 points early today on further covering bleachable cottonseed oil broke sharply under increased liquidation and commission house selling which met very small demand. Prices were off approximately 40 points before support developed. Steadiness of lard, hogs and a bullish consumption report pointing to disappearance of 307,157 barrels in November were factors largely ignored. Final prices were 18 to 21 points net lower on sales of 166 contracts, 80 contracts being switches. Bleachable spot nominal; Dec. closed 9.75c per lb.; Jan., 9.89; March, 9.92; May, 10.03; July, 10.11.

COTTON TRADE FLUCTUATES WITHIN RANGE OF 5 POINTS

Cotton markets fluctuated slowly within a range of around 5 points yesterday. There was some selling regarded as against pool certificates as well as from Wall street while the trade bought on the decline. Consumption of cotton in the United States in November is estimated at 480,000 bales by the New York Cotton exchange service compared with 520,000 bales in October and 476,000 bales last year.

Closing trades on futures in Chicago were 2 points lower to 1 point higher while other markets were 3 points lower to 1 point higher. Spot cotton was unchanged with New Orleans and New York 12.80 cents and Galveston and Houston 12.75 cents per pound. Prices follow:

EGGS RALLY AFTER HITTING NEW LOW FOR THE SEASON

Egg futures dropped to new lows for the season on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, but rallied at the close to finish ⅛ cent to ⅜ cent lower. Butter closed unchanged to ⅛ cent higher.

Eggs sold off sharply in the first hour, liquidation developing on bearish news. The four markets took out 21,400 cases less than last year. However, in the last hour, shorts started buying.

HEAVY HOGS RISE AGAIN AS LIGHTS SLUMP SHARPLY

Top grades of hogs were elevated to the highest price levels since Oct. 9 when supplies diminished yesterday. Advances, however, were confined to the weightier kinds, which sold 5 to 10 cents above Tuesday's quotations, while lights and light butchers slumped 10 to 25 cents, further widening the big spread between new and old crop hogs.

Prime heavy butchers topped the list at $8.60, including the $2.25 processing tax, showing 20 cents advance since Monday. The average for the day was steady at $8.00.

Declines in the market for unfinished cattle and low grades of cows and hefers were halted yesterday, but trading dragged near the low record price levels, and a good sized supply remained in the pens at the close of the day's trading.

Good to choice steers in the run were sold at stronger prices. The top of $10.10 was paid for a load of 1,198 pound steers, and two loads averaging 1,211 and 1,224 pounds brought $10.00. Quality was better and a much larger share of the supply was of the quality selling at $9.25 and above. Most steers brought $4.85 to $9.25, with plain natives yielding little beef down to $3.00.

Further losses were recorded in lambs, prices closing 25 cents lower after trading had remained in a deadlock all the forenoon. Packers bought the bulk of the best grades around $7.00, while shippers paid up to $7.10.

PRICES OF LARD FUTURES DROP 2½ TO 7½ POINTS

Trade in provisions was not large yesterday, and while lard advanced slightly in the early trading on scattered buying the market weakened later in sympathy with corn and closed 2½ to 7½ points lower.

Bellies showed more activity and finished 5 to 12½ points hifher. Cash lard was quoted at 11.57 cents; loose, 10.95 cents; leaf, 11 cents, and bellies at 14¾ cents per pound. Prices follow:

Lard.

	High.	Low.	Close. Dec.12, 1934.	Dec.11, 1934.	Dec.13, 1933.
December	....	....	11.57	11.60	4.70
May	12.15	11.95	11.95	12.02	5.55
July	12.30	12.12	12.12	12.20	5.62
Clear Bellies.
December	....	....	14.75	14.62	5.12
January	14.82	14.80	14.82	14.72	5.75
May	15.47	15.40	15.40	15.35	6.32

Note—Above prices include processing tax of 2.47c per pound on lard and 2.62c per pound on bellies taxed on produce made since March. Tax is rebated on produce exported, but varies according to the amount, due to the fact that tax was gradually advanced to present level.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Salesmen.

ONE OF THE OLD, WELL ESTABLISHED life insurance companies offering life insurance, annuities and distinctive disability coverage is expanding its Chicago and Northern Illinois agencies. They desire to contact three men for important sales work on commission basis, two men to be assigned to Chicago, the other to Northern Illinois. The men wanted need not have life insurance experience; they will be trained. They should have attained some success and should be men not looking for a job, but seeking an opportunity and a life work. They are probably not younger than 30 nor older than 45, married, with responsibilities, and probably are college men. If your qualifications meet requirements, address us in confidence, telling about yourself, particularly your experience and background. An interview will be arranged.

MEN

Here is the most amazing money-making opportunity ever afforded to the reader of this or any other newspaper. It is a remarkable kind of business that can pay steady net cash comm. of from $50 to $200 a week to any ambitious, level headed man who wants to succeed.

It is a business that offers unlimited opportunity—a business that is destined to make salesmen independently wealthy. It is an electrical product, and, to the best of our knowledge, it is the biggest money-making opportunity in America.

There is no investment and absolutely no experience is required to quickly become successful in this new business. We finance you, maintain offices for your success and thoroughly train and supervise you with the necessary information and knowledge that it required to develop this "gold mine."

If you are a go-getter, honest, clean cut and willing to work, apply
THURSDAY ONLY.
HOURS 8 A. M. TO 12 NOON.
No other time. ROOM 1003.
75 E. Wacker-dr. Mather Tower.

3 MEN.

Owing to the tremendous success my electrical service and unit business has enjoyed, I need 3 men immediately to assist me. Applicants must be over 25 years of age, married, pleasing personality, and still teachable.

To men selected I will turn over a part of my territory on South Side and South Suburbs with hundreds of satisfied customers. Immediate earnings on commissions and bonus alone should range between $30 and $60 per week.

Phone between 9:00 and 12:00 Hyde Park 6743, for appointment.

THE FAIR

will place immediately men with cars living on all sides of Chicago for outside selling through appliance department. THIS IS NOT COLD TURKEY CANVASSING. Every DeLEE GRADUATE Is EMPLOYED

Every day shop owners are offering good paying positions to DeLEE graduates. During the past few weeks we have had almost 6 times as many calls for operators as we have graduates.

Think what that means to YOU. It means that if you receive your beauty culture and hairdressing training at DeLEE under Mme. Louise you will qualify for one of these good paying, pleasant positions. It won't take long, either, because the DeLEE individual, personalized method of instruction makes learning easy. Come in today.

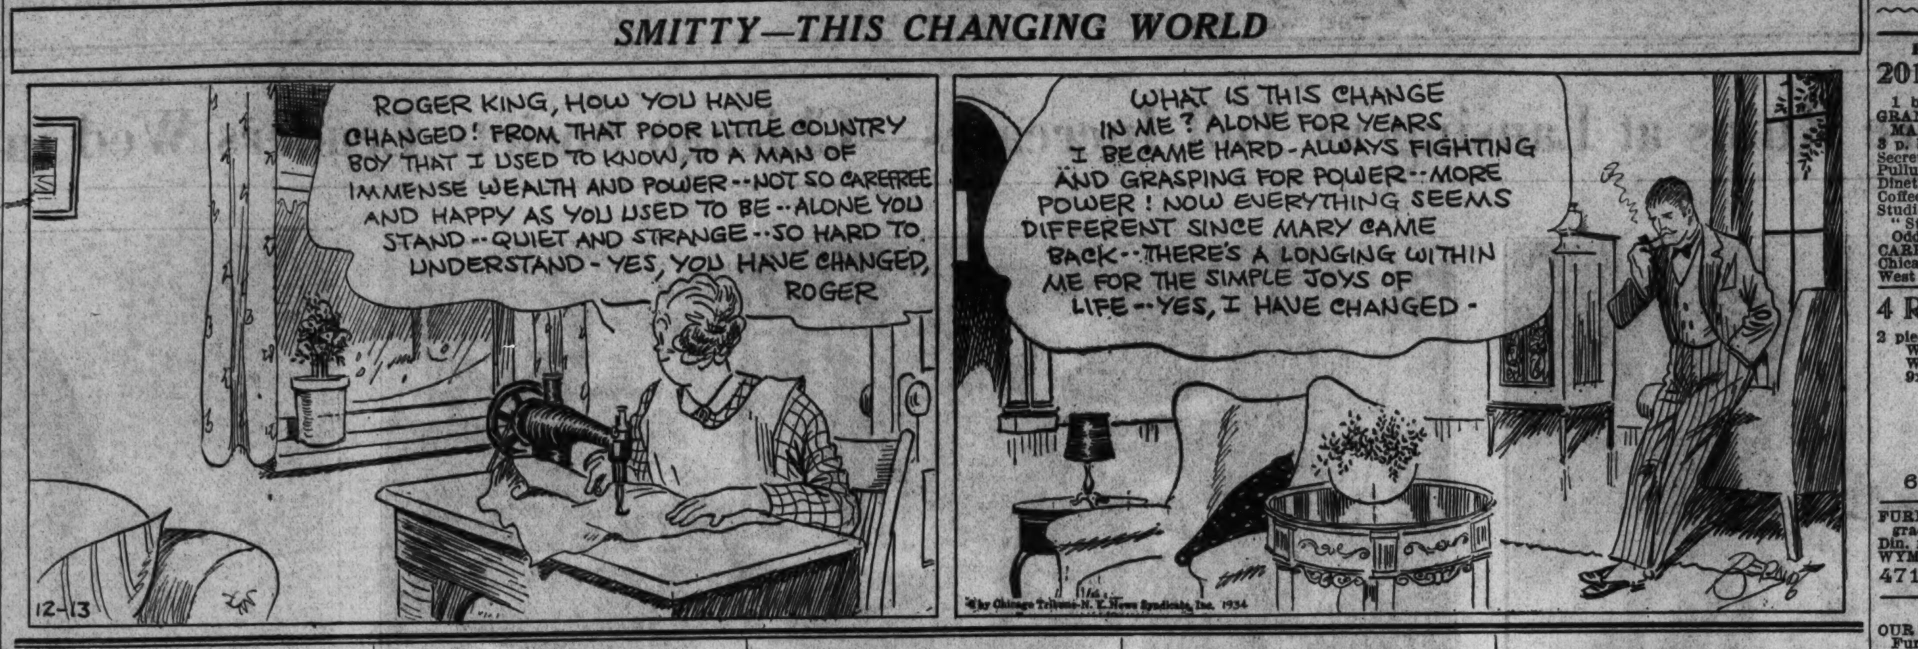
SMITTY—THIS CHANGING WORLD



ROGER KING, HOW YOU HAVE CHANGED! FROM THAT POOR LITTLE COUNTRY BOY THAT I USED TO KNOW, TO A MAN OF IMMENSE WEALTH AND POWER--NOT SO CAREFREE AND HAPPY AS YOU USED TO BE--ALONE YOU STAND--QUIET AND STRANGE--SO HARD TO UNDERSTAND--YES, YOU HAVE CHANGED, ROGER
WHAT IS THIS CHANGE IN ME? ALONE FOR YEARS I BECAME HARD--ALWAYS FIGHTING AND GRASPING FOR POWER--MORE POWER! NOW EVERYTHING SEEMS DIFFERENT SINCE MARY CAME BACK--THERE'S A LONGING WITHIN ME FOR THE SIMPLE JOYS OF LIFE--YES, I HAVE CHANGED

ANSWER

STUDEBAKER COUPE—LATE '33 WITH roomy rumble seat. This is a low slung car with a world of power and pep. It looks and runs as though never driven a mile. $595.

DODGE DE LUXE SEDAN—1933. WAS IN storage for almost a year. We checked it over carefully in our shop. Now recommend it as an outstanding automobile. It's top notch thruout. Easily worth more than $545.

NASH 8 SEDAN—1933 DE LUXE MODEL. This auto was actually used for only a short time. Every detail is positively like brand new. Don't miss this Nash at only..$495.

HUDSON SEDAN—LATE DE LUXE 1931. A real beauty. It has the appearance and performance of an auto fresh from the factory. Our price for today is just reduced to $325.

CADILLAC 8 SEDAN—'31 DE LUXE MODEL with side mounts and every conceivable extra. Examine this from bumper to bumper and you'll agree that it still possesses all the original newness. Today it's only at $745.

PACKARD SEDAN—1930 DE LUXE MODEL. Finish is bright and shiny. The upholstery is luxurious. The motor is the last word. Side mounts. It's a sensational value at $395.

BUICK 8 SEDAN — 1931. YOU'LL FIND this a very economical purchase. In the first place—it's in dandy condition today. Second—it gives a lot of miles per gallon of gas. Third—priced for quick sale at $395.
